

Yea Racqueteers!

La Vie Collegienne

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE
Shear the Bisons!

Vol. XV

ANNVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1938

No. 1

Thomas Named Prom Leader In Chapel Poll

Prominent Junior Picked to Lead Coming Event at Hershey Park Ballroom

In the election held after the musical program in chapel last Friday morning, Joseph B. Thomas, of Bordentown, N. J., was named to lead the Annual Junior Prom this year. The scene of operations will be the more or less traditional Hershey Park Ballroom and the time is the evening of May 13. Thomas and his partner will receive instructions from Prof. Clark Carmean, the Director of the Prom, and will then lead the promenade.

Previous to the general election class meetings of all four classes were held to determine the candidates who would finally be decided upon by the entire student body as a whole. Not much originality or difference of opinion was shown by the classes in this primary contest. Thomas was nominated by the senior, junior and sophomore classes, the junior class electing unanimously. Raymond Frey was selected as a nominee by the freshmen.

The winning candidate is a popular socializer on the campus and apparently has all the qualifications for an able Prom leader.

Chaperones who have been chosen for the occasion are Miss Mary E. Gillespie, Mrs. Mary C. Green, Professor and Mrs. D. Clark Carmean, Professor and Mrs. Amos Black, and Professor and Mrs. Paul Wagner.

Raymond Smith, Robert Strayer, Merle Bacastow, Helen Bartlett, Howard Baier, and Benjamin Goodman, ex officio, constitute the general committee for the Prom.

Y Cabinets Installed In Chapel Program

The chapel installation program for the Young Men's and the Young Women's Christian Associations was held yesterday during the regular chapel period, with President Lynch in charge.

Brief messages were brought by Lucille Maberry, retiring president of the Y. W. C. A., and by Robert Clipping, who succeeded Curvin Thompson as president of the Y. M. C. A. at the beginning of the second semester. Both expressed appreciation for the cooperation of their cabinets and the sentiment that it was a real pleasure to carry on the work of the past year.

Presidents-elect Audrie Fox and Benjamin Goodman responded for the incoming cabinets, looking forward to the program of the organizations for the coming year.

The charge was delivered by Dr. Lynch, first to the presidents-elect, and then to both cabinets. Formal installation was completed on their agreement to the charges delivered.

As part of the installation program Mildred Gangwer gave a vocal solo. Following the acceptance of the charge of office Dr. Lynch led in a prayer of consecration.

Prom Leader

JOSEPH THOMAS

... elected Junior Prom leader by vote of the student body.

Film "en francais" Shown In Theatre By French Dept.

by Clifford Barnhart

On Tuesday afternoon with the showing of Rene Clair's Sous Les Toits de Paris, the Department of French set a precedent which can be profitably and even, we trust, more successfully emulated in the future. The venture on Tuesday, not unlike most innovations, was attended by several features which leave a bit in the realm of desirability.

Desideratum number one was a larger attendance. Without subjecting himself to the highly odious charge of being a rubberneck this correspondent counted something over fifty persons occupying the posterior half of the Astor cinema. Whichever the thresholds upon which are to be reposed the responsibility for this meagre reception of the film, the fact must remain that it was a trifle less than gratifying to the sponsors of the enterprise.

(Continued on Page 4, Column 4)

I.R.C. Members At Convention On Government

College Students Play at Governor's Conference Held at Capital City

The fifth annual intercollegiate conference on government was held at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, on April 22, 23, and 24. This year the program was in the form of a model governors' conference. Lebanon Valley College is a member of the intercollegiate conference, which is composed of the majority of Pennsylvania's colleges.

Lebanon Valley was represented at the conference by Betty Bender, Jane Ehrhart, Joe Thomas, George Barnhart and Charles Belmer. Since the representatives did not register, they were not able to take an active part in the discussions.

The conference opened in the Educational Forum on Friday morning, April 22, when messages were brought by Dr. Lester K. Ade, Superintendent of Public Instruction, State of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Henry U. Toll, executive director of the Council of State Governments and a member of the faculty of Chicago University.

The sessions on Friday afternoon and evening were devoted to the Model State Associations, where bills were presented for adoption or rejection. Each delegation included a governor and his cabinet officers, who sat in on their respective committees. These sessions were held in the State Capitol Buildings and the Penn Harris Hotel, headquarters of the conference.

General sessions, when the bills were debated and accepted, were held Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning. The purpose of the organization as stated by the executive committee is: "Our purpose is not to preach ... not even to teach ... but merely provide a means whereby students may learn together how their government operates."

RECRUITS TRAVEL

Two deputations were conducted last Sunday by the Life Work Recruits. A group traveled into Maryland for services at three different churches, Walkersville, Thurmont, and Deerfield, Md. Paul Myers and John Ness divided the preaching responsibilities. The special music was presented by Jean Marbarger, soloist, and John Miller, pianist.

Another group went to Lancaster Covenant United Brethren Church. Paul Horn delivered an address, while Phil Lester, trombonist, and Marian Reiff, pianist, rendered special numbers. Solomon Caulker and Carl Ehrhart assisted in the service.

W. A. A. Members To Hold Banquet On Monday, May 9

On Monday, May 9, at six o'clock the Women's Athletic Association will hold a formal banquet for all members of the organization. Miss Anne Hodgkins of New York City will be guest-speaker. The banquet will also celebrate the fifteenth birthday of the National Amateur Athletic Federation.

Initiation for new members of the W. A. A. will be held Wednesday, May 11, while cabinet members for the coming year will be elected at noon, Friday, April 29. Nominees for the various offices are as follows:

President—Jean Houck, Lillian Zubroff, Mildred Haas; Secretary—Margaret Weimar, Evelyn Miller; Treasurer—Lucie Cook, Anna Evans. Sports Leaders will be chosen for all the various women's sports which the W. A. A. promotes. These candidates are: Hockey, Helen Bartlett, Lucille Oller; Basketball, Louise Saylor, Cora Graby; Tennis, Isabel Shatto, Ferne Poet; Hiking, Alice Richie, Margaret Boyd; Minor Sports, Dorothy Long, Esther Wise; Archery, Lucille Esbenschade, Betty Ann Ruthertford.

In the women's volley-ball tournament, North Hall was victorious with an unbeaten record.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Takes Up Duties

Audrie Fox, newly-elected president of the Y. W. C. A., has made her cabinet appointments to function for the next year. These consist of Dorothy Yeakel, social chairman; Martha Jane Koontz, World Fellowship chairman; Edith Metzger, prayer-meeting chairman; Floda Trout, assistant; Arlene Hoffman, Friendly Hour chairman; Amy Monteth, assistant; and Jane Ehrhart, librarian.

The remaining officers of the cabinet are Evelyn Miller, vice-president; Edna Rutherford, corresponding secretary; Mildred Haas, recording secretary; Helen Bartlett; Anna Mae Bomberger, pianist; and Anna Evans and Alice Richie, day student representatives.

The new Y cabinet will participate in preparations for May Day, helping with the flower decorations and the placing of streamers. Prayer meeting and the Sunday evening Friendly Hour will be conducted by the respective committee chairmen.

Kalo-Delphian Presents Hit In Joint Play

Fantastic Theme Captures Interest of Playgoers; Myrtle Leff Outstanding

Friday evening last presented to campus theatregoers another piece of entertainment in the form of the annual Delphian-Kalo play, this year's choice being Karel Capek's "R. U. R." a fantastic thing if ever there was one. While it was certainly not tops, it did succeed at times in capturing the interest of the entire audience, a phenomenon possibly due in part to the aforementioned quality.

While personally inclined to doubt the validity or credibility of the circumstances which constitute the story of the play, we shall refrain from assuming a Lewisian position and proceed to the customary review; in passing we might say that the acting was, at best, spotty.

We hail Myrtle Leff as the contributor of possibly the finest job of acting in the play, and certainly a redeeming feature of some of its weaker moments. While her voice seemed a bit high-pitched at times, and while her accent incommoded us once or twice, we feel that it is only proper to say that in our opinion she lived her part; and in so doing she had little or no artificiality in her portrayal. Orchids, then, to Miss Leff; but she did pass up one swell chance to faint beautifully. There is, however,

(Continued Page 4, Column 2)

Alumni Present At Green Blotter

The Green Blotter Club held a reunion at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Struble on Saturday, April 23. Alumni members present included Betty Schaak, '34, Jane Shellenberger, '36, and David Yake, '36. Several other former members had expressed their intention of being present, but due to unforeseen circumstances were not able to be there.

The reunion took the form of a regular meeting, followed by a buffet supper served by Mrs. Struble. Betty Bender was appointed critic of the afternoon. Eleanor Blecher read a poem called Spring, and a humorous poem entitled The Puppy on the Cushion. Floda Trout read a poem on anger, and Evelyn Evans aroused much comment by her story of the last meal of a man awaiting electrocution.

Robert Long read four soliloquies on life in a small town, Good-night, Ridleyville, Perplexity, Agitation, and Nectar and Hemlock. Mary Touchstone favored the audience with two poems on spring, and three humorous poems. Alice Richie then gave Life with Cap (with apologies to Clarence Day), which told of her trials with her dog.

Betty Bender read several poems entitled Among the Redwoods, A Rose, Lovers' Quarrel, and Snowflake. Sylva Harclerode then read the last manuscript of the day, Impressions on Being a Senior.

Philo Completes Dance Plans

Plans are rapidly being pushed to completion for Philokosmian's celebration of its seventy-first anniversary, the last society affair of the current college year. The annual play will be presented in Engle Hall on Friday evening, May 6, while the next evening the society members will attend the dinner-dance at the Hotel Brunswick in Lancaster. Dinner will be served promptly at seven o'clock.

Although the dinner-dance has been held at the Yorktowne in York for the past two years, Philo is following the pace of the Conservatory in going to the Brunswick for its formal. The ballroom of the hotel is of ample size, as seen by the fact that a dance attended by about 600 persons recently took place there. Turkey will form the piece de resistance as decided by the members themselves. Tables for six or eight are being arranged according to the individual preferences of Philos.

Wally Darrah and his orchestra, a local aggregation, will furnish the music, swing and otherwise, for the dance, and opportunity for dancing will be given throughout the meal and afterwards. Although Darrah was almost entirely an unknown quantity as far as the society and the anniversary committee was concerned, he is being engaged on recommendation of the hotel management.

Alumni of the society are being contacted by a special committee for the purpose, headed by Adolph Capka. Several have already sent in their reservations, while others are expected to indicate their intention of attending.

Although the committee on favors was reluctant to announce the choice, it has been selected by vote of the society and will be something quite distinctive in the way of favors.

Anniversary President Curvin Del-

(Continued on Page 4, Column 5)

LA VIE COLLEGIENNE

ESTABLISHED 1925

Published every Thursday throughout the college year except holiday vacations and examination week by the students of Lebanon Valley College, Annville, Pennsylvania.

Subscription price: $1.00 per year. Five cents per single copy. Entered as second class matter at the Annville, Pa., post office under the Act of March 3, 1879.

1937 Member 1938
Associated Collegiate Press

HOWARD N. BAIER Editor
Carl Y. Ehrhart Associate Editor
Sam Rutter Sports Editor
Robert Tschop Feature Editor
RAYMOND SMITH Business Manager
Warren Sechrist, Circulation Manager

Amy Meinhardt, Ben Goodman, Robert Long, George Yokum, Jane Ehrhart, Lillian Leisey, John Ness, Mary Touchstone, Frances Prutzman, Louella Schindel, Ferne Poet, Charles Beittel, Betty Anne Rutherford, David Lenker.

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO • BOSTON • LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO

cooperation please

LA VIE wishes to announce that it is in a position to publish any and all news of happenings on this campus. It receives an annual appropriation from the college to function in the capacity of a newspaper and feels obligated to do so. In Webster's Collegiate Dictionary a newspaper is defined as "a paper printed and distributed at stated intervals, usually daily or weekly, to convey news, advocate opinion, etc." News is also defined as "a report of a recent event; matter of interest to newspaper readers." Happenings on the campus are all a matter of interest to the students and alumni who are the main subscribers to this publication, but this news or information loses its flavor and interest soon after it is known. For this reason LA VIE reserves the right to ask all students for their full cooperation in matters pertaining to the gathering of news for weekly publication.

So to all organizations, heads and all other persons "in the know" LA VIE voices a plea for exclusive rights to "convey news" of elections, be they class, society, or club, to the student body. Along with elections we included arrangements for the various social affairs of the school years as well as other announcements which affect the student body.

campus politics and recent elections

Where there are individuals who believe that the masses are quite incompetent of governing themselves and individuals who yearn for power and influence, there will always be politics. This is true not only of our national, state and local affairs but our campus affairs as well. That Lebanon Valley is not immune from the affliction of campus politics has been seen in elections past and present. Following the recent flare of politics in the May Queen election, an attempt was made by LA VIE to make a clear stand for clean and fair elections. As a result the election of a Prom Leader was taken out of the hands of the self-styled political bosses and their stooges and a new method of electing this personage was devised and inaugurated by LA VIE. The system of withholding the class nominations until the general election held in Chapel last Friday morning made any attempt to form a political coalition impossible. The announcement of the candidates at the end of the Chapel Service instead of disclosing them at the start of the program on specially prepared ballots served for two purposes, namely, to avoid unnecessary confusion, mumbling, and rattling of papers during the program and to eliminate the possibility of soliciting votes during the fifteen minute period.

The results of the final election showed that there was no politics involved since the small majority held by the successful candidate over his opponent in a composite recording of the respective class polls was neither increased nor decreased in the final poll. The reason for having but two candidates instead of the usual four was lack of support given any other members of the class and the clear cut demand on the part of all students for the two candidates named which left the field limited.

In conducting this election the LA VIE believes that it has performed one of the most sacred of newspaper duties, that of advocating opinion. In this endeavor it was for clean up-right elections and an appeal is made to all students to keep politics out of the pending senate elections. Why not inoculate ourselves against this evil and restore better fellowship to the campus?

Conserve Students Hold Dinner Dance

The annual dinner-dance of the Lebanon Valley Conservatory of Music will be held this Friday evening at 6:30. The scene of the formal will be the Hotel Brunswick, in Lancaster, Pa.

The Conservatory students and friends will dispatch a roast turkey dinner with all the solemnity which befits such an occasion, and then touch off the evening dancing to the music of Dan Gregory and his orchestra.

The chaperones designated for the evening are Miss Mary E. Gillespie and Professor and Mrs. Rutledge, while most of the remainder of the Conservatory faculty will also be present.

The committee in charge has worked diligently in making elaborate plans for the dinner-dance and all things point toward an enjoyable evening.

Clio Sponsors Linen Sale In North Hall Parlors

A linen bazaar sponsored by the Clonian Literary Society was held in North Hall Parlor on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of last week. The committee on arrangements consisted of Louise Stoner, chairman, Mary Zartman, and Helen Netherwood.

Luncheon cloths, dresses, hand towels, dish towels, handkerchiefs, head kerchiefs, and various other linen articles obtained from Mrs. Harford in Lebanon were on sale. The society received a commission on all the sales made and the money was put in a fund to pay for the new furniture in Clonian Hall.

TACOMA, WASH.—(ACP)—One of the most unique colleges in the U. S.—an institution that has never had an endowment—will celebrate the 50th anniversary of its founding this year. The College of Puget Sound has never had outside support, and has passed through the last eight years with its income always exceeding its expenditures.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—(ACP)—Three presidents elected in one year and still no president in office is the unique record of the University of Minnesota's Rangers Club. Elections have been held each quarter since last spring, and each time the new president failed to return to classes for the quarter that he was supposed to head the organization.

RETIRING JOURNALISTS

C. BOYD SHAFFER

CURVIN DELLINGER

... who have capably handled the editorial and business management of LA VIE COLLEGIENNE during the past year. They have seen important changes in makeup, use of pictures, have taken advantage of national press service, and have served LA VIE well.

Music Convention Held At Hershey

Last Friday a group from the Lebanon Valley Conservatory participated in the affairs of the Convention of the State Federation of Music Clubs, held at Hershey Hotel and Community Building.

A student musicians contest was held on Friday morning, with three prizes of twenty-five dollars each being awarded, two in voice and one in piano. The piano contest was won by Adele Kadel of Lebanon, a special student of Miss Nella Miller. Miss Miller was herself winner of the National Young Artists Contest in 1923.

The students musicians contest is limited to performers between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five. Jean Marburger and Mildred Gardner participated in the voice contest. Mrs. Dr. Clark Carmean was chairman of the hostess committee for the convention, while Mrs. Bender and Miss Gillespie served on other committees in the organization. Miss Gillespie and Prof. and Mrs. Carmean were present at the banquet of the convention, held Friday evening, at which Miss Kadel, along with the other winners, gave selections.

L. V. Glee Club And Band To Give Concert In Forum

On Sunday, May 1, at 3:00 p. m., the Glee Club and Band will give a combined concert in the Harrisburg Forum.

The program, which allows forty-five minutes to each organization, will include several solo numbers and three groups by the Glee Club. The Band will play some of the most popular selections in their repertoire, such as "Pan-Americana" by Herbert and "Marche Slav" by Tschaiowsky, which can be recalled from their Music Festival concert.

Ashley To Address Honorary Society

The Phi Alpha Epsilon, local honorary scholarship society, will hold its annual banquet at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, May 3, at the Civic Club, Harrisburg. At this affair the newly elected members from the present Senior Class will be presented with certificates and pins. The feature of the evening will be an address by Dr. George Ashley, who will talk on "Cooperation and Competition." The faculty committee which has arranged for the dinner is headed by Dr. A. H. M. Stonecipher with Dr. H. H. Shenk and Dr. Stella Johnson Stevenson assisting. The alumni members of the society will also be included among those attending the affair.

FACULTY NEWS

Dr. Struble has resumed his duties as an agriculturist on his farm near Cleona.

Dr. Stonecipher spoke at Pine Grove High School last Friday afternoon. On Saturday, April 23, he attended a meeting of the Eastern Association of Deans in Philadelphia at the University of Pennsylvania. This next Sunday he will give an address at the West Fairview United Brethren Church.

Dr. Shenk attended a meeting of the Harrisburg Eclectic Club on Monday night, April 25. The meeting featured an address by Dr. George Ashley, State Geologist, who is a member of the organization.

On Saturday, April 16, Professors Crawford, Rutledge, and Carmean acted as judges in a Forensic League District Contest at Shippensburg.

Prof. Black Made Honorary Member

On Wednesday evening, April 27, Dr. Amos Black, professor of mathematics, was made an honorary member of Phi Lambda Sigma. The ritual was written especially for the occasion and was read by President Dean Gasteiger.

Dr. Black, who is a comparative newcomer to the campus, has been active socially in his two years at Lebanon Valley, having served as chaperone for numerous dances and other functions.

The meeting was completed by a report by Anniversary President Curvin Dellinger and a program arranged by John Moller. This was chiefly musical and consisted of a piano solo by Edwin Creeger, a vocal selection by Arthur Jordan, a violin number played by Russel Heller, and a group of features by Robert Hackman.

MAIL SCHEDULE EFFECTIVE APRIL 25, 1938 FOR ANNVILLE, PA.

Arrival of Mail Trains at the R. R. Station
From the West	From the East
4:10 A. M.	6:52 A. M.
10:09 A. M.	10:03 A. M.
3:53 P. M.	6:08 P. M.

Add at least one half hour for complete distribution of mail in the post office

Outgoing Mails Close at the Post Office		Direction of Dispatch
6:30 A. M. for train arriving at 6:52 A. M.		West and South
9:30 A. M. for train arriving at 10:03 and 10:09 A. M.		All Points
3:30 P. M. for train arriving at 3:53 P. M.		East
5:15 P. M. for train arriving at 6:08 P. M.		All Points

SCHEDULE OF WINDOW SERVICE

Weekdays: 7:00 A. M. until 6:00 P. M.
Saturdays: 7:00 A. M. until 1:00 P. M.
Holidays: No window service. Lobby open until 10:30 A. M.
Mail dispatches at 6:30 A. M. and 9:30 A. M.

STUFF 'N THINGS

by Proboscis

Our office gnome tells us that the home town girl whom Charley Raab escorted to Kalo is a former flame of a prominent man about the campus. We heard that Miss Peeler used to be crrazy about you, Curvin.

The February "Drexler," a Drexel publication, enlightens us on the subject of the fellow who lives on the fat of the land—the girdle manufacturer.

Look to your chivalry and courtly courtesies, you campus swains! That buxom young South Hall lady from Reading is now being quoted as saying that Bill is the only gentleman on the campus.

An old friend has at last been lured into the fold—one whom we regarded as the white hope of bachelorhood has fallen. Yes, Mr. Clark was seen escorting Ruth home one night last week; truly, "the old order changeth"—or were we wrong from the beginning?

Possibly we have "Drexler" on the brain, but this one is almost too good to resist:

An amoeba named Joe and his brother Went out drinking toasts to each other.

In the midst of their quaffing They split their sides laughing And found that each one was a mother!

We're told by our Waterworks correspondent that the water is now in fine condition for devotees of the fishly art. A few detachments have gone out to see for themselves and returned to declare with one accord that "It's swell."

Recent events indicate that the relations of an outstanding campus Bohemian and well-known Kalo actor with the fair sex are becoming a bit strained. Too bad, Bishop; two snubs in four days is pretty tough going.

Which revives in us the thought that love must have something on the ball when it is able to motivate 6 A. M. tennis dates. And to prove our point, did you see Slonaker, a supposedly slow-moving, drawling Southerner, the other morning?

That courageous netster who was Jake Umberger's opponent on Monday, and who reverted to playing barefooted in an effort to retrieve his failing fortunes, has our 21-gun salute for cast-iron endeavor. At the same time we were wondering who would be the first salesman to sell him some alum.

Having drained the well of information bone-dry, we hasten to inform you that any similarities between characters mentioned in this column and actual persons, living or dead, are entirely coincidental and unintentional—and so, au revoir.

L. V. C. Drops First Game To D-son Devils

Hendrickson Holds L. V. to Only Three Bingles

Although Lebanon Valley's baseball nine lost their inaugural game to the Dickinson "Devils" last Saturday on the Carlisle diamond by a 6-2 score, Blue and White followers hold high hopes for a successful season.

Despite the fact that it was the Dutchmen's first game, the Annville collegians played a good brand of ball and served notice to their future league opponents that they would be out for the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate League bunting, held at present by Gettysburg.

The game pleased Coach Metoxen very much in that it disclosed the abilities of four first year men who should aid materially in the Dutchmen's pennant chase. Frank Kuhn, who plays every position equally well, pitched a nice assortment of deliveries and will probably be the Chief's ace. Lennon and Tryan looked good at short and first, respectively, and Kitzmiller, subbing for Ralph Billett at second, accepted seven chances without a flaw.

The real star of the game, however, was Dickinson's superlative hurler, Hendrickson, who limited the Blue and White stickmen to three hits, one a double off the bat of Kuhn. The Carlisle moundsman also whiffed seven men and walked but one.

Kuhn's performance was by no means shoddy either, as he allowed the home team only eight hits, two of the scratch variety.

Dickinson garnered two runs in the second inning and were never headed thereafter. They added one in the third, one in the sixth, and two in the seventh, after two men had been retired.

Lebanon Valley scored when Kuhn laced Hendrickson's first offering off the left field wall for a long double. He took third when Capka lofted a long fly to right field and scored when Davies duplicated.

The Dutchmen tallied their final score in the seventh without the aid of a hit. Kress got a lift on Shenk's error, stole second and took third when Wilson threw wild into center field. He dragged Valley's last tally across the plate when Capka flied out to center field.

The summaries:

LEBANON VALLEY

	r.	h.	e.	a.
Brown cf	0	0	0	0
Seiverling cf	0	0	2	0
Walk c	0	1	3	2
Kuhn p	1	1	0	2
Frey p	0	0	1	0
Capka 3b	0	1	0	3
Davies rf	0	0	0	0
Lennon ss	0	0	1	4
Tryan 1b	0	0	1	0
Katchmer 1b	0	0	12	0
Kitzmiller 2b	0	0	3	4
Kress lf	1	0	0	0
Totals	2	3	24	15

DICKINSON

	r.	h.	e.	a.
Lipson 3b	0	0	0	3
Shore lf	0	1	1	0
Shenk ss	1	1	1	7
Stine 2b	2	2	2	1
W. H'on cf	2	2	1	0
Padjen rf	0	2	3	0
Wilson c	1	0	8	1
Kerfoot 1b	0	0	11	0
B. H'on p	0	0	0	1
Totals	6	8	27	13

Rakow batted for Frey in ninth.
Errors, L. V. C. 5, Dickinson 4.
Runs batted in: Capka 2, W. Hen-

VETERAN NETMAN

EUGENE SHENK

New Teams Included on Tennis Schedule

Due to inclement weather and the poor condition of the courts, the Blue and White netmen have been delayed in raising the curtain on the 1938 season. The squad is being tutored again by Dr. E. H. Stevenson and will probably feature many new faces as seen in the E-town match when Raymond Frey, lanky basketeer, Coda Sponaugle, and Bill Habyshaw made their bow to L. V. tennis fans. Shenk, Umberger, Shapiro, Evelev and Saylor represent the nucleus of the team, being left-overs from last year. Shenk is the real veteran of the team, this being his fourth year as a varsity performer, while the rest have also proved their mettle in previous tennis combats.

The schedule for this year's team has been arranged by Manager Eugene Shenk. Six home matches and eight matches on foreign courts round out the fourteen match schedule. Several new opponents who make their initial appearance this year, include Harrisburg C. C., West Chester S. T. C. both being played away from home.

The home courts have recently been resurfaced while school was closed during the Easter holidays. All five courts received a face-lifting during which process tons of fine clay was spread uniformly over the face of the courts. N. Y. A. work was used in the project. The schedule:

April 25—Elizabethtown at Annville, Pa.
April 27—Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster, Pa.
April 28—Bucknell at Annville, Pa.
April 30—Harrisburg C. C. at Harrisburg, Pa.
May 4—Susquehanna at Selinsgrove, Pa.
May 6—West Chester S. T. C. at West Chester, Pa.
May 7—Albright at Annville, Pa.
May 10—Dickinson at Annville, Pa.
May 11—Elizabethtown at Elizabethtown, Pa.
May 12—Franklin and Marshall at Annville, Pa.
May 13—Juniata at Annville, Pa.
May 16—Albright at Reading, Pa.
May 17—Juniata at Huntingdon, Pa.
May 19—Muhlenberg at Allentown, Pa.

drickson, Stine, Padjen 3. Two base hits: W. Hendrickson, Stine, Kuhn. Three base hits: W. Hendrickson, Padjen. Stolen bases: Wilson, Shenk, Kress. Base on balls: Kuhn 2, Hendrickson 1. Struck out: Kuhn 5, Frey 1, Hendrickson 7. Losing pitcher: Kuhn. Umpires: Palmer and Good. time: 1:55.

Racquetters Defeat E-town Handily 7-2

On Monday afternoon, April 25, the Lebanon Valley racquet-wielders easily swept aside Elizabethtown College net squad by a 7-2 count. L. V. showed promise in this, their first match of the year, the Susquehanna match having been rained out last Friday afternoon, and displayed several veteran courtmen in action for the first time this season.

Lebanon Valley lost two of the six singles matches when Ray Frey and Coda Sponaugle, newcomers to the tennis squad, bowed to their E-Town rivals. Particularly in doubles the Flying Dutchmen showed strength and promise. With ease all three of the doubles matches were annexed by the Blue and White.

Coming matches reveal a challenging schedule for the tennis squad. With such rivals as Bucknell, F. and M., Albright, and Dickinson the courtmen face a full season.

Several new candidates showing promise are William Habyshaw, Richard Weagley, and Sam Derrick, who are battling for vacancies left on the team through transfer and graduation.

The summary of the Lebanon Valley-Elizabethtown match is as follows:

L. V. C.—7; Elizabethtown—2.

SINGLES

Umberger, L. V. C., defeated Garber, Elizabethtown, 6-4, 6-1.
Shapiro, L. V. C., defeated Baugher, Elizabethtown, 6-3, 6-3.
Shenk, L. V. C., defeated Risser, Elizabethtown, 6-0, 2-6, 6-2.
Evelev, L. V. C., defeated Martin, Elizabethtown, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.
Keller, Elizabethtown, defeated Frey, L. V. C., 6-2, 9-11, 6-2.
Linton, Elizabethtown, defeated Sponaugle, L. V. C., 6-3, 6-2.

Baseball Program

L. V. C. opened the Eastern Collegiate League against Gettysburg last Wednesday away, and will be hosts to Bucknell this Tuesday in a non-league game.

Lebanon Valley's 1938 baseball schedule, opened last Saturday with the Dickinson "Devils," includes twelve games, half of them being Eastern Pennsylvania League games.

The schedule calls for five home games, those with Bucknell on May 3, Drexel Tech on May 6, Albright, May 7, Juniata, May 14, and Muhlenberg, May 17. The season ends May 23 when the Dutchmen play Albright in Reading.

*April 27—GETTYSBURG at Gettysburg, Pa.

May 3—BUCKNELL at Annville, Pa.

*May 6—DREXEL TECH at Annville, Pa.

May 7—ALBRIGHT at Annville, Pa.

May 10—MORAVIAN at Bethlehem, Pa.

May 12—BUCKNELL at Lewisburg, Pa.

*May 14—JUNIATA at Annville, Pa.

*May 17—MUHLENBERG at Annville, Pa.

*May 20—URSINUS at Collegeville, Pa.

May 21—MT. ST. MARY'S at Emmitsburg, Md.

*May 23—ALBRIGHT at Reading, Pa.

Umberger and Shenk, L. V. C., defeated Garber and Linton, Elizabethtown, 6-4, 6-3.

Evelev and Shapiro, L. V. C., defeated Baugher and Risser, Elizabethtown, 6-1, 6-2.

Saylor and Habyshaw, L. V. C., defeated Keller and Martin, Elizabethtown, 6-2, 6-2.

PAUL DOUGLAS

Paul Douglas, Chesterfield's baseball expert, is reviewing the games and players nightly at 6:30 P. M., E. S. T., in a quarter-hour broadcast over 50 National Broadcasting Company stations from the Atlantic Coast to the Rocky Mountains.

Douglas is not only one of the country's best sports commentators; he roams the parks, knows all the players, and gets as wildly excited as the most dyed-in-the-wool baseball lover.

Later on in the season, Douglas will have "Gabby" Hartnett, Chicago Cubs' catcher, "Ducky" Medwick, slugging outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, and other diamond stars as guest commentators.

CHICAGO, ILL.—(ACP)—"Racehorse" basketball, as played on college and university courts during the past season, will be slowed up when the hoopsters resume play next winter.

SMOKE 20 FRAGRANT PIPEFULS of Prince Albert. If you don't find it the mellowest, tastiest pipe tobacco you ever smoked, return the pocket tin with the rest of the tobacco in it to us at any time within a month from this date, and we will refund full purchase price, plus postage.

(Signed) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina

Copyright, 1938, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

PRINCE ALBERT THE NATIONAL JOY SMOKE

50 pipefuls of fragrant tobacco in every 2-oz. tin of Prince Albert

Science Students Attend Meeting Of Pa. Academy

Reports Read on Research in Biology and Geology

by Clarence Lehman

Yours truly has recently attended a meeting of the Pennsylvania Academy of Science at Bucknell University with several fellow scientists. Seeing that we had nothing to do over the Easter vacation, it was decided to take Good Friday off and attend this meeting.

The idea of this academy is to promote the spirit of research and present reports on work which has been completed or is now in progress. The morning session contained a dozen papers, of which only the most interesting are worth mention. Dr. Paul Moser of the Bloomsburg Hospital gave a very interesting report on The Time Element Involved in a Thorough Medical Examination, followed by a report on Pennsylvania Orchids with lantern slides by a University of Pennsylvania botanist, Edgar T. Wherry. A student from Bucknell gave a report on Pathogenic Molds, but his presentation was below par, although his subject was very interesting.

The biology session in the afternoon contained a wide variety of subjects, some dealing with animals of a certain locality, others with water birds in a certain vicinity, and a few histological problems. Outstanding on this latter subject was a paper by Kenneth Herrold, Bucknell University, entitled, Activity of Kupffer Cells During Infection by Vibrio Methnikovi. It was of particular interest to note the increasing number of papers on genetics, a subject yet in its infancy.

One of my friends visited the geology session that afternoon in another building and seems to have been very much impressed by the projection methods used in showing the crystalline nature of the various rocks under discussion. Present at this meeting was George W. Ashley, of the Pennsylvania Geological Survey, who presented a paper on new interpretations placed on glacial deposits of Pennsylvania. Dr. Ashley gave an address at the evening session on the subject, How Old is Man? when he traced the development of man through the Piltown, Neanderthal, and Cro-Magnon stages with illustrations of each part of his lecture.

Anniversary Dance Enjoyed By Alumni

Saturday night last the Kalozetean Literary Society wound up its weekend of activities with a successful dinner-dance at the Hotel Hershey. Those present had an enjoyable evening dining in the Spanish room, and later dancing to the mellow notes of Ira Bowman. There were approximately one hundred couples in attendance and the hotel patio was a panorama of color as couples lounged about in groups with friends and old grads. The beautiful spring weather brought out the best in color schemes at this, the most successful affair Kalo has yet attempted.

Outstanding among those present were the alumni who travelled great distances to enjoy an evening of pleasant fun and revelry with former school mates. Some came from medical schools, others from graduate school, and still others relinquished their business duties to meet their former professors and students, thus injecting into the occasion a spirit of familiarity.

SENIORS COMPLETE PLANS FOR FORMAL

The Class of 1938 will climax its social activities with the Senior Ball on Saturday, April 30, at the Harrisburg Country Club. Dan Pebble's Orchestra from Lancaster has been engaged to play for dancing from eight o'clock until twelve.

All seniors and their dates are invited to attend this annual spring formal of the graduating class. The committee in charge of the dance, headed by Paul Ulrich, has done very commendable work in arranging for the ball room and in securing the orchestra. They are also planning to present an interesting program during the evening. The other members of the committee are David Byerly, Isabel Cox, Mary Zartman, John Groff, and Ernestine Jagnesak.

Kalo-Delphian Presents Hit In Joint Play

(Continued from page 1)

a great probability that had she done so the rest of the cast might have forgotten to pick her up, so that she would have been forced to observe the subsequent goings-on from a choice position on the floor.

We wish next to compliment Clarence Lehman and Vincent Nagle for sincere and at the same time snappy performances. Both showed oodles of stage presence and feeling for lines. Mr. Lehman did appear a bit hesitant on one or two occasions and we wondered a few times whether or not Mr. Nagle was absolutely sure of his lines; but at any rate the gentlemen did much to promote the proceedings.

Perfect Conclusion

Sentimentalists that we are, we must confess that the Epilogue practically took us by storm. As for Mr. Beamesderfer an unbecoming abruptness and jerkiness clouded his good spots; but he succeeded always in bolstering himself to go on, and if our verdict of ad libbing is correct he was quite the quite in picking up the fallen lamp—or do we give credit where credit is not due?

Bomberger Satisfactory

Messrs. Moody, Munday and Raab were, on the whole, average performers. Mr. Moody was clumsy enough to knock a lamp from the desk and later showed lack of foresight in sitting on his pipe; but he looked and sounded his part to a remarkable degree. Unconscious association with their everyday selves of both Mr. Munday and Mr. Raab by the audience greatly obscured what were really not bad interpretations. No particular faults were apparent here.

Miss Bomberger, as Nana, was quite satisfactory, and we have had sincere admiration for her spunk since learning that she did the show while under the handicap of a sprained ankle. Such is the stuff of which actresses are made.

The various robots and robotesses were quite good, aided as they were by an impressionistic makeup. Miss Parks played her part to the hilt, Mr. Shenk did well and Mr. Myers scared the daylights out of us with his entrance a la Frankenstein. Ralph Billett was pleasing as Radium, and Miss Bowman, along with Brandt, Conrad, Yingst, and Flook, lent additional atmosphere to the scene.

The setting was, of course, more or less a futuristic one, and as such was quite sufficient; but we did spend a few anxious moments wondering what could possibly be the significance of the large painting.

The play as a whole was marred entirely too often by trifling slipups which for the time being brought the action to a stop or diverted the attention of the audience. Granting some mechanical and human limita-

Chemistry Group Visits Industries In Baltimore

On Friday, April 8, twenty-six members of the Chemistry Club visited the industrial plants of the Industrial Alcohol Plant and the American Smelting and Refining Company in Baltimore, Md. The group was under the supervision of Dr. Bender, head of the chemistry department. Save for a constant downpour of drenching rain, slippery Maryland highways, and an unavoidable collision between the car driven by Jacob Umberger and a street car, the trip was a delightful as well as an educational one.

The Industrial Alcohol Plant was first viewed, and the process of making ethyl alcohol, butyl alcohol, and acetone was observed starting with the huge ocean tankers with their cargo of millions of gallons of crude molasses and continuing to the finished products as well as the by-products.

The intermediate processes of bacterial selection and growth, fermentation, distillation, fractional distillation, and drying of final products were thoroughly explained by competent guides. The tour ended with an inspection of the laboratory and lunch in the plant cafeteria.

The afternoon was occupied by a revealing expedition through the sixty-acre plant and grounds of the American Smelting and Refining Company. Here the steps in the refining and casting of copper were explained in detail by guides. The successive purifications of blister copper to its refined state included views of a blast furnace, the electrolytic refining processes, and the casting of the pure metal. Special attention was called to the efficiency of the industrial processes in which the very impurities of the copper are separated and marketed, making a profitable business in itself.

The trip was one of the series of tours which have been conducted by Dr. Bender in an attempt to acquaint students with the actual chemical procedures as practiced in the industrial world. These tours are used as the connecting link between the theory and work of the classroom and laboratory and the accepted processes of industry.

Another trip of this sort is being planned by the mineralogy class to take place some time in May. It will include a tour of New York State with stops at Rochester, Corning, and various mineral deposits for the purpose of gathering specimens.

tions, we still think that some of the small errors were entirely unnecessary.

In connection with this line of thought we wish to say that in our humble opinion the audience was very unkind to the actors in the matter of inane and unjustified laughter. The so-called "love" scenes, surprisingly enough came through largely unscathed, but in several other instances a few members of the audience showed extremely bad taste and little consideration for either the actors or those others of the audience who were following the action.

And now we close with a word of appreciation for the technical staff, headed by Director Bob Spohn. The handiwork of Mr. Spohn was apparent to a large degree. Mr. Lenker contributed some very excellent art work. The makeup was, as usual, flawless, and aside from the Bell-less telephone and a break or two in the barrage of shot and shell, we have nothing more to offer on this aspect of the show.

Film "en francais" Shown in Theatre by French Dept.

(Continued from page 1)

To be desired also was a more recent film. Sous Les Toits is suggestive, to our mind, of the '20's, if costumes and automobiles can be used as an index of a period, and while the attitude is perhaps censurable, the American movie goer is disposed to enjoy a film only if he can be assured that it is hot from Hollywood, and certainly not over a year old.

Leaving nothing to be desired was the perfect realism and candor of the production. It was in this respect like the best American screen adaptations of realistic stage successes. There is no way of putting it, but that they are more convincing and faithful to life as it is lived. The gleam and glint of newness does not bedazzle the giddy eyes of the diversion or escape seeker. The dullness and grayness of use and actuality are in artistic productions, as they were in the one which fifty people saw on Tuesday.

It is to be hoped that Tuesday's experiment will be followed by others which may be even more successful from all points of view. As a concession to those who cannot keep pace linger expressed complete satisfaction with the manner in which things were progressing, especially in the financial condition of the treasury. However, it is expected that as many dues as possible will be paid in by the time of the Anniversary in order to facilitate payment of expenses. Although several minor items remain to be adjusted, all the main ideas have been worked out and it only remains for time to prove their worth.

Philo Complete Dance Plans

(Continued from page 1)

Professor and Mrs. Clark Carmean, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Wagner, and Dr. and Mrs. Amos Black will be invited to attend the dance in the capacity of chaperones.

with the rapid-fire French tongue, especially when conveyed through asthmatic apparatus, it might be found practicable to have the French appear on the screen for reading, as is frequently done, for example at the Europa in Philadelphia. Certainly pursuing the path which was pointed by this production, the French department and others may cultivate taste and appreciation as well as a demand for further films in foreign languages.

KINGSLEY AND BROWN

Quality Cleaners and Dyers

Kress and Walk, Agents

ANNVILLE, PENNA.

DI NUNZIO SHOE SHOP

Look at your Shoes, other People do.

9 E. Main St. Annaville, Pa.

D. L. SAYLOR & SONS

Contractors

Lumber and Coal

ANNVILLE, PENNA.

KREAMER BROS.

Furniture and Floor Coverings, Leonard Electric Refrigerators

Hoover Electric Sweepers

Maytag and Easy Washers

Westinghouse Electric

Ranges and R. C. A. Radios

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

Phone 144 ANNVILLE, PA.

KEYSTONE

Cleaners and Dyers

Hats Cleaned and Reblocked

Rapid Pressing Service

10 W. Main St. Annaville, Pa.

Compliments of

A. & P. STORE

C. H. SHEARER, Mgr.

JACK'S BOOK STORE

Used Books Bought and Sold

BACK DATE MAGAZINES

147 N. 8th St., LEBANON, PA.

New Fords On Display

at the showroom

LIGHT'S GARAGE

PALMYRA

HERSHEY B. WAGNER, Salesman

ANNVILLE, PA.

FINK'S BAKERY

Eat Fink's Famous
Chocolate Eclairs, Cream
Puffs, Filled Doughnuts

Purchases can be made in Bake
Shop after Store hours.

YARDLEY ITEMS

We are proud of our line of quality merchandise which includes a complete stock of—

Parker Fountain Pens and Pencils

Diehl Drug Store

103 W. Main St., Annaville, Pa.

College Needs --

BOOKS

WRITING MATERIALS

PARTY SUPPLIES

GIFTS

Esbenshade's
Book Store

38 N. 8th St. Lebanon, Pa.

CLOTHING OF QUALITY J. S. BASHORE

Lebanon, Pa.

Welcome, Visitors

La Vie Collegienne

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE

See Exhibition

Vol. XV

ANNVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, MAY 5, 1938

No. 2

Heminway And Capka Named Outstanding

Chapel Personality Poll Reveals New Leaders; Jagnesak, Treo Repeat

On Tuesday morning during the Chapel period Hazel Heminway and Adolph Capka were named the outstanding leaders on the campus in a student poll conducted by LA VIE COLLEGIENNE. In the same poll Dorothy Kreamer and John Moller were selected as the most pleasing personalities at Lebanon Valley, Ernestine Jagnesak and Raymond Frey were chosen the best athletes, Louise Stoner and Phil Lester as the best-dressed, and Marianne Treo and Arthur Jordan as the best-looking students.

The poll, which has been an annual student feature for the past few years, had previously been conducted by the Quittapahilla, college yearbook, as an exclusive feature for that publication. This year the poll had been dropped from the yearbook and in order to continue the selections in an unbroken series LA VIE conducted the poll. Next year the feature will be returned to the Quittie, according to editor Carl Y. Ehrhart.

Of the selections made by the students, Miss Treo and Miss Jagnesak alone retain the honors won by themselves in last year's election. Miss Heminway is president of the W. S. G. A., treasurer of the Y. W. C. A., and has been active in the Clonian Literary Society, debating, W. A. A., Eclectic Club. Capka is captain of the baseball team, president of the senior class, vice-president of the

(Continued on Page 5, Column 2)

Dramatics Group Lists Promotions

The executive committee of the Wig and Buckle Dramatics club recently held a meeting to determine the status of the members of the organization. The following members were raised from general members to letter standing: Sylva Harclerode, Anna Morrison, Benjamin Goodman, Dean Aungst, Paul Horn, William Clark, and Lloyd Beamesderfer. Several of the organization became general members after being club members. They are the following: Mildred Haas, Barbara Bowman, Myrtle Leff, Anna Mae Bomberger, Laurene Dreas, Robert Hackman, Frank Shenk, Robert Strayer, Charles Miller, and David Lenker.

Other people who have not yet applied for membership in Wig and Buckle, but who have done outstanding work in dramatics during the past year, will be offered membership at letter standing. These selections will be decided upon after the Philo-Clio play.

There was a motion at the meeting of the executive committee that the organization should obtain pins or keys for the senior members for outstanding work in dramatics. This question will be decided upon at the next general meeting of the club.

Student Leader

ADOLPH CAPKA

... named outstanding leader in recent election.

Houck Elected W. A. A. President For Coming Year

Spring Banquet Scheduled For Monday Evening In College Dining Hall

SPORTS LEADERS CHOSEN

Jean Houck was elected president of the Women's Athletic Association for the year 1938-'39 on Friday, April 29. Those who were eligible to vote were the present members and members-elect of the association.

The other new cabinet officers are as follows: Vice-President, Mildred Haas; Secretary, Evelyn Miller; Treasurer, Evelyn Evans; Hockey Leader, Helen Bartlett; Basketball Leader, Cora Graby; Tennis Leader, Isabel Shatto; Hike Leader, Alice Richie; Minor Sports Leader, Esther Wise; Archery Leader, Betty Ann Rutherford.

The W. A. A. has scheduled its annual spring banquet for Monday, May 9, at six o'clock in North Hall. This will be a formal affair to which all present members and initiates are invited. At the banquet the new cabinet will be installed in office, and the new members will be formally initiated.

The decorations for the banquet will follow the college colors, being highlighted by a large N. A. A. F. birthday cake commemorating the anniversary of the National American Athletics Federation.

Umberger Elected Chemistry Head

At a meeting of the Chemistry club held on Monday Jacob Umberger defeated Merle Bacastow for the presidency of the organization for next year. At the same time Richard Moody was elected vice-president over Warren Sechrist, and Charles Beittel was named secretary-treasurer unopposed.

The newly-elected president is a day student from Mt. Gretna, and a member of the Philokosmian Literary

(Continued on Page 8, Column 4)

Greetings To Our Visitors

To Our Visitors:

As President of Lebanon Valley College, let me extend to all of you a most hearty welcome to our campus.

Many institutions have larger campuses, but for beauty and convenience this campus has few rivals. The many varieties of trees and shrubbery are appropriately labeled, enabling one to improve his knowledge of the members of the plant kingdom as well as to enjoy their beauty.

The competitive scholarship examinations have attracted many of you here. These annual examinations are assisting us in making our student body more highly selective. This year the Dean's Honor List contains a record number of names. In the final analysis the faculty and the students are the real college, and in the small college no student is lost in the crowd. One of the leading officers in the Pennsylvania State Education Association, in enrolling his daughter in our institution, wrote me this note concerning their choice of Lebanon Valley as his daughter's college: "Both of us have had rather a watchful eye on Lebanon Valley activities for the past several years and I think the thing that has appealed to us most is the evident close personal relations which the faculty established with students and the efforts that were constantly in evidence to insure the personal development of the student."

Favorable weather conditions are all that are needed to give you a spectacle of magnificent proportions in our May Day exercises Saturday afternoon. These festivities are the expression of the loyalty and cooperation of our students in perpetuating one of the major traditions of the college; for May Day, sponsored by our college Christian Associations, is a red-letter day on the college calendar. I know you will thoroughly enjoy the gorgeous pageantry and the beautiful dances and other attractive features of the program. The conservatory students have provided the music used on this occasion. These students played and sang to an audience of more than 1,750 people in the Forum at Harrisburg last Sunday afternoon. The musical organizations are a valuable asset to the college, not only because they furnish opportunities in applied music to both conservatory and college students, but because the entire student body has access to recitals and concerts that add to their personal enjoyment and culture.

For the visitors who have come early enough to see the play and for those who will linger for the Lebanon Valley-Albright baseball game there will be additional pleasures. Dramatics and athletics at Lebanon Valley College afford to interested and talented students, opportunities of participation. Extra-curricular activities, when balanced with academic requirements, are conducive to the development of desirable leadership qualities in the student.

Since you have been our guests for a short time, we cherish the hope that you will become a member of our happy family. The pleasures experienced in connection with these May Day events may be extended over a period of four years, running parallel with a curriculum that will challenge you to be and do your best.

CLYDE A. LYNCH, President.

DR. C. A. LYNCH

May Day Program Announced

Plans for the annual May Day pageant, which is to be held on Saturday, May 4, are rapidly nearing completion. The student body has cooperated unusually in the matter of attending practice, and this May Day promises to be even more colorful and elaborate than usual. The theme is: A Pageant of the Months of the Year. In order that the traditional May Pole dance may be last on the program, the Summer season, starting with the June Flower Dance, will be first.

Each season will be introduced by a freshman girl, appropriately costumed.

There are two most unusual features connected with this pageant. The first is the fact that most of the coaching of the various dances has devolved upon members of the Junior Class of the Conservatory of Music as part of their classwork in the English Activities course. This has relieved Miss Henderson, the women's phys. ed. instructor, of a great deal of the burden of responsibility that has been hers in past years.

The second unusual feature is the fact that the May Queens of the last ten years have been asked to take part in the program. All those who have been heard from expect to be present. They will precede this year's queen in the procession.

A program complete with personnel in order of their appearance follows: PROCESSION:

Heralds—Clarence Aungst, John Gongloff.

(Continued on Page 5, Column 1)

Sub-Freshmen Attracted By Examinations

High School Students From Neighboring States To Seek Free Tuition

Approximately seventy-five students from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and Maryland will participate in the annual Student Competitive Scholarship Examinations on Saturday morning, May 7 from 8 to 11 o'clock. All high school seniors who are in the upper third of their respective classes are eligible for tuition scholarship awards. There are no restrictions as to the number competing from any particular high or preparatory school.

Standardized objective tests in English and in American History will be conducted in the College Chapel by Dr. O. E. Reynolds and several student assistants. Those competing for scholarships in the College Department will be given a third standardized objective test in an elective subject to be selected from the following: Latin, German, French, Biology, Chemistry, Physics and Mathematics. Music scholarship contestants are required to arrange for auditions on Friday, May 6. They will be tested in Sight Singing, Ear Training and Voice or their choice of a musical instrument.

The English examination is scheduled in the College Chapel at 8:00 a. m.; the American History examination in the same place at 9:30 a. m. The elective subject examination of the College Department contestants will follow at 11:00 a. m.

(Continued on Page 5, Column 3)

Ehrhart Reports Quittie Progress

In a personal interview with Carl Ehrhart, editor of the 1940 Quittapahilla, it was learned that he is very much satisfied with the progress being made on the year-book. "If the progress made to date on the year-book is any indication of the future, the future ought to be rosy indeed. Complete lack of worry is not anticipated at all, but any emergencies will be dealt with as they come up."

The dummy, or general outline plan, as made up by the artists of the Canton Engraving Company, has been received by the Quittie staff, and a copy to return to the engraving company is being, or will be made up. Thus changes in plans will be more carefully and accurately taken care of, if duplicate copies are in the hands of both parties concerned. With this drawing up of the prospective year book, the bulk of the work remaining is the securing of the required photographs and the writing of copy.

Although most of the photography will be done next autumn, such as the group pictures and individual photographs, some shots have already been taken or will be taken this spring. These include pictures of May

(Continued on Page 8, Column 2)

LA VIE COLLEGIENNE

ESTABLISHED 1925

Published every Thursday throughout the college year except holiday vacations and examination week by the students of Lebanon Valley College, Annville, Pennsylvania.

Subscription price: $1.00 per year. Five cents per single copy. Entered as second class matter at the Annville, Pa., post office under the Act of March 3, 1879.

1937 Member 1938
Associated Collegiate Press

HOWARD N. BAIER.....Editor
Carl Y. Ehrhart.....Associate Editor
Stewart Shapiro.....Sports Editor
Robert Tschop.....Feature Editor
RAYMOND SMITH.....Business Manager
Warren Sechrist, Circulation Manager
Clarence Lehman, Managing Editor

Amy Meinhardt, Ben Goodman, Robert Long, George Yokum, Jane Ehrhart, Lillian Leisey, John Ness, Mary Touchstone, Frances Prutzman, Louella Schindel, Ferné Poet, Charles Beittel, Betty Anne Rutherford, David Lenker, John Moller, Richard Bell, Nathan Kantor.

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO • BOSTON • LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO

welcome sub-freshmen

On Saturday Lebanon Valley welcomes to her campus prospective students from high schools throughout Pennsylvania and neighboring states. On behalf of the student body LA VIE extends to you new students a most hearty welcome.

Most of you are here for the competitive scholarship examinations which in itself seems to prove your ambition and desire to advance with civilization. We wish you could all be successful in this worthy endeavor, but since the prizes are so desirable the competition will be great. After your morning of examinations, we ask you to witness our traditional May Day Pageant, the baseball game and above all visit the buildings and meet the students you will find living and working here on the campus. It is these people who will perhaps be your classmates next year. We hope you will evaluate Lebanon Valley justly and weigh accurately her merits as a school capable to prepare you for your life.

During your stay on the campus we hope we will be able to convenience you in every way possible and make your stay with us a happy occasion for all of us. This is the sincere desire of Lebanon Valley students.

exams---so what!

Semester examinations are usually looked upon as bi-annual pestilences sent by the faculty to plague the student. Frequently they are taken as a lull in the confusion and hustle of college life, as somewhat of a sedative to quiet us and drug us into study. Whether or not they are necessary, and the attitude with which we receive them are of little importance. It is the success which we gain in them that is paramount to each student and this success, be it small or large, is the result of how one prepares himself. Statistics have been compiled which are wont to show that 90% of college students cram for examinations. These figures, if applied to Lebanon Valley College students, seem to say that about only 10% of these students prepare for the examinations in the proper way, which the psychology of learning definitely insists is a series of well-spaced reviews. The college honor roll for last semester contained the names of about 10% of the student body. If we can say, with at least some truth, that these two percentage groups are composed of the same individuals, we must assume that the other 90% use wrong methods of study. This hint should be sufficient to move some weary souls. Bearing in mind that the few weeks remaining before examinations will be filled with social affairs, May Day rehearsals, athletic contests, and nice, warm lazy spring days when a walk in the country or to Kreider's will seem more inviting, tangible, and profitable than hitting the books. So to all late starters, as well as the more conscientious plugger, we say, look to your idle moments and use them wisely or the big bad professor will get you because there are only seven-teen more studying days until examinations.

boost the all-stars

Seldom do the alumni friends, and students of Lebanon Valley have such an excellent opportunity to boost their school and school mates as the one offered in the Inquirer All-Star Poll. With two men of the known calibre of Davies and Fridinger in the running for positions on this eleven, it is not only a chance to show the rest of the world how they play football in the land of the "Flying Dutchmen," but also an opportunity to support two men who have represented the school in many gridiron battles. As a means to not only bring publicity to the college, but also to show our appreciation for the splendid efforts given over a four year period to L. V. sports, LA VIE urges every student, faculty member, alumnus, and friend of the college to give his full cooperation in supporting the candidacy of these men. We appeal to all loyal L. V. supporters to sign all petitions circulated for the benefit of these men and to clip out and use the ballots printed in LA VIE.

Struble Announces Change In Philo-Clio Play Cast

In a recent interview, Dr. Struble director of the Philo-Clio play "Pride and Prejudice" announced several changes in the cast. Robert Strayer has relinquished the part of Mr. Dorsey and Clifford Barnhart has been selected to take his place. Harvey Snyder, as Mr. Wickham, is substituting for Kenneth Hocker. John Lynch is filling Barnhart's part while Bradford Long is doubling for Snyder.

Dr. Struble states that the play is progressing quite satisfactorily; the costumes are being rented from Van Horn Company, Philadelphia, and new make-up materials have been purchased.

Music Groups Score In Forum Concert

by Amy Meinhardt

To those among us who attended and especially those who participated in the Forum concert on Sunday afternoon, the whole affair was one of the grandest sensations we have ever experienced.

The program, originally scheduled for 3:00 p. m. standard time, was changed to 2:30 in order to avoid much of the confusion caused by the newly adopted daylight-saving time.

At one o'clock the bus pulled away from the Conservatory with all those band and glee club members who needed transportation. Although the time schedule was a little mixed-up, the perfect weather seemed to compensate for everything.

Somebody, in very high spirits, chanced to remark jokingly that it would be quite wonderful if we should have a full house. That same person must have felt like a prophet two hours later, for a steady stream of people through all the entrances of the Forum caused the auditorium to be filled almost to capacity before the curtain arose! That meant that almost two thousand people were present!

STUFF 'N THINGS

by Proboscis

Greetings and felicitations to youse guys and gals! After that epidemic of drivel we let loose on an unsuspecting public last week we expected to be shelved and replaced by the old Stoooge, Xenophon; but it seems he is busily engaged in organizing Social Uplift camps in Spain, and so cannot be disturbed.

Never having been over the battlefields of France, we hesitate to say this; but after one hour of vainly attempting to knock a tennis ball back and forth from one shell-hole to another we decided that the ground was just a bit uneven. Offhand we don't believe that visiting tennis teams care a great deal more for our courts than we do, and they have a right to expect the best.

A word of appreciation to the Band and Glee Club is now apropos. So much favorable comment anent the Sunday concert in the Harrisburg Forum has come to our ears that we feel it only proper to add our humble bit to what has already been said. These groups have done and are doing much to raise the Blue and White standard of L. V. C. to an exalted place in the sun; so all honor to our conservatory and all connected with it. Swell work, gang; we only wish we could do as much.

Friends of Bob Tschop, if any, will be glad to learn that he has been awarded the 1938 medal for valor in the dining hall, as a consequence of a juggling display during the Sunday noon meal. Prolonged applause from an unnamed source nearby attested to the excellence of the show. It was a shame, Bob, that circumstances prevented you from opening your bag of tricks and really bringing down the house; at least you could have splashed a little gravy on the faculty.

Miss Esther Henderson is doing her usual capable job of supervising the preparations for the May Day presentation. One simply can't refuse to fall in line when confronted by the winning smile and cheery words which invariably accompany the lady in question; she seems to possess a magic touch. We know she'll turn out a bang-up job again this year.

From all indications the Senior Ball was a distinct success, and the class is to be congratulated on its foresight and alertness in sponsoring the affair. Some complaints of "dull" were heard, but the music was quite passable and the location was certainly conducive to that holiday mood which somehow "makes" a dance. All in all, a doggone good time.

J. Bowker Thomas, who was recently elected to lead this year's Junior Prom, is accepting the congratulations of friends and well-wishers. Incidentally, this event definitely puts Bordentown on the map; turning out a shuffler the likes of Joe is enough to bring notoriety to any town. Best wishes, Joe, and please see what can be done about a Big Apple.

Much hustle and bustle and a display of greenbacks sufficient to awe the Rockefellers would indicate that Philo is preparing to take its turn at bat on Saturday night. This May Day weekend is killing, but we believe the boys have the stamina to last until early Sunday morning, especially since they're eating first; which proves that the foot is second to the stomach as a means of reaching a man's heart.

"Elmer" Hackman, local tooter and amateur piano tuner, found him-

Scene of Philo Dance

View of Hotel Brunswick, Lancaster, where the Philo-kosmian Literary Society will hold the dinner-dance celebrating its seventy-second anniversary on Saturday evening.

What They Say

QUESTION—Do you think the Literary Societies are justifying their existence on the campus?

Robert Tschop, Junior—The Literary Societies have kept apace with the changes in social standards.

Josephine Ernst, Freshman—No. The societies were originally intended to have literary meetings, speakers, and debates. Now they only have dances, although I'm not against that.

Robert Strayer, Junior—No, they don't do anything literary.

Amy Monteth, Junior—They could be greatly improved as they do nothing except have dances.

Mildred Gardner, Freshman—They supply the necessary amount of social activities for the campus.

Helen Bartlett, Junior—They could be greatly improved.

David Byerly, Senior—No, but if they were called fraternities they would fulfill their purpose.

Virginia Neissner, Junior—Because the social needs of the college have changed the Literary Societies have become more like sororities and fraternities.

Paul Stauffer, Freshman—No, as Literary Societies they do not justify their place at all.

Carl Dempsey, Junior—Yes, because of the different activities they uphold.

Roger Saylor, Senior—Yes, in that they provide a type of activity necessary to college life, but they are far from being as useful as they can be.

self in an embarrassing condition one day last week, when some of the boys deprived him of an essential part of his outer garments, viz: his pants. He was awfully funny running across to the dorm with his shirt-tail valiantly streaming after him. Another intended victim was Howard Baier, but the desperadoes found themselves up against natural obstacles — they couldn't get them down over his hips. And all after seeing "A Yank at Oxford."

While we have time and space we want to extend a hearty welcome to the sub-freshmen who will visit with us on May Day. We're glad to see them here and we'd like to have them become members of the gang. To our guests: "Hello, and have a good time."

Have you ever felt a bed calling you? Well, ours is, and what's more, we're answering it. In other words, this is, temporarily, at least, all there is for the present. Don't work too hard!

L. V. Stage

The subject now before the house is the annual Clio-Philo play, "Pride and Prejudice," to be presented Friday night. Under the direction of Dr. Struble the production is being rounded out nicely, so that by curtain time a first-rate performance will be practically in the bag.

Dot Kreamer will convulse you as the scheming mother. Again she plays the battleaxe to a T, and much of the scolding, raucous-voiced "Emily" of "Post Road," who proved such a success last November, peeps thru her characterization. Watch Dot.

Mary Zartman, whom we will always remember as "Isobel" in "The Truth About Blayds" uses her wonderfully low-pitched voice and great dramatic talent in such a way as to nail the feminine romantic lead to the mast. If this part isn't in capable hands, we've never seen one that was.

A newcomer to the theatrical wars, Marlin Espenshade, is doing a swell job as Collins, a suitor for Miss Zartman's hand who is, we may as well tell you, raffled off to one of the other young ladies. Mr. Espenshade impresses us as being somewhat of a successor to the departed Curvin Thompson, but unlike that gentleman he seems capable of roaming over much broader fields of dramatic endeavor. You'll like this boy.

The cast, cute little rascals that they are, have been catching everybody with a collapsible chair placed in a convenient place backstage. Among others, Mr. Espenshade has tumbled (pun.)

Cliff Barnhart, whose osculatory technique in a scene with Miss Zartman is somewhat short of what we hope is his usual standard, is taking lessons on the side from Louise Stoner between scenes. We were always of the opinion that biologists know practically nothing about kissing.

A notable feature of the play is the number of new faces that will appear. Numerous freshmen from both Clio and Philo will venture forth largely in supporting roles, to back up the nucleus of experienced actors in the cast. For this season we hesitate to predict positively the quality of the production. At any rate, the play itself is good, the direction is of the best, and time will tell.

FAMILIAR CAMPUS SCENES

MEN'S DORMITORY

Home of Men

COLLEGE CHURCH

Religious Center

CARNEGIE LIBRARY

Knowledge Store House

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Best in The East

NORTH HALL

Dining Hall and Women's Dorm.

SOUTH HALL

Delphian Stronghold

WEST HALL

Abode of Intellectuals

CAMPUS PERSONALITIES

May Queen And Court

MAY DAY DIRECTOR

Miss Esther Henderson

QUEEN
Wanda Price

GENERAL CHAIRMAN

DR. S. H. Derickson

MUSIC DIRECTOR

Prof. E. P. Rutledge

Rita Mosher
Lucille Hawthorne
Dorothy Kreamer

MAID OF HONOR
Catherine Mills

Sylva Harclerode
Isabel Cox
Hazel Heminway

PLAY DIRECTOR

Dr. George Struble

Lebanon Valley's Graduate Students To Be

Duey Unger

John Marbarger

C. Boyd Shaffer

May Day Program Announced

(Continued from page 1)

Father Time—Robert Tschop.
Baby New Year—Tonkie Struble.
FORMER MAY QUEENS!
Mrs. Frances Long Shroyer, 1928.
Mrs. Emmaline Sheaffer Miller, 1929.
Mrs. Hilda Hess Bartholow, 1930.
Mrs. Alma Binner Wise, 1931.
Mrs. Ann Kiehl Kiehnner, 1932.
Mrs. Marion Kruger Light, 1933.
Mrs. Minna Wolfskill Barnes, 1934.
Mrs. Frances Holtzman Colbert, 1935.
Miss A. Louise Gillan, 1936.
Miss Lois Harbold, 1937.
CLASS PRESIDENTS:
Frank Lennon, '41; John Moller, '40; Ben Goodman, '39; Adolph Capka, '38.
FLOWER GIRLS:
Frances Jean Shroyer, Alberta Barnhart.
MAY QUEEN: Wanda Price.
Train Bearers: Johnnie Starr, David Shroyer.

MAID OF HONOR: Catherine Mills.
QUEEN'S COURT:

Hazel Heminway, Rita Mosher, Lucille Hawthorne, Sylva Harclerode, Dorothy Kreamer, Isobel Cox.

MAY POLE DANCERS:
SUMMER—Ferne Poet.

JUNE — Flowers — Soph. Girls —
Adele Black, Lillian Vavrous, Mary Albert, Louise Saylor, Anna May Lind, Lucille Oller, Jean Meyer, Janet Whitesell, Kathryn Zwally, Verna Schlosser, Evelyn Miller, Mary Touchstone, Lela Lopes, Anna Evans, Violet Hoerner, Mae Mulhollen.

JULY—Patriotic Drill—Boys.
Spirit of '76—Luke Haines, piccolo; Sterling Kleiser, drum; John Dressler, drum.

Ralph Lloyd, Richard Weagley, Charles Beittel, Fred Brandt, Joseph Conrad, Henry Erdman, Max Flook, Wilmer Gingrich, Joseph Gittlen, Samuel Grimm, Gert Gutstein, Donald Haverstick, Raymond Hess, Arthur Kofroth, William McKnight, Charles Miller. Substitutes: Robert Nichols, Robert Reiff, Frank Shenk, Howard Slider.

AUGUST—Sports—Freshman Girls —
Lucille Bamberger, Jeanne Bliven, Gladys Brown, Margaret Boyd, Joan Cox, Alice Dietrich, Laurene Dreas, Frances Dyson, Eleanor Egli, Lucille Koons, Mary Elizabeth Spangler, Mildred Gardner, Katherine Shank, Jeanne Strickhauser, Mildred Rittle, Thelma Trupe.

FALL—Jeanne Strickhauser.

SEPTEMBER — Football Game —
Boys—Referee: William Bender. Geo. Barnhart, Leander Hamm, Thomas Bowman, Cecil Hemperley, Stanley Deck, Paul Horn, John Engle, Howard Peffley, Fred Huber, John Ness, Damon Silvers, Maurice Erdman, Robert Dinsmore, Bradford Long, Charles Reber, George Munday, John Yingst, George Smece, Harvey Snyder, Robert Spangler, John Lynch, Irvin Roemig, Joseph Thomas, Alfred Saylor, Irwin Schoen.

OCTOBER — Ghosts — Sophomore Girls. Death—Solo Dance—Lucie Cook. Barbara Bowman, Jane Eby, Evelyn Evans, Lucille Gollam, Lillian Leisey, Margaret Weimer, Dorothy Long, Bernice Witmer, Christine Kreider.

NOVEMBER — The Hunt — Freshman Girls. Margaret Bordwell, Dorothea Donough, Jeannette Kalbach, Martha Jane Koontz, Dorothea Krall, Elaine Leff, Myrtle Leff, Ferne Poet, Betty Anne Rutherford, Louella Schindell, Floda Traut, Josephine Ernst.

WINTER—Jeanette Kalbach.

DECEMBER—Christmas Carols — Men's Chorus.

JANUARY—Mardi Gras — all performers who have previously appeared.

Recruits Addressed By Dr. Lena Lietzau

Last Sunday was Young People's Anniversary Day in the United Brethren churches, and in accordance with this three deputations were conducted. Carl Ehrhart was sent as speaker to the Myerstown U. B. Church, while Paul Cunkle represented the organization at Harrisburg Sixth Street Church. A complete deputation was sent to Cleona U. B. Frances Prutzman was in charge of the Anniversary Service, while Martha Jane Koontz served as the speaker. Special music was rendered by Dorothy Yeakel and Esther Wise.

The Life Work Recruits also held a meeting in North Hall Parlor last Monday evening. Dr. Lena Lietzau gave a very fine and interesting talk. She told the recruits of her experiences in Salonica, Greece, in the capacity of teaching in a Christian school. In addition, Dr. Lietzau passed out a number of pictures which served to illustrate her talk.

Heminway And Capka Named Outstanding

(Continued from page 1)

Men's Senate. Besides these activities he is a member of the Philokosmian Literary Society and the Commerce Club.

Among the athletes Miss Jagnesak and Mr. Frey were named tops. Miss Jagnesak is a member of the girls' varsity basketball, hockey, and one of the outstanding tennis performers among the girls. Frey's basketball record along with his football work earned him his honor. Holder of the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate League individual scoring record, both season's total and single game totals.

FEBRUARY—Valentine — Sophomore and Freshman Girls. Duo—Helen Himmelberger and Barbara Sloane.

Sophomores: Adele Black, Anna Evans, Ruth Hershey, Violet Hoerner, Anna May Lind, Lela Lopes, Jean Meyer, Evelyn Miller, Lucille Oller, Louise Saylor, Mary Touchstone, Lillian Vavrous, Esther Wise, Katherine Zwally, Margaret Weimer, Laurene Dreas.

Freshmen: Lucille Bamberger, Margaret Boyd, Jeanne Bliven, Gladys Brown, Catherine Coleman, Joan Cox, Alice Dietrich, Frances Dyson, Eleanor Egli, Mildred Gardner, Audrey Immler, Lucille Koons, Katherine Shank, Mary Elizabeth Spangler, Jean Strickhauser, Mildred Rittle and Thelma Trupe, Sara Ann Weikert.

SPRING—Margaret Boyd.

MARCH—Irish—Freshman Girls—
Anna Mae Bomberger, Josephine Early, Jane Ehrhart, Josephine Ernst, Lucille Espenshade, Ethel Fisher, Louise DeHuff, Eloise Hollinger, Mary Ellen Homan, Mabel Jane Miller, Frances Prutzman, Marion Reiff, Ellen Ruppensberger, Edna Rutherford, Isabel Shatto, Evelyn Ware, Irene Seiders, Louella Schindell, Dorothea Donough, Myrtle Leff.

APRIL — Showers — Sophomore Girls—Barbara Bowman, Evelyn Evans, Jane Eby, Lucille Gollam, Lillian Leisey, Dorothy Long, Aimee Witmer, Bernice Witmer, Margaret Boyd, Margaret Weimer, Gladys Brown, Audrey Immler.

MAY—May Pole Dance — Juniors
Dorothy Null, Mildred Haas, Alice Richie, Geraldine Boyer, Cora Graby, Anna L. Light, Pauline Leininger, Mae Mulhollen, Anita Patschke, Nellie Morrison, Katherine Yingst, Dorothy Yeakel, Dorothy Zeiters, Grace Geyer, Audrie Fox, Jean Marbarger, Edith Metzger, Virginia Niessner, Irene Ranck, Helen Himmelberger, Dorothy Wentling, Evelyn Mae Strickler, Raymond Frey, Robert Grimm, John Zettlemoyer, Howard

Peffley, Jack Kreamer, Paul Myers, Robert Spangler, Jacob Umberger, Robert Smith, Robert Artz, Vincent Nagle, Gustav Maury, Robert Clipping, John Ness, Thomas Guinivan, John Moyer, Fred Smith, Daniel Shearer, Eugene Saylor, Luther Immler, George Yokum, Samuel Derick, Olga Lopes, Amy Meinhart, Amy Monteith, Marianne Treo, Mildred Gangwer, Dean Aungst, Damon Silvers, Joseph Thomas, Charles Brown, Chris Walk.

Sub-Freshmen Attracted By Examinations

(Continued from page 1)

One full-tuition scholarship, amounting to $1,100.00 or $275.00 per year, will be awarded to the College or Conservatory student receiving the highest rating. Ten scholarships of $40.00, or $100.00 per year, will be awarded ranking contestants who compete for boarding-student awards. Three scholarships of $200.00 or $50.00 per year, will be awarded day-student contestants. Awards will not be based solely on scholarship but will be affected by a rating as to physical appearance, moral character, capacity for leadership, ability to cooperate, and interest in extra-curricular activities such as clubs, musical organizations, journalistic groups, and athletics which is to be given by the principal of the high school from which each contestant was or will be graduated.

All contestants will be the guests of the college during their stay on the campus. They will be furnished meals and lodging if they live at a distance and will be entertained by students who are being selected for that purpose by Mr. Clements. If the sub-freshmen arrive Friday, they will be guests at the annual Philo-Clio play, "Pride and Prejudice," which will be presented Friday evening in Engle Hall. On Saturday, following their efforts in the examination, they will witness the traditional May Day Pageant and the Lebanon Valley-Albright baseball game. In the various science departments there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the benefit of these students as well as an actual laboratory class in action so that they might see how work in college is actually performed.

Dr. Derickson is general chairman of the day. Dr. Reynolds is in charge of the testing program with Dr. Bailey, student assistants from the Departments of Education and Psychology, and heads of the departments of subjects concerned assisting.

The participants will include the following students:

Elizabeth Ailes, Harrisburg
John Allen, Millerton
Stewart Becktel, Tower City
Doris Boyer, Quentin
Donald Brensinger, Emaus
Harold Brown, Harrisburg
Kathryn E. Brown, Lebanon
Margaret Cox, Reading

DI NUNZIO SHOE SHOP

Look at your Shoes, other People do.
9 E. Main St. Annville, Pa.

D. L. SAYLOR & SONS

Contractors

Lumber and Coal

ANNVILLE, PENNA.

Mildred Cross, Harrisburg
Martha Davies, Harrisburg
Phyllis Deitzler, Hummelstown
Guy Dobbs, Harrisburg
Loy Ebersole, Harrisburg
Margaret Eshleman, Mohnton
Robert Fisher, Schuylkill Haven
Lillian Fars, Hummelstown
Kathryn Fox, Lebanon
Phoebe Geyer, Middletown
Georgia Granell, Wyoming
Sarah Hartman, Ickesburg
Ruth Heminway, Woodlyne, N. J.
Anna Herr, Peach Bottom
Doris Haller, Camden, N. J.
Marjorie Holly, Harrisburg
Ralph Horne, Shamokin
Gilbert Hull, Hagerstown, Md.
Harold Humphrey, Trenton, N. J.
Dorothy Jones, Harrisburg
Reese Jones, Shenandoah
Elizabeth Landis, Easton
Armand L'Altrelle, Uniontown
Mary Light, Annville
Dorian Loser, Harrisburg
Jeanne McAdam, Lebanon
Ralph Manwiller, Reading
Jack McFadden, Harrisburg
James Mickle, Palmyra
Mary Miller, Avon
Roland Morrow, Easton
Doris Mowrey, New Cumberland
Mary Moyer, Lebanon
Robert Rea, Harrisburg
Carol Remsberg, Middletown, Md.
Theodore Sands, Trenton, N. J.
Elizabeth Sattazahn, Lebanon
Ruth Schwenk, Lebanon
Betty Shillott, Harrisburg
Anamax Shiedy, Johnstown
Francis Souder, Souderton
Robert Spencer, Wallingford
Charles Stine, Lebanon
Janet Stratton, Williamsport
Emory Swank, Brunswick, Md.
Dorothy Tillman, Chester
Lee White, Middletown
Ruth Wix, Harrisburg
Betty Zeigler, Williamsport
Jean Long, Ocean Grove
Richard Helms, Myerstown.

Schipperke and Eskini PUPPIES

Schipperke Kennels

35 East Main St.
ANNVILLE, PA.

I. H. ROEMIG

Billiards and Bowling

(Bowl for your health)

ANNVILLE PENNSYLVANIA

KREAMER BROS.

Furniture and Floor Coverings, Leonard Electric Refrigerators

Hoover Electric Sweepers
Maytag and Easy Washers
Westinghouse Electric
Ranges and R. C. A. Radios
FUNERAL DIRECTORS

Phone 144 ANNVILLE, PA.

KEYSTONE

Cleaners and Dyers

Hats Cleaned and Reblocked
Rapid Pressing Service
10 W. Main St. Annville, Pa.

Compliments of

A. & P. STORE

C. H. SHEARER, Mgr.

CLOTHING OF QUALITY J. S. BASHORE

Lebanon, Pa.

KINGSLEY AND BROWN

Quality Cleaners and Dyers

Kress and Walk. Agents

ANNVILLE, PENNA.

MAY DAY DINNERS SERVED

11:00 A. M. to 8:00 P. M.

Meet your friends here Before May Day and after the game

BRUNNER'S RESTAURANT

PHILOS

Be at your best. Have a Haircut and Shampoo for the Anniversary

KARL'S SHOP

Be Modern

EAT YOUR

May Day Dinner

AT

The Pennway Hotel

FINK'S BAKERY

Eat Fink's Famous
Chocolate Eclairs, Cream
Puffs, Filled Doughnuts

Purchases can be made in Bake Shop after Store hours.

YARDLEY ITEMS

We are proud of our line of quality merchandise which includes a complete stock of—

Parker Fountain Pens and Pencils

Diehl Drug Store

103 W. Main St., Annville, Pa.

College Needs --

BOOKS

WRITING MATERIALS

PARTY SUPPLIES

GIFTS

Esbenshade's Book Store

38 N. 8th St.

Lebanon, Pa.

'Me Thinks---'

By Rog Saylor, Guest Columnist
Is the type of men playing major league baseball improving? If the number of college men engaged in that profession is any criterion the answer is yes. According to an article in a recent issue of "The Sporting News," baseball's paper no less than 50 of the men now on the rosters of the National League teams had one or more years in college. Also there was one manager, Frankie Frisch, boss of the Deanless Cards. While not nearly all of these men received diplomas, they benefitted by some exposure to an ivy-covered atmosphere.

In this group of half a hundred there are those who attended colleges in this state. Pete Sivess, the Phillies pitcher, is a graduate of Dickinson College. Bob Garbark, reserve catcher for the Chicago Cubs, went to Allegheny College in the western part of the state. The third one, Mike Ryba, the Cards jack-of-all-trades, and also master of most of them got some schooling at little St. Francis College at Loretto. It is interesting to note that all three came from small colleges.

Gettysburg may be defending champs in the baseball league, but at this time it looks as though the Juniata Indians are the team to beat. For several years we had the league's No. 1 pitcher right here on our campus, but the scene has shifted to Huntingdon. An up and coming southpaw by the name of Roger has been sensational so far this spring, and should continue to be barring injury. Against Elizabethtown he fanned no less than 20 batsmen. Local fans will get an opportunity to watch this star in action when the Indians invade Annville on May 14.

For four years those of us who are seniors have been looking forward to the day when Lebanon Valley would knock over Gettysburg in a diamond encounter, but we lost our last hope last week. Every year it has been the same story, almost but not quite. What charm can it be that the Bullets have over us? In four years they have beaten us in seven out of eight basketball games and four straight baseball games.

After being hitless wonders for two games Chief Metoxen baseballers finally found their batting eyes and got themselves a few hits against Bucknell on Tuesday. In fact that old vim, vigor and vitality boy, Danny Seiverling started the ball rolling by leading off with a rousing double to right-center which the visitors right-fielder played into a triple. Keep it up boys! That game proved that you can win if you can get a few bingles.

The fielding gem of the afternoon occurred in the second half of the third with Danny Seiverling being the victim. He hit a hard one to deep short where Duffy made a sensational stop of it then a perfect peg to Quinn on first for the out. There were several other fine plays but none can compare with that play of Duffy's.

After attempted double steals in both the fourth and fifth innings were nipped by heads-up baseball on the part of the Lebanon Valley infield the visitors played it safe in the sixth, and found it worked better. In the fourth Chris Walk made no attempt to get the runner going into second, but threw directly to Billett who immediately threw it back to the plate where Walk easily tagged out Sager. The following they varied the process slightly and trapped a man between

G-burg Tossers Drop L. V. Nine In Easy Battle

Craig, Freshman Star Hurts Bullets To Win

Gettysburg took undisputed possession of first place in the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate Baseball League by trouncing Lebanon Valley 7-2 in a game played at G-burg last Wednesday.

Behind the effective hurling of Craig, freshman hurler, the Bullets played steady ball afield and pounded two Lebanon Valley pitchers for nine hits, including a triple by Mizell. Katchmer and Frey took care of the mound work for the Blue and White.

Gettysburg scored first in the second when Simon was hit by a pitched ball, stole second, and scored on Bratten's single to right. Two hits and two walks accounted for another tally in the fourth.

The battlefield boys tallied again in the fifth on one hit. Weems got a lift on Lennon's error, stole second and scored on Hamilton's single to right. Their final scoring came in a big seventh when they pushed four markers across the plate. Weems again started the rally by drawing a walk after Hamilton was safe on Billett's error. Yevak flied to Kuhn. A wild pitch advanced both runners who scored later on Daugherty's single to left. Simon followed and O'Neil sent them both across with a long single to left, but he was nailed trying for a double.

Lebanon Valley finally got to Craig in the eighth and nabbed two tallies. Billett opened the frame with a walk, but was forced out by Capka. Brown was safe on Hamilton's error at third and took second on the overthrow. Lennon kept the rally going with a drive to left for a single scoring Capka, but a perfect peg by Bratten held Brown at third. Katchmer flied to Yevak in center and Brown counted after the put-out.

The box score:
GETTYSBURG

	r	h	e	a
Mizell, 2b	0	2	4	3
Weems, ss	2	0	2	2
Hamilton, 3b	1	1	2	3
Yevak, cf	0	0	2	0
Daugherty, rf	1	2	0	0
Simon, 1b	3	2	9	0
Bratten, lf	0	1	1	0
O'Neil, c	0	1	7	1
Craig, p	0	0	0	2
	7	9	27	11

LEBANON VALLEY

	r	h	e	a
Seiverling, cf	0	0	2	0
Walk, rf	0	1	3	1
Kress, c	0	1	7	1
Kuhn, 1b	0	0	7	0
Billett, 2b	0	0	3	1
Capka, 3b	1	0	1	2
Brown, lf	1	0	1	0
Tryan, lf	0	0	0	0
Lennon, ss	0	1	0	2
Katchmer, p	0	0	0	2
Frey, p	0	0	0	0
	2	3	24	9

first and second and got him out before the man from third had time to score. Nice going, boys!

It was too bad that Marsh Frey was unable to finish off his fine afternoon's work, but it was quite evident that he was tiring fast. He really pitched a fine game supported by fine fielding. His control was working well except in one spot, and that spot proved harmless. Tony Rozman did a swell job as fireman. It took just two pitches for him to get that last man to pop up.

Netman Lose Match To F. & M. Opponents 5-4

The Lebanon Valley net squad dropped a close decision to Franklin and Marshall last Wednesday when a drawn-out deuced set which was finally captured by two Diplomats, ended a 4-4 deadlock in the match. The last set at 9-7 finished a long and bitter doubles match, in which L. V. C. held match point once and F. & M. held three times before the Flying Dutchmen were finally conquered.

Lebanon Valley started in impressive style when "Buddie" Umberger polished off his opponent in number-one spot. Shapiro, in the second position, was extended to three long and hard-fought sets before his steadiness prevailed over Chodos of Franklin and Marshall.

Saylor also won his singles match, while Grimm, Shenk, and Frey dropped their matches to conclude the singles at 3-3 in match score.

In the doubles Umberger and Shenk sent L. V. C. ahead by winning, but Frey and Grimm were submerged in straight sets to even the count which was settled by the final match of the afternoon between Saylor and Shapiro and Hildebrecht and Chodos.

The summary:

Singles

Umberger, L. V., defeated Slavin, F. & M., 6-2, 6-1.

Shapiro, L. V., defeated Chodos, F. & M., 6-4, 9-11, 7-5.

Hildebrecht, F. & M., defeated Shenk, L. V., 6-3, 6-2.

Saylor, L. V., defeated Wolosin, F. & M., 7-5, 2-6, 6-2.

Nosworthy, F. & M., defeated Grimm, L. V., 6-4, 7-5.

Williamson, F. & M., defeated Frey, L. V., 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Traditional Rivals Face L. V. Saturday

Saturday, May 7, following the May Day Pageant, Lebanon Valley's Blue and White tossers will act as hosts to their traditional rivals, the Albright College nine. Besides both teams being members of the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate League, the two schools carry on a traditional rivalry that is as old as the institutions themselves. With such a background, the prospective freshmen, alumni, and May Day visitors can hardly expect less than a hard-fought battle with neither side giving or asking a quarter. A victory on the diamond for either team would decide the sports supremacy of the two schools since Albright, led by Dick Riffle, captured the football honors, and Lebanon Valley, by virtue of their two stirring victories over the Lion basketballers on Hershey and Reading floors, even the matters by stealing the basketball crown. So with Saturday's game will be decided the contest for athletic honors between the rivals.

After their clean-cut 4 to 1 victory the Bucknell Bisons on Tuesday, the Metoxenmen, led by hard-hitting Captain Adolph Capka, will be out to keeping in the running for the league crown. The brilliant fielding and hard hitting which featured the Bison tilt seem to serve notice that the Blue and White baseballers have hit their stride.

Doubles

Umberger and Shenk, L. V., defeated Slavin and Nosworthy, F. & M., 6-4, 6-3.

Hildebrecht and Chodos, F. & M., defeated Shapiro and Saylor, L. V., 6-2, 4-6, 9-7.

Wolosin and Goldberg, F. & M., defeated Frey and Grimm, L. V., 6-2, 6-2.

Shenk Sole Winner In Bucknell Defeat

After dropping a very close match to Franklin and Marshall, Lebanon Valley's tennis team was completely outclassed by a smooth Bucknell outfit, which sported some of the best tennis talent seen on the Annville courts for several seasons.

The only redeeming feature at all in the entire match was the victory of Captain Eugene "Sheeny" Shenk over Nesbit of Bucknell in the number-three position. However, Saylor and Evelev, of L. V. C., gave stubborn opposition to their rivals and surrendered only after three set matches in which the outcome was doubtful to the last moment of play.

The summaries, Bucknell, 8, L. V. C., 1.

SINGLES

McCall, Bucknell, defeated Umberger, L. V., 6-3, 6-4.

Steele, Bucknell, defeated Shapiro, L. V., 6-1, 6-3.

Shenk, L. V., defeated Nesbit, Bucknell, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

Campo, Bucknell, defeated Evelev, L. V., 8-10, 6-3, 6-3.

Dunham, Bucknell, defeated Saylor, L. V., 6-3, 4-6, 6-2.

Gage, Bucknell, defeated Grimm, L. V., 6-4, 6-3.

DOUBLES

McCall and Steele, Bucknell, defeated Umberger and Shenk, L. V., 6-0, 2-6, 12-10.

Nesbit and Dunham, Bucknell, defeated Shapiro and Evelev, L. V., 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Campo and Gage, Bucknell, defeated Grimm and Saylor, L. V., 6-3, 6-2.

50 pipefuls of fragrant tobacco in every 2-oz. tin of Prince Albert

I COULD PAY MORE FOR MY TOBACCO, BUT I COULDN'T GET A Milder, Mellow Smoke THAN PRINCE ALBERT!

SMOKE 20 FRAGRANT PIPEFULS of Prince Albert. If you don't find it the mellowest, tastiest pipe tobacco you ever smoked, return the packet tin with the rest of the tobacco in it to us at any time within a month from this date, and we will refund full purchase price, plus postage. (Signed) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, North Carolina

Copyright, 1938, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

PRINCE ALBERT THE NATIONAL JOY SMOKE

L. V. C. Tossers Drop Bucknell In Home Start

Marshall Frey Pitches Dutchmen To First Win

The 1938 edition of Metoxenmen, in their first home appearance of the year, snared their first win in three starts by defeating Bucknell's drooping Bisons 4-3 on Tuesday afternoon. The team had previously dropped decisions to Dickinson and Gettysburg.

Backing up a decent pitching job by Marshall Frey, the Dutchmen regained their batting eyes and smashed out eight solid hits which, together with four Bucknell errors, proved enough to win. Frey was touched for eight bingles and was not around at the finish, Tony Rozman squelching a ninth inning flare-up by retiring Dill with the tying run on base.

Savidge, reedy right-hander who started for the visitors, was ineffective and was replaced by Bowman in the fourth inning after giving up three runs and four bases on balls. During his brief stay on the mound Savidge was reached for three runs. Bowman yielded one run in the fifth on Walk's single and Capka's freak triple, but thereafter held Chief's boys in check.

After a shaky start in which Frey gave up two singles with two down and then forced Buzas to hit into a force-out, the Dutchmen jumped on Savidge for a two-run sendoff. Seiverling, first up, slashed a double to right-center and took third on Kessler's error, scoring a moment later on Walk's fly. Kress walked and stole second, and after Billett fouled out to Kiick, crossed the pentagon on Capka's first of two hits, a screamer over second base. Capka died on an attempted steal.

In the third two Valleyites were stranded when Capka grounded out, but the fortunes of baseball dealt severely with Savidge a few moments later when he walked Kuhn, who promptly stole second and was admitted on Brown's single to left. Lennon walked, but with none out Frey grounded out and Brown was winged trying to score after Capka's foul to Buzas.

Frey retired the Bisons in order in the second and third innings, but ran into trouble in the fourth. Sager, after singling, went down stealing. Lane and Buzas then received free tickets to first, and on Quinn's grounder to Capka, Buzas was forced at second, Lane going to third. An attempted double steal fizzled when Billett intercepted Walk's throw and heaved it right back to snag Lane sliding in.

Again in the fifth Frey was saved from possible scoring only by heads-up fielding on the part of his infield. With none down Duffy walked and went to second on Kiick's single. Bowman struck out and Kiick was forced at second when Billett grabbed Kessler's grounder and stepped on the bag. With Duffy on third and Kessler on first Bucknell again gambled on a double steal with the result that Kessler was trapped between first and second and tagged out by Kuhn, Duffy being held on third by the flawless play of the Blue and White inner cordon.

In the home half of the same inning Valley ended its scoring for the day on Walk's single and Capka's triple, a well-hit ball which was squarely between the Bison center and right-fielders and consequently rolled almost to the press box. Capka was nabbed trying to stretch the hit to a home run. After that Bowman had no particular trouble, giving up two harmless singles to Billett and Kuhn in the eighth inning.

L. V. C. Potential All-Stars

WALTER FRIDINGER

GORDON DAVIES

Davies Receives Coaching Position

A recent announcement by the college has revealed that Gordon Davies, '38, has been elected to the faculty and coaching staff of the Asheville, N. C., High School for the 1938-1939 school year. Davies, who was captain of the 1937 eleven of the "Flying Dutchmen," will serve as line coach under Lee J. Stone, '33, who has recently been appointed athletic director. Besides his football duties, Davies will assume full charge of the baseball and boxing teams. He will teach history at the Asheville school.

The former Kingston High School luminary has played four years of varsity football and baseball, besides interclass basketball. Following the conclusion of the 1937 season he was picked on many all-star and all-opponent teams, being picked as the outstanding player to face Albright College, and by Bucknell University as guard on their all-opponent team. Davies has also served as president of the Men's Senate during the school year of 1937-1938.

Meanwhile Frey was broken through in the sixth for a run when, with one out, Sager hit a grounder which, although properly Billett's ball, was taken by Kuhn and thrown past Frey covering first base, Sager taking second on the error. He scored on Lane's single, but Buzas and Quinn obliged by flying to Seiverling and bouncing out, Frey to Kuhn, respectively.

The next two innings passed uneventfully, but then, with two gone in the first half of the ninth, the Bisons came to life and made a valiant attempt to pull the game out of the fire. Quinn flied out to Seiverling and Duffy popped to Capka, after which Kiick slammed a three-bagger into left field, followed a moment later by Bowman's three-pley swat in left-center. When Kessler singled, admitting Bowman with the second run of the stanza and placing the potential tying run on first, things looked dark. In the crisis Tony Rozman was called in and retired Dill on two pitches to save the bacon.

For the visitors, Sager, Lane, and Kiick had two hits each, with Bowman and Kessler getting one apiece. Capka, with a single and triple, was the only Dutchman garnering more than one hit. On the defensive side Dill and Buzas played faultless baseball for Bucknell, while Capka, Billett, and Walk sparked the Blue and White to a well-earned win.

Two L. V. Gridders Get All-Star Offer

A recent communication from Stan Baumgartner, sports writer for the Philadelphia Inquirer to the editor of LA VIE revealed the selection of Gordon Davies and Walter Fridinger as candidates for the positions of guard and quarterback, respectively, on the Eastern College All-Stars football eleven. This collegiate squad, which will be picked by the voting of sports fans throughout Eastern United States, will face Bert Bell's Philadelphia Eagles, member of the National Professional Football League, in a charity game to be played August 25, 1938. Temple Stadium will again be the scene of the annual event sponsored by the Philadelphia Inquirer Athletic Association.

The poll, which will be officially started by the Inquirer on May 17, will be conducted on a similar scale as last year with voting being done by clipping coupons from the Inquirer, by petition, by letter, by ballots printed in college papers or by post card. All ballots should be sent addressed to Stan Baumgartner, Inquirer Building, Philadelphia, Pa. To be eligible for the poll a player must have graduated from any college in Pennsylvania or any other institutions within a radius of 150 miles of Philadelphia.

The box score:

BUCKNELL
	ab	r	h	e	a	e
Kessler, rf	5	0	1	3	1	1
Dill, 2b	5	0	0	3	5	0
Sager, cf	4	1	2	1	1	0
Lane, lf	2	0	2	2	1	0
Buzas, 3b	3	0	0	2	3	0
Quinn, 1b	4	0	0	8	0	0
Duffy, ss	3	0	0	0	2	2
Kiick, c	4	1	2	5	2	1
Savidge, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
Bowman, p	3	1	1	0	0	0
	34	3	8	24	15	4

LEBANON VALLEY

	ab	r	h	e	a	e
Seiverling, cf	4	1	1	3	0	0
Walk, c	4	1	1	5	3	0
Kress, lf	3	1	0	0	0	0
Billett, 2b	3	0	1	4	2	0
Capka, 3b	4	0	2	3	2	0
Kuhn, 1b	2	1	1	8	0	1
Brown, rf	4	0	1	1	0	0
Lennon, ss	2	0	0	1	2	1
Frey, p	3	0	1	1	2	0
Rozman, p	0	0	0	1	0	0

	29	4	8	27	11	2
Bucknell	0	0	0	0	1	0
Leb. Valley	2	0	0	1	1	0

In last year's battle Lebanon Valley was represented by Arthur Heisch, wingman, who was honorary leader of the 1936 eleven. The game was captured by the pro-gridmen after a stubborn struggle by the collegians who were coached by Henie Miller, St. Joseph's College mentor, and Rae Crowther, former Harvard and present University of Pennsylvania line tutor.

Davies and Fridinger were both sparkling performers on the gridiron for the Blue and White throughout the four-year stay at Lebanon Valley. Both men were given by Paul B. Williamson, scientific football expert, honorary mention at the guard and quarterback posts on his Little All-American team. In addition to this nation-wide distinction, they were named on many all-opponent teams by the opposing players on rival college elevens faced last fall.

LA VIE COLLEGIENNE BALLOT THE PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER

Second Annual Eastern College All-Stars Players Poll
STAN BAUMGARTNER, Promotional Director.

As a football fan who is interested in the Eastern College All-Stars—Eagles Football Game, sponsored by the Philadelphia Inquirer to be held August 25, 1938, and as a friend and supporter of Lebanon Valley College, I wish to cast my vote for the following two men who are candidates for positions on the All-Stars eleven.

GORDON DAVIES, Lebanon Valley, Guard ☒

WALTER FRIDINGER, Lebanon Valley, Quarterback ☒

(NAME) _____

(STREET) _____

(TOWN) _____

Due to the fact the contest does not start officially until May 17, please cut out your ballots each week and send them to Howard N. Baier, Editor, LA VIE COLLEGIENNE, Annville, Pa.

ONE sure way to please your Mother on Mother's Day, is to send your greetings by telephone. The sound of your voice will bring her happiness and brighten the entire day. Make this Mother's Day an event she'll remember—by telephone.

RATES ON ALL CALLS OF 42 MILES OR MORE ARE REDUCED EVERY NIGHT AFTER 7 AND ALL DAY SUNDAY.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Seniors Receive Fellowship Grants In Biology Work

This year's graduating class will see some of its students continuing their work in graduate school by fellowship grants. Boyd Shaffer has received an assistantship at Princeton University and plans to work specifically on endocrinology. John Marbarger received a fellowship at Johns Hopkins and will continue in biological research at that school. Duey Unger of last year's class will travel to Albuquerque, New Mexico, where he has received an assistantship in the University of New Mexico. These grants have all been presented to students of biology.

The case of Mr. Shaffer is rather a unique one, for we learn from reliable sources that his work in endocrinology has been carefully outlined and supervised by Dr. Derickson even before he came to Lebanon Valley. Since two Lebanon Valley graduates are now working at Princeton, namely, Wm. Wenner and James Leatham, under the endocrinologist, Dr. Swingle, it seemed an excellent idea to secure an appointment for a student who was interested in this branch of biology. Shaffer was the valedictorian at John Harris High School and seemed to be entirely capable of carrying through such a plan successfully, which he has proved beyond a doubt.

Officers Elected For I. R. C. Club

At a recent meeting of the cabinet of the International Relations Club, the following members were elected to the cabinet: Sophomores, Carl Ehrhart, Doyle Sumner and William Scherfel. Freshmen, Jane Ehrhart, Gordon Streeter and Solomon Caulker.

Last Thursday members of the old and new cabinets met and elected the following for next year. The officers selected are: President, Jack Moller; vice president, Gordon Streeter; secretary, Jane Ehrhart. Plans were being made for the annual I. R. C. picnic, which will take place in the near future.

Ehrhart Reports Quittie Progress

(Continued from page 1)

Day, of the baseball and tennis season, and of the Philo-Clio and Kalo-Delphian plays.

The theme of the book will be more formal in character than informal. Much attention has been given to art work and arrangement with this to appear most noticeably in the division pages, the May Day feature, and the introductory section. The number and type of pictures included will be much the same as in the year-books for the past several years, although less stress will be placed on informal

Embryology Work To Be Exhibited On May Day

The biology department is planning an exhibition of the type of work done by students in that department, Saturday, May 7. Plans are under the direction of Dr. Derickson and Dr. Light and the west laboratory will be the scene of an embryological exhibit where the work of various students will be displayed, including drawings and slides prepared during the school term. Of special interest will be the series of slides mounted on microscopes to show the chronological development of a chick embryo from an early stage.

The east laboratory will contain several physiological experiments in progress, attended by students who are studying that course. An invitation is extended to new students and visitors on the campus to visit these exhibits whenever convenient. Dr. Derickson is planning to take motion pictures of the biologists in action at some later date to have a permanent record of the work as it is in progress.

snap-shots as plans now exist.

Robert Long, editor of the 1939 Quittie, stated that the completion of the year-book to appear later this month is largely a mechanical process. The book is being printed and bound by the McFarland Press of Harrisburg.

Men's Y Cabinet Plans For May Day

At a recent meeting of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet plans for the Annual May Day Fete were drawn up to their final form. The decorations for the occasion have been decided upon and will be created in collaboration with the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and Miss Henderson, who is in charge of May Day. As in previous years, the "Y" will sponsor a refreshment stand, this year in charge of Robert Clippinger. The selling of tickets will be in charge of Dr. Stokes, assisted by Earnest Weirick. Cooperation is asked on the part of the students in that they do not molest the decorations and boundaries after they have been erected in preparation for this gala event.

Umberger Elected Chemistry Head

(Continued from page 1)

Society. He is majoring in Chemistry, Physics and Mathematics, holding an assistantship in the Mathematics Department. He is also number one man on the varsity tennis team. He has been active in the club since its reorganization last September.

Moody moves up to his new post from the office of secretary-treasurer, which he held during the past year. Beittel is making his debut as an officer in the Chemistry group.

Phi Lambdas Name Smith President In Close Election

Frey New Vice-President For Opening Semester

At a very well attended election meeting held Tuesday noon in Philo Hall, Raymond Smith defeated Eugene Saylor for the position of Opening President of Philokosmian Literary Society for the coming school year. The current election was the most hotly contested one ever held in all of the seventy-one years of Philo's history as an outstanding society on the Lebanon Valley College campus.

Other officers elected were: Vice president, Raymond Frey; secretary, Daniel Seiverling; treasurer, Robert Dinsmore; chairman of the executive committee, Bill Bender; chaplain, Jack Ness; pianist, Harry Drendall; and sergeants at arms, Bernard Bentzel, Richard Bell and Bill McKnight.

ALUMNI NEWS

The spring edition of the Lebanon Valley Alumni News came off the press the last week in April. This bulletin, which is published quarterly, has been designed for the purpose of binding the alumni more closely together. It contains news of the alumni, and makes announcement of the plans for Alumni Day, to be held June 4.

More pleasure

Carefree
(Chesterfield Theme Song)

Tempo di Valse

Weekly Radio Features of the PLEASURE cigarette

GRACE MOORE
ANDRE KOSTELANETZ
PAUL WHITEMAN
DEEMS TAYLOR
PAUL DOUGLAS

Chesterfield
CIGARETTES
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Chesterfield and Andre Kostelanetz... they bring more pleasure to millions

...real pleasure...carefree pleasure!
You enjoy it in Chesterfield's refreshing mildness and better taste... that "extra something" that makes you stick to Chesterfields.

Chesterfields will give you MORE PLEASURE than any cigarette you ever smoked

Would You Mind...

La Vie Collegienne

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE

Vol. XV

ANNVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, MAY 12, 1938

No. 3

Going to the Prom?

"Pride-Prejudice" Wins Applause Of Play Audience

Kreamer, Zartman Star:
Theme, Setting, Cast Form Excellent Whole

by Dean M. Aungst

The Philokosmian Literary Society in conjunction with the Clonian Literary Society presented their annual dramatic offering last Friday night in the form of "Pride and Prejudice," Helen Jerome's dramatized version of Jane Austin's novel of the same name. A delightful theme in a colorful setting combined with a good cast made the evening entirely enjoyable to all those who were in attendance.

The inimitable Dot Kreamer, as she has done so many times before, completely stole the show. The one factor against a grand performance is a slightly high-pitched voice which detracted but little from her stage presence, feeling for lines, and fine sense of timing. Toward the end Miss Kreamer irritated us, and since she set out to do practically that it could easily be seen that she was doing her part, according to Hoyle.

Mary Zartman takes close second honors with a simply swell performance. Her low-pitched, smooth voice in addition to her dramatic ability gave us a feeling of fine stage talent. Bob Wert did a good job except for a lack of color and finesse.

Louise Stoner was delicately delightful with a certain wistfulness which charmed us all. We felt a lack of warmth, however, in the emotional scene. As for Jean Marbarger, we feel a dereliction of duty in giving such a talented Miss such a minor role. Small as her part was, her talent and technique were seen and appreciated.

(Continued on Page 3, Column 2)

GOING TO THE PROM?

Philo Attended By 80 Couples

Last Saturday evening the Philokosmian Literary Society celebrated its seventy-first anniversary with a dinner dance held in the spacious ball room of the Hotel Brunswick, Lancaster. The affair was by far the largest and most enjoyable in Philo history with more than eighty couples present at the festivities.

A delicious turkey dinner with all the "fixins" was served to the members of Philo and their guests promptly at seven P. M., special reservations having been made for Philos on the baseball team who arrived later. The ball room was arranged in cabaret style, making dancing between courses possible. This has come to be a custom at Philo dinner dances—a very well liked one.

The orchestra, Bruce Cobb and his Franklin and Marshall Collegians, was really "in the groove" according to all critical Philo swingsters. Heretofore unheard at any of the Lebanon Valley College campus social functions, it was composed of twelve

Continued on Page 3 Col. 1

Pride Of The Conservatory Of Music

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

which will present the annual concert under the direction of Prof. Edward P. Rutledge next Thursday in Engle Hall

Bartlett Named W. S. G. A. Head

Four Seniors, Two Juniors,
One Soph Comprise Board

In an election held in North Hall Wednesday afternoon Helen Bartlett was named president of Women's Student Government Association. She was chosen by the new members of the W. S. G. A. who were elected in a poll held in chapel Tuesday morning. The other officers elected were: Vice-president, Dorothy Yeakel; Treasurer, Arlene Hoffman and Secretary, Jeanne Schock.

The composition of next year's Women's Student Governing Association was determined by the present W. S. G. A. and its officers.

Eight members were chosen to administer the rules and act as arbiters of the conduct of women students. Senior members elected were: Helen Bartlett, Arlene Hoffman, Audrie Fox, and Dorothy Yeakel. Jeanne Schock and Barbara Bowman will represent next year's junior class, while Josephine Ernst was elected as a future sophomore. One day student representative, Mildred Haas, will also serve on the W. S. G. A.

GOING TO THE PROM?

Boost For Junior Promenade

by Helen Bartlett

Tomorrow night is the Prom, the Junior Prom, the dance of dances, a must on your social calendar. You had better plan to meet all your friends at the Hershey Park Ballroom on Friday, May 13. Don't let that date worry you. Remember — full moon.

The recently renovated ballroom set in the natural splendor of the park is the ideal setting for the crowning social event of the year. The Diplomats plus the popular singer Marty Horvath will furnish music, as you like it, for your dancing pleasure. Recently this same orchestra furnished the rhythm for the Susquehanna University Junior Prom, several fraternity dances at Penn State, and many

Symphony Concert To Be Presented

by George Yokum

Next week an annual event of no mean musical significance will be performed on our campus—the yearly symphony concert. Ever on the alert for material which will prove interesting to the average campus musical taste, Prof. Rutledge has selected a program which competes favorably with that of any professional symphony orchestra. In the event that important details such as time and place be overlooked, we hurriedly and forcibly say that the concert will be held Thursday evening, May 19th, at 8:00 p. m., D.S.T., in Engle Hall.

Considering the following facts, we feel that there will be a completely filled house:

First: The price is almost too little to mention, the sum total of admission being a mere 25c.

Second: The program is filled with material from the pens of Saint-Saens, Delibes, Bach, Kistler, Bizet, Coates, Smetana, and Schumann, who represent the superlatives in their particular fields.

Saint-Saens, the French maitre d'orchestration, is represented by the brilliant ballet music of the Baccha-

(Continued on Page 3, Column 4)

GOING TO THE PROM?

Large Crowd At May Day Pageant

Weather Very Favorable
Eight May Queens Attend

The annual May Day celebration, held in conjunction with the competitive scholarship examinations, and favored by sunny skies and a large audience, was observed here on Saturday, May 1. Graced by Miss Wanda Price, Queen of the May, and marked by the presence of eight of the last ten Queens, the affair was a success both economically and esthetically.

The program, which was originated and developed by members of the Junior Class of Conservatory of Music with the aid and supervision of Miss Esther Henderson and Chief Emerson Metoxen, was based on the twelve months of the year, and was cleverly arranged and presented. The various numbers were, as usual, given excellent musical settings by the college band.

Decorating was again handled by Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. cabinet members along the same lines as in previous years. These bodies also maintained a refreshment stand.

The procession as it entered includ-

(Continued on Page 3, Column 1)

GOING TO THE PROM?

Red Gate Players Here Next Week

The Red Gate Players of New York and Peiping, a group of Chinese actors, are scheduled to appear on the stage of Engle Hall on Monday, May 16, at 8:30 P. M. Highlights of Chinese Theatre arts will be presented with the main attraction being the "Devil Dance" by King Lan Chew. King Lan Chew appeared in the moving picture, Good Earth, in this same dance. In addition to this, there will be Chinese music and shadow plays.

The play is to be given for the benefit of the Chinese Red Cross under the auspices of the English department of Lebanon Valley. King Lan

(Continued on Page 3, Column 3)

Annual Elections Held By Senate Show Interest

Reserving Of Back Walk
Voted Upon By Students; Offers Elected Soon

Balloting for the election of members of the Men's Senate, the men's student governing body, took place in the "Y" room of the Men's Dorm yesterday afternoon between the hours of 11:15 and 3:00. The election was arranged for and run off by the present senior members of the Senate who acted as registrars and general judges of election.

This year's election held a peculiar interest in the minds of the student body by virtue of the part played by the Senate in settling problems arising on the campus rather lately. The importance of the Senate in enforcing the rules of student conduct among the men is once more being asserted, and the part to be played by next year's governing body was a leading consideration in the selection of members.

At the same time the opinion of the student body was canvassed in regards to restricting the use of the walk behind the men's Dorm to juniors and seniors, and making underclassmen go about by the northern route.

The newly-elected senators were chosen from a list of thirty-three nominees, who were selected by the Senate and passed on by the faculty. The day student representation consists of one member from each class, making three in all. As it now stands the Senate consists of 14 men, with the members to be brought to 15 next fall when the freshmen elect one non-voting member. The first thing on the program will be the election of a president and other officers, a thing to be done in the not-far-distant future.

(Continued on Page 3, Column 5)

GOING TO THE PROM?

W. A. A. Banquet Held On Monday

Miss Anne Hodgkins, chairman of the Women's Division of the National Amateur Athletic Association, was the guest speaker at the annual spring banquet of the W. A. A. held Monday evening in North Hall. The fifteenth anniversary of the Women's Division of the N. A. A. F. was commemorated by a large birthday cake made especially for the occasion.

Following the dinner an address of welcome was given by Dr. Clyde A. Lynch. Guests from Shippensburg and Dickinson were introduced, the new cabinet was installed, and chevron-star letter awards were made to Ernestine Jagnesak and Dorothy Kreamer; chevron letter awards to Jean Houck, Gail Spangler and Cora Graby; and letter awards to Catherine Mills, Agnes Morris, Carolyn Roberts, Barbara Sloane, Ethel Wilt, Bunny Zamojski, Alice Richie, Helen Bartlett, Lucie Cook, Anna Evans, Evelyn Miller, Louise Saylor, Mildred Haas, Esther Wise, Lucille Oller, and Patty Hawthorne.

(Continued on Page 5, Column 3)

LA VIE COLLEGIENNE

ESTABLISHED 1925

Published every Thursday throughout the college year except holiday vacations and examination week by the students of Lebanon Valley College, Annville, Pennsylvania.

Subscription price: $1.00 per year. Five cents per single copy. Entered as second class matter at the Annville, Pa., post office under the Act of March 3, 1879.

1937 Member 1938
Associated Collegiate Press

HOWARD N. BAIER.....Editor
Carl Y. Ehrhart.....Associate Editor
Stewart Shapiro.....Sports Editor
Robert Tschop.....Feature Editor
RAYMOND SMITH.....Business Manager
Warren Sechrist, Circulation Manager
Clarence Lehman, Managing Editor
Amy Meinhardt, Ben Goodman, Robert Long, George Yokum, Jane Ehrhart, Lillian Leisey, John Ness, Mary Touchstone, Frances Prutzman, Louella Schindel, Ferne Poet, Charles Beittel, Betty Anne Rutherford, David Lenker, John Moller, Richard Bell, Nathan Kantor.

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

chronic complainers

From September to June of every school year the complaints of a certain group of students are heard loud and long. This group of students is the men's day student body. Every day they moan about their cramped quarters in the day student room. They wail about the fact that they're left out of all school activities, social and otherwise. They complain about their representation in student government, about their being ignored at the Christmas banquet. Yes, they kick about everything that isn't quite suitable or convenient to them, but they never consider the feelings of the other students or persons connected with the school. If these students will kindly remember that somewhere back in their childhood they learned something about some sort of a standard which was supposed to be their guide in moral and ethical conduct with fellow men. This standard, which most of the persons concerned in this matter, seem to have forgotten, if they ever learned it, is the Golden Rule. So it may be well, day students, to stretch this criterion a point or two and apply it to your conduct here at school. You can hardly expect to have anyone do favors for you if your conduct and actions do not merit them. Of course, you never act any other way but like gentlemen. You are doubtless being unjustly attacked by this ruthless article. In case any of you are of this mind, let your memory be refreshed on certain of your latest episodes.

Last Thursday morning, to be exact between the hours of 10:15 and 11:15 o'clock, there were many and loud noises issuing forth from the confines of your abode. Odious noises they were, rather distracting, too; if it can be recalled correctly, it sounded somewhat like several local hill-billies going to town on some music (?) of questionable quality. No doubt you forgot that there happened to be a class in session in room above you. That class was the Organic Chemistry class, and if you recall correctly, Organic Chemistry is supposed to be the stiffest college course. Can't you just imagine how much they appreciated your serenade while trying to get something out of their lecture.

So to you chronic complainers, the best we can say is, look to your own conduct before you can expect any attention from anyone else.

It is always a safe policy to extract the most from your own eye before probing in your brothers.

credit for activities

Extra-curricular activities are generally looked upon by educators everywhere as a necessity to a well-rounded education, to the development of the whole man, and rightfully so. Experience is gained in the pursuit of these activities which is not to be obtained in any class-room or laboratory. Although the advice of not letting your studies interfere with your college education appears to be a bit too strong for practical purposes, yet, it contains a certain element of truth, and this grain of wisdom, as has been stated, is generally recognized by educational heads. Precisely, it is believed that such activities not included in the prescribed course of study rightfully belong as a part of the student's development.

And yet, mental assent on the part of educational heads, college presidents and professors, to the value of such activities will not do any student a particle of good so long as the matter of participation is left to the individual student. Basic courses in English and Bible are required of students of Lebanon Valley College for graduation, apparently to make sure that the individual student does not concentrate his activities in one field to the exclusion of others of equal importance. Even in the elective courses a definite number of hours must be accumulated. Yet, in the eyes of the faculty and administration, extra-curricular activities apparently are not deemed of enough importance to merit their existence except for perfunctory recognition, despite the general agreement on their importance in well-rounded development.

Then it is not even enough to deplore the situation, wring one's hands and quote for the press, "Something ought to be done." Too many men have said that in the past, but few have gone the second mile and actually have done something. A cause of action on the part of the faculty to definitely recognize and regulate extra-curricular activities on Lebanon Valley's campus is not only a definite advantage, but a necessity, that is, if the college is to retain its function as a liberal arts college and also keep abreast of the times.

A detailed plan or system is not to be suggested at this time or place. That is left to the faculty or faculty committee. But ample precedent has sprung up, both confined to individual colleges and on a national scale. The outline of the plan to be put into effect in September at Dickinson College has already appeared in the columns of LA VIE COLLEGIENNE. Modifications or differences can be made or set up at will as will fit local conditions.

In addition to regulation of activities outside of studies, some recognition of outstanding individual participation in these activities should be made. In a way, this might be a less painful and less difficult way to encourage greater participation than strict regulation. Many students are unwilling to cooperate in any task that seems thankless or in which they see no material gain. Although this attitude might not be one of "art for art's sake," nevertheless, it exists and should be met on its own grounds.

Finally, lest there be cries of regimentation and interference with personal liberty, it may be said that such a plan as proposed would no more be regimentation than arousing somebody from a coma in which he is definitely degenerating into uselessness. It is the duty of the liberal arts college to develop a well-shaped and rounded individual with a broad outlook on life, and as a step towards such an end faculty regulation of extra-curricular activities is a necessity.

STUFF 'N THINGS

by Nares

Back for another week, and are we surprised!! It seems we can't think of any cracks mean enough to be taken to task for. However, somebody must like it, because we have heard from several people about the juggling note.

Ole Jupe Pluvius, or whoever controls the waterworks, is a bit peeved at having been unable to spoil May Day, and is taking his spite out on us now. This cool, damp weather is meeting with general disapproval.

Poser: Are Barney Bentzel and Marian really as near to middle-aisling it as that ring would seem to indicate or are they engaging in a gigantic hoax? While they do act this-a and that-a-way about each other, we, personally, are inclined to believe that the little Bentzel boy is only trying to fool some of the campus pranksters.

At the risk of encroaching upon a fellow-journalist's domain we are venturing into the field of dramatics to throw a bouquet in the general direction of the Philo-Clio play cast. We think Clio definitely stole the show, especially with several experienced actresses cutting up Thespian capers, but we mention no names for fear of slighting any one.

Which reminds us that we have no comment on the ill-advised remark made by said fellow-journalist in last week's stage column which drew down upon his head the contumely of the lady in question. That incident that occurred in a history class the other day might or might not be a consequence. Probably now we're both in the soup. Again, no names to mention.

We are told that Mr. Peffley exhausted the waffle larder at the "Y" banquet Tuesday night and almost finished off the organization's treasury. Mr. Peffley, you know, is the one who is becoming increasingly popular via the "daisy" anecdote and several other little stories.

Due to a diversity of opinion on the campus regarding the subject, we shall confine ourselves to congratulating the newly elected members of the student governing bodies, and shall say nothing of a moral nature.

We are told the W. A. A. did themselves proud the other night, and glad we are to hear it, too. When athletes get together for a feed they generally don't fool around. However, they really are doing a grand job, and deserve all of our approbation.

Members of the junior class are all het up about the prom on Friday night, so by way of a boost you are hereby officially urged to be among those present. They promise us an enjoyable evening. The event is sufficiently popular to preclude any further statement.

Bert Gingrich, the college cut-up, has mastered the intricacies of his pride and joy and is busily engaged in keeping the campus safe for democracy (a Republican can't hide in short grass.) Rumor has it that Bert will next take up remote control and run the thing from a comfortable seat in the heating plant.

Lest we forget—while discussing the waffle situation awhile ago we almost omitted mentioning Mr. Bulota's doings at Shartlesville in the course of the Eclectic Club dinner on Monday night. Sufficeth it to say that Stanley left the place slightly heavier than he had arrived.

For the cutest costume and all-

What They Say

QUESTION—What do you think of college girls smoking in public places?

Raymond Hess, Freshman—A woman, to my mind, disgraces herself by smoking in public.

Paul Ulrich, Senior—I don't think it's such a good idea.

Mary Elizabeth Spangler, Freshman—It shouldn't be allowed.

Esther Wise, Sophomore—Well, personally, I do not like it.

Dr. Richie, Professor of Bible and Greek—I don't think that girls should smoke at all. There are numerous reasons—chiefly physical and moral.

Jack Moller, Sophomore—It just depends what is meant by the term "public." I don't like to see girls smoking along the street, but I don't especially object to their smoking in restaurants and the like if they want to.

Louella Schindel, Freshman—It's positively O. K.

Doyle Sumner, Sophomore—I never met anything quite like it until I came to this country.

The opinion of many, as exemplified by a Junior who wished to remain unquoted, "I'd rather not answer, because I'd be tramping on too many toes."

around appearance in the May Day performance we respectfully submit that of Tonkie Struble. The young gentleman looked every inch of the part and polished off the job by carrying out his action in an appealing manner.

It has long been an accepted fact that conduct in the dining hall sometimes exceeds the bounds of common sense. A case in point was seen the other day when a burly sophomore from New York City amused himself by showering Jockey Zerbe's head, shoulders and plate with flower petals. He should have topped off his fun with a good loud bray.

Acknowledgment

Miss Esther Henderson, director of women's athletics, wishes to take this opportunity and form of thanking Chef Eddie Loose and the members of the kitchen force for the fine meal served at the W. A. A. banquet on Monday evening.

Co-eds Reveal Opinion To Susquehanna Frosh

Last Monday night, a freshman from Susquehanna University paid a visit to Lebanon Valley College. He was sent here by some of his fraternity brothers-to-be for the purpose of gathering certain statistics about the opinions of various students on the Lebanon Valley campus on certain matters, namely, the athletic program at Susquehanna and the girls' opinion on "Dutch Treat."

The opinions of the girls on "Dutch Treat" were obtained from this unsuspecting freshman by members of news staff by questionable methods in order to present to readers of LA VIE the true opinions of Lebanon Valley co-eds on this vital matter. The names and opinions expressed are as follows:

Josephine Ernst—I'm willing to go Dutch Treat sometimes, at any rate. Most fellows, however, seem to consider it their duty to pay the bill, so of course that's O. K. too.

Edna Rutherford—It's O. K. sometimes. After all, I think it costs an awful lot to take a girl out every night.

Esther Wise—Why ask me? I wouldn't know.

Anna May Lind—O. K., it comes in handy at certain times.

Rebecca Parks—If the fellow is broke and you want to go out bad enough—O. K.

Ellen Ruppertsberger—If you go with a boy especially on a campus and see him about every night, of course Dutch Treats are all right.

Ferne Poet—It's a grand idea. I'm sure the boy friend would appreciate it once in a while.

Katherine Zwally—If you're in love with the fellow, it's all right.

Ethel Fisher—I think it's O. K. if the boy has taken the girl places and if he is temporarily broke.

Margaret Bordwell—Well, after all, if we girls want to go a lot of places, we can't expect the fellows to pay for everything all the time.

Lucie Cook—When your boy friend is out of a job temporarily, of course, it's the best way I know of to get places.

EAST LANSING, MICH. — Next fall's Michigan State College freshmen will arrive on the campus all ready oriented to the early part of college life—at least they will be if they listen to a new series of radio programs the college is sponsoring.

Son Of Professor Wins Literary Prize

Tony Wallace, a freshman in Annville High School and son of Dr. and Mrs. P. A. W. Wallace, recently won second prize of $25 for a short story in a contest sponsored by the Scholastic, a magazine for high school pupils. The story, Bombs Over Madrid, takes a loyalist attitude towards the war in Spain.

Tony journeyed to New York City in the beginning of last week to receive his award, being entertained during his stay by the younger son of Genevieve Taggart. He took part in a radio program and met Alfred Kreyenbarg, a contemporary poet.

Large Crowd At May Day Pageant

(Continued from page 1)

ed the Queen and her court, the past Queens, heralds, the various class presidents, Father Time and the Baby New Year, and the May Pole dancers. Except for a mishap to the calendar which was to be manipulated by Father Time, the program proceeded smoothly. The audience from time to time expressed their appreciation and approval of the colorful scene before them.

The audience was variously estimated at from 800 to 1000 persons. Included in this number were approximately 75 sub-freshmen, some with their parents, who had taken the competitive scholarship examinations in the morning. These people visited on the campus for varying lengths of time.

Many alumni and friends of the college were also present to view the festivities, among them Mrs. Frances Long Shroyer who, taking part in the event as 1928 May Queen, saw her little son David act as train bearer. Johnnie Starr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Starr of Annville, was the other train bearer. By a curious coincidence, Mrs. Starr is also a former May Queen.

Credit for the affair, acknowledged to be up to or above previous standards, goes largely to Miss Henderson, Mr. Metoxen, the students who directed the various numbers, and the several committees.

Student Recital Tonight At 8:00

Rose Softly Blooming	Spohr
Nur Wer Die Sehnsucht Kennt	Tschaikowsky
Mildred Gangwer, Soprano
Sarabande	Bach-Heifetz
Mazurka	Mlynarski
John Zettlemoyer, Violin
Elegie	Massenet
Ouvre tes Yeux Bleus	Massenet
Depuis le Jour	Charpentier
Helen Butterwick, Soprano
Scherzo, Op. 31	Chopin
Mazurka, Op. 7 No. 4	Chopin
Concert Etude	MacDowell
Adele Kadel, Piano
Elsa's Traum (Lohengrin)	Wagner
Mildred Gangwer
Prelude and Fugue in A Minor	Bach
Robert Clippinger, Organ

Philo Attended By 80 Couples

(Continued from page 1)

musicians, a girl vocalist, and a master of ceremonies. It was without a doubt a versatile band, catering to the tastes of everyone, and featuring the evening's dancing with a big "Big Apple." were: Prof. and Mrs. Wagner, Prof. and Mrs. Black, and Prof. and Mrs. Carmean.

"Pride-Prejudice" Wins Applause Of Play Audience

(Continued from page 1)

Here's for bigger parts for Miss Marbarger.

Janet Whitesell, a newcomer to L. V.'s boards, was a bit ineffectual, due probably to lack of experience. With good coaching she may develop. Her voice was not loud enough but her actions were good.

For the extreme comedy of the vehicle, Marlin Espenshade receives the angel's food cake with rosettes. A fine performance with nothing left undone was given us by this young man also a new-comer to L. V.'s stage. Mr. Espenshade's voice was pitched properly, but his inflections were not quite what they might have been. Let it suffice to say—a juicy part, juicily done.

Cliff Barnhart, except for a few spots, dud (not a misprint) a poor job. With a part waiting for somebody to sink his teeth into it, Mr. Barnhart completely missed the boat. Shall we say he lacked that certain umph? We realize, however, that Cliff stepped into the role quite awhile after rehearsals had begun. Your writer fears Cliff to be too emotionally stable to be an effective actor.

Louise Saylor was good as the adolescent daughter. Betty Bender's fine performance in such a small part was a bit smudged by an attempt at an English accent which turned into a "below-the-Mason-Dixon-line" drawl. Brave for the attempt, Betty. She played the part well except for the above. Lucie Cook did a surprisingly good bit as an Irish maid. Her brogue was fine.

Bill Bender was perhaps a little too honeyed-around-the-edges but he did a fine job as the young-lad-in-love. Our dear audience, as usual, guffawed at his warm moment with Miss Stoner. On the whole, however, the L. V. C. playgoers were pretty good.

Bud Jordan, looking quite the man in the uniform except for those 1890 pool-room pants, did his bit nicely except that I fear he tried too hard. By the by, keep your eye on Floda Trout. Yours truly feels she has something to give to the art—once it is developed. The minor parts were well done.

The settings were nicely done, thanks to Paul Horn and company. The second setting was fine except for a lack of doorknobs; but one can't have everything.

The make-up was good except for a poor job on Dot Kreamer. The men's sideburns were definitely great except for a slightly darker coloring than the rest of the hair surrounding the gentlemen's pates. A free pass to next year's performance to the Zettlemoyer trio which played some fine selections which could be heard slightly above the clamor of tapping feet, rattling programs, and the latest home-town gossip.

It is now in order to say that Dr. George Struble again does it by skillfully directing this group in their presentation. A hearty hand-shake to you, sir, for so ably helping and directing the participants.

Notice

Concert-goers are requested to note the change this year in the date of the annual Commencement recital to Thursday, June 2. Heretofore, it has been customary to hold this recital on a Friday night, but due to the positions held by various members of the Conservatory, which require their time on that evening, it has been necessary to make the change. Please see that this information reaches any persons you know who are accustomed to attend the Commencement recital.

Senior Conserve Artist

Rita Mosher who will play piano in symphony concert

Princeton Faculty Absorbs Metzger

Bruce Metzger, of the class of 1935 has just been appointed Assistant Professor of Greek at Princeton Seminary. Mr. Metzger will complete his present work at the Seminary this June and will teach New Testament Greek while preparing for his degree of Master of Theology. Due to his outstanding scholastic work he has won several prizes and awards while at Princeton.

Mr. Metzger is the brother of Edith Metzger, a member of the Junior Class. While attending Lebanon Valley College he majored in Greek.

Red Gate Players Here Next Week

(Continued from Page 1)

Chew will be mistress of ceremonies.

Program:

Shadow play in one scene called: "The Temple of the Golden Mountain." There will be five characters.

Next Miss King Lan Chew will give a Chinese theatrical piece. Following that she will do an interpretive dance, "The Shadow Boxer." After an intermission another shadow play with five scenes, "The Cowherd and the Weaving Maid," will be presented. Another brief intermission will precede a group of musical numbers demonstrating various Chinese instruments to be presented by Miss King Lan Chew and Mr. Russell another member of the party. "The Burning of the Bamboo Grove" is a two scene shadow play which is next on the program. There will be a dance, "A Chinese Scroll," by King Lan Chew, then a 2,000 year old traditional dance, Sheung Gin in Chinese and the "Sword Dance" in English, which Miss King Lan Chew performed in the moving picture, "The Good Earth."

The Red Gate Players have toured the United States during the past year. They are an outstanding group and their admission prices are usually much higher with the minimum elsewhere being one dollar. Lebanon Valley College is fortunate to be able to have them at these reduced rates.

GOING TO THE PROM?

Symphony Concert To Be Presented

(Continued from page 1)

nale from "Samson and Delilah." This opera was first produced at Weimar under Lizst in 1877, and immediately became the most popular of Saint-Saens' works.

Kistler, not so well known in America as some of the other composers whose music will be performed next Thursday night, has written a number of works for the operatic stage. Among them we find his "Kunihild" from which is taken the "Prelude to Act Three." This opera is very popular in Germany largely owing to its Wagnerian construction and numerous leit-motifs. The present "Prelude" is an orchestral number of serious and sombre character, embodying a prayer-like theme of great beauty and nobility.

More ballet music from Leo Delibes will be heard in the orchestra's presentation of the "March and Procession of Bacchus" from the ballet "Sylvia." His first great success after a return to the French operatic stage. This grand mythological ballet confirmed Delibes' superiority in dance music.

Nothing needs to be added by the way of notes on the descriptive gem which Bach prepared for the delight of his friends. The "Arioso" means literally "airy," and would require, in partaking both the character of the air and the recitative, rather to be said than sung.

Approximately a month ago, we heard the chorus sing the "Toreador Song" from Bizet's "Carmen." Again we will hear this excerpt from the same opera, but this time it will be an orchestral arrangement. "Carmen" was produced in 1875 at the Opera-Comique to become a gradual success, and finally a favorite of opera-goers. Its enthusiasm is typically wild and animalistic.

Little of Coates' composition has been presented to the public, but his "Four Old English Dances" are favorites with the symphony musicians. There is a lilt and light touch which reminds one of the soft green down for which England is noted. These dances are descriptively named, in

Alumni Notes

Raymond Koch, '28, has been elected Superintendent of Schools at Yeadon, Delaware County, Pennsylvania.

::—::

C. W. Waughtel, '11, is engaged in horticultural experimental work in Homeland, Georgia. He recently published a booklet, "The Sweet Potato," which is used extensively by southern growers. His experimental work with southern fruits has attracted the attention of a number of Agricultural Institutions throughout the south.

::—::

Woodrow S. Dellinger, '33, has recently been named Chief Resident Physician at the York Hospital, York, Pennsylvania. Dellinger graduated from Jefferson Medical College in 1937, and served his internship at the York Hospital.

::—::

Earl E. Hoover, '34, has been appointed to an Assistant Professorship in the University of New Hampshire which position he will hold in conjunction with his present position as Biologist in the Fish and Game Department of the State of New Hampshire. He will conduct a course in the summer in Fish and Game Management in the Field and in the winter a Problems Course open only to graduate students in Problems of Conservation Research.

::—::

Lee J. Stone, '33, of Trenton, N. J. has been elected athletic director and head football coach at Asheville, N. C. High School. Stone played tackle and fullback on the "Flying Dutchmen" elevens of 1929-1932. Following graduate work at Columbia University he played professional football with the Stapleton Indians. In 1935 he assisted Gene Gorbee, head football coach at Appalachian State Teachers College, Boone, N. C., and in 1936 served as assistant coach at Trenton State Teachers College. He joined the staff of Asheville High School in 1937 as assistant football coach and head baseball coach.

::—::

Landis R. Klinger, '13, is serving as Principal of the Northeast Junior High School, Reading, Pennsylvania. The school, according to a recent announcement, is recognized as one of the leading Junior high schools in the United States.

Annual Elections Held By Senate Show Interest

(Continued from page 1)

The newly elected Senators are as follows: Seniors, Robert Brown, Clarence Lehman, Joseph Thomas and Roy Weidman; Juniors, Jack Moller, Coda Sponaugle, Christ Walk, Daniel Seivertling, and Richard Moody; Sophomores, Harry Drendall, Frank Kuhn and Raymond Hess.

At the same time it was decided that the walk behind the men's dorm would be reserved for use of the juniors and seniors.

order: I. The Maypole Dance; II. Golden Wedding, or The Dance of the Old Couple; III. Youths and Maidens; IV. The Wedding Dance.

In the Conservatory there is a talented young lady who plays the piano with an unusually clear and concise style. This year she will play a work that Clara Schumann played for the first time some ninety-three years ago in Dresden. It is Robert Schumann's famous concerto in A Minor for Pianoforte and Orchestra, Op. 54, which Rita Mosher and the Symphony will collaborate in giving next Thursday evening to finish the program.

Tossers Win One, Loses Two Over Week End

Tossers Dropped By Moravians In Shutout Tilt

Frey, Rozman Slugged As Rivals Outplay L. V. To Grab Tenth Straight

Pounding the offerings of Marshall Frey and Tony Rozman for eleven hits Moravian College's fast stepping baseball team chalked up their ninth straight victory by shutting out Lebanon Valley College's "Flying Dutchmen" 8-0 in a windswept game played at Bethlehem yesterday.

In addition the fact that the Metoxen coached clan joined the class of the "hitless wonders" they played spotty ball afield at times and according to official scoring records only one of the home team's 8 runs came under the "earned run" heading.

M. Frey had trouble finding the plate and walked Frey, Moravian second-sacker, the first man up in the first. On an attempted steal Walk tossed the oval into center field and Frey took third. C. Brown drew a base on balls and on an attempted double steal Walk again hurled the ball into the outer garden and Frey scored, Brown taking third. Weiss singled to right field scoring Brown. the remainder of the side was retired in order.

In the fourth frame Moravian again scored three unearned runs. Brandafi walked and Haney singled to left sending Brandafi to third. Male hit to Lennon and Brandafi was trapped between home and third. Stelter hit to Capka and Haney was tossed out as he attempted to score. With runners on second and third Frey hit to Lennon at short and the ball got away from him and both runners scored. Brown hit to deep left scoring Frey.

Fritchman got to Tony Rozman's fast one in the fifth and poled out a home run to deep center field. With two out in the seventh, the home team added two more tallies. Fritchman hit what should have been an easy out to right field. Brandafi drew a base on balls. Haney, a right hand batter, lashed a screaming triple down the right field foul line and both runners scored.

Lebanon Valley managed to get to "Elmer" Stelter for five safeties including doubles by Seiverling and Kress but the inability to hit in the pinches left seven men stranded on the base paths. The "Flying Dutchmen" meet Bucknell in a return engagement at Lewisburg Friday and return home Saturday for a league encounter with Juniata College.

LEBANON VALLEY

	Ab.	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.
Seiverling, cf.	4	0	2	2	0	0
Capka, 3b.	2	0	0	2	1	0
Davies, rf.	4	0	0	3	0	0
Walk, c.	4	0	0	3	5	2
Billett, 2b.	4	0	0	6	1	0
Kress, lf.	4	0	2	1	1	0
Kuhn, 1b.	3	0	0	6	0	0
Lennon, ss.	2	0	0	1	5	1
Frey, p.	2	0	1	0	1	0
Katchmer, p.	1	0	0	0	0	0
Rozman, p.	1	0	0	0	0	0
a Brown	1	0	0	0	0	0

Totals 32 0 5 21 13 3
a—Batted for Lennon in the eighth.

MORAVIAN

	Ab.	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.
Frey, 2b.	3	2	0	3	2	0
C. Brown, 1b.	4	1	1	9	1	0
Weiss, cf.	4	0	2	2	0	0
Dickinson, rf.	4	0	1	1	0	0

Netmen Lose Match To Albright, 5-4

Albright, traditional rivals of Lebanon Valley, eked out a 5-4 decision in Saturday morning's tennis match before a May Day crowd at Annville. The match was decided when Saylor and Weagley, of the Blue and White dropped their doubles match in number three position. But it was the Lion superiority in singles which spelled defeat to the Annville lads as four of the six singles matches were won by Albright.

Umberger again showed the boys how it's done when he easily polished off Tom Albert in straight sets. Rog Saylor, ex-sports scribe turned in a gratifying victory in his singles in number five position as his net game overcame the chop stroke of his Lion adversary.

In doubles, however, Lebanon Valley held the upper hand winning two out of three matches. Shenk and Umberger the top-seeded outfit for the Blue and White won in straight sets as did the second doubles team of Shapiro and Evelev.

Summaries of L. V. C.-Albright match:—

SINGLES

1. Umberger, L. V. C., defeated Albert, Albright, 6-3, 6-2.
2. Shapiro, L. V. C., lost to Carpousis, Albright, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3.
3. Shenk, L. V. C., lost to Raffensberger, Albright,
4. Evelev, L. V. C., lost to Mark, Albright, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.
5. Saylor, L. V. C., defeated Campbell, Albright, 9-7, 2-6, 6-3.
6. Grimm, L. V. C., lost to Burger, Albright, 6-2, 6-1.

DOUBLES

1. Umberger and Shenk, L. V. C. beat Albert and Carpousis, Albright, 6-1, 8-6.
2. Shapiro and Evelev, L. V. C., beat Mark and Raffensberger, Albright, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.
3. Saylor and Weagley, L. V. C. lost to Burger and Reed, Albright, 6-3, 6-4.

Fritchman, c.	4	2	2	6	0	0
Brandafi, lf.	2	1	1	1	0	0
Haney, ss.	4	0	2	3	2	0
Male, 3b.	4	1	2	2	0	1
Stelter, p.	3	1	0	0	5	0

Totals 32 8 11 27 10 1
L. V. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0
Moravian 2 0 0 3 1 0 2 0 x—8

Two-base hits: Seiverling, Kress. Three-base hits: Haney. Home runs: Fritchman. Left on bases: L. V. C., 7; Moravian, 6. Double plays: Brown to Frey to Brown; Capka to Billett to Kuhn. Hit by pitcher: By Stelter (Kuhn), (Capka). Base on balls: Off Frey, 4; off Katchmer, 1; off Rozman 1; off Stelter, 2. Struck out: By Frey, 0; by Rozman, 1; by Katchmer, 1; by Stelter, 7. Hits: Off Frey 4 in 4 innings; off Rozman, 7 in 3 innings. off Katchmer, 0 in 1 inning. Umpires: Ritter and Briody.

Connecticut State College co-eds successfully protested the imposing of five cent fines for holes made in walls of their dormitory rooms.

D. L. SAYLOR & SONS

Contractors

Lumber and Coal

ANNVILLE, PENNA.

Albright Sunk On May Day By 7-3 Count

L. V. Collects 14 Hits In Batters Field Day; Errors Prevent Shutout

Frank Kuhn's brilliant twirling, and Lebanon Valley's spectacular hitting produced an amazing and pleasing sight to the old-timers on May Day. Freshman Kuhn gave up only two hits and should have had a shutout, but some faulty fielding on the part of the homesters spoiled his chances. However, the lads made up for their miscues by punching out the unbelievable total of fourteen hits. Smoot, who perhaps would have done better pitching hay on a farm, was a "cousin" to the Valleyites who found his offerings to their liking.

Albright dusted the platter first in their half of the second. Their lead was short-lived when in the last half of the fourth Lennon lashed out a mighty homer scoring Kress, who had singled just before. In the seventh, the Lions scored again, on Kress' error on a misjudged fly. In their half of the seventh the Dutchmen really began to fly as they knocked across three runs. Lennon, Rozman, Seiverling, and Capka each pounded out singles. Walk lifted a long fly to drive in the third run. In the eighth, two more runs were added to the list when Rozman slammed out a homer to score Kress who was perched on base, the result of a single.

Smoot's offerings met with the approval of all, especially Kress and Davies, who poled out three hits apiece. It was L. V. C.'s best display of hitting this year. Those fourteen hits are five less than the total hits of the other four games. Maybe the boys are finding their batting eyes.

The box score:

ALBRIGHT

	ab	r	h	o	a	e
Bonner, 3b	5	0	0	1	2	1
Muller, rf	4	0	1	1	2	0
Comba, lf	3	1	0	4	0	0
Riffle, cf	3	1	0	1	0	0
Weilgolinski, c	2	0	0	4	1	0
Smoot, p	4	1	1	0	1	0
Halbfoster, 2b	4	0	0	2	2	0
Warnigaris, 1b	4	0	0	9	0	0
De Lorenzo, ss	3	0	0	2	4	0
Totals	32	3	2	24	12	1

L. V. C.

	ab	r	h	o	a	e
Seiverling, cf	4	1	1	4	0	0
Capka, 3b	5	1	1	0	0	0
Davies, rf	4	0	3	0	0	0

Dickinson's Devils Defeated Decisively

Lebanon Valley's up-and-coming net squad shellacked the Red Devils of Dickinson College on Tues., May 10 at Annville by the score of 6 to 3.

The Blue and White showed their colors and triumphed in the majority of both the singles and doubles matches. Again "Buddie" Umberger set the pace as he vanquished "Mike" Czajkowski, a fellow townsman from Mt. Gretna, Pa., in straight sets 7-5, 7-5. Shapiro and Grimm also beat their opponents in straight sets while Art Evelev, the "three set lad," came through in his customary manner winning after a long deuce match, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4.

In doubles the No. 1 team of Lebanon Valley received their second setback of the season as Eby and Czajkowski vanquished the Dutchmen 7-5, 4-6, 6-3. The other matches in the doubles went to three sets but with L. V. C. on the long end of each one.

The summaries:

L. V. C., 6; Dickinson, 3.

SINGLES

- Umberger, L. V. C., defeated Czajkowski, Dickinson, 7-5, 7-5.
Shapiro, L. V. C., defeated Eby, of Dickinson, 7-5, 6-4.
Houdashel, Dickinson, defeated Shenk, L. V. C., 8-6, 4-6, 6-3.
Evelev, L. V. C., defeated Bartus, Dickinson, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4.
Cupp, Dickinson, defeated Saylor, L. V. C., 6-1, 6-4.
Grimm, L. V. C., defeated Jackson, Dickinson, 6-3, 6-3.

DOUBLES

- Czajkowski and Eby, Dickinson, defeated Umberger and Shenk, L. V. C., 7-5, 4-6, 6-3.
Shapiro and Evelev, L. V. C., defeated Houdashel and Cupp, Dickinson, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.
Saylor and Grimm, L. V. C., defeated Bartus and Jackson, Dickinson, 6-4, 2-6, 8-6.

Walk, c	4	0	0	10	0	1
Billett, 2b	4	0	1	1	3	0
Kress, lf	4	2	3	3	0	1
Kuhn, p	4	0	1	1	1	0
Lennon, ss	4	2	2	0	4	1
Katchmer, 1b	2	0	0	7	0	0
Rozman, 1b	2	1	2	1	0	0

Totals 37 7 14 27 8 3
Two base hits—Billett, Smoot. Home runs—Lennon, Rozman. Left on bases—L. V. C. 4, Albright 3. Double plays—Halbfoster to De Lorenzo to Warnigaris. Wild pitch—Kuhn. Walks off Kuhn 5, off Smoot 1. Strike outs by Kuhn 9, Smoot 3. Hit by pitcher—by Smoot (Seiverling). Stolen bases—Riffle 2, Weilgolinski 2, Kress 2. Umpires—Shiffler, Miller.

GOING TO THE PROM?

LA VIE COLLEGIENNE BALLOT THE PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER

Second Annual Eastern College All-Stars Players Poll
STAN BAUMGARTNER, Promotional Director.

As a football fan who is interested in the Eastern College All-Stars—Eagles Football Game, sponsored by the Philadelphia Inquirer to be held August 25, 1938, and as a friend and supporter of Lebanon Valley College, I wish to cast my vote for the following two men who are candidates for positions on the All-Stars eleven.

GORDON DAVIES, Lebanon Valley, Guard

WALTER FRIDINGER, Lebanon Valley, Quarterback

(NAME) _____
(STREET) _____
(TOWN) _____

Due to the fact the contest does not start officially until May 17, please cut out your ballots each week and send them to Howard N. Baier, Editor, LA VIE COLLEGIENNE, Annville, Pa.

Alumni Cast Huge Vote For All-Star Gridders

Over the busy May Day week-end alumni and friends of Lebanon Valley College rallied to the support of Lebanon Valley's all-stars, Gordon Davies and Walter Fridinger, to the tune of approximately fifteen hundred votes posted in the form of signed petitions. Former Flying Dutchmen gridders like Frank Boran, George Ney, Sincavage, and Boyd Sponaugle were among the first to show their support for their successors on the L. V. gridiron who are now aspiring to posts on the Philadelphia Inquirer All-Star eleven.

Although the L. V. stars have gotten off to a flying start in the poll which will decide who will be named as members of the college squad, the fact that men who received the recognition last were required to secure almost fifteen thousand votes is enough to show the need of hard work and constant solicitation on the part of the two men and their supporters. Many ballots and petitions have been spread throughout the state by alumni who were on the campus May Day. With alumni taking the lead, the students at school can follow suit by clipping their ballots each week and placing them in the LA VIE contributors box in the library and by sending petitions home to have their friends sign them.

More than thirty religious denominational groups are represented in the Wheaton College student body.

The University of New Hampshire next fall will inaugurate a new four-year school of hotel administration.

Schipperke and Eskimo PUPPIES

Schipperke Kennels

35 East Main St.
ANNVILLE, PA.

New Fords On Display

at the showroom

LIGHT'S GARAGE

PALMYRA
HERSHEY B. WAGNER, Salesman
ANNVILLE, PA.

JACK'S BOOK STORE

Used Books Bought and Sold

BACK DATE MAGAZINES

147 N. 8th St., LEBANON, PA.

FINK'S BAKERY

Eat Fink's Famous
Chocolate Eclairs, Cream
Puffs, Filled Doughnuts

Purchases can be made in Bake
Shop after Store hours.

KREAMER BROS.

Furniture and Floor Coverings,
Leonard Electric Refrigerators

Hoover Electric Sweepers
Maytag and Easy Washers
Westinghouse Electric
Ranges and R. C. A. Radios

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

Phone 144 ANNVILLE, PA.

Netmen Seize Two Out Of Three Contests

Sports Commentator

In opening this column it is appropriate to doff the worn head piece to the work of the past sports editor, "Rog" Saylor. This scribe has sustained the L. V. C. school spirit faithfully with his column. When certain other school scribes waxed a bit audacious in condemning Lebanon Valley athletics, Rog came to the rescue with a comeback slam in his column which we're sure was read and enjoyed by all loyal Blue and White fans.

Whew! What a week-end for sports. With two engagements versus our time honored rivals, Albright, in tennis and baseball on Saturday combined with Friday's activity with Drexel in baseball and West Chester State Teachers in tennis, the Blue and White sports followers find themselves agog in a whirl of mid spring athletics.

We recognize and pay tribute to a good performance when we see one. To George Katchmer goes the credit for pitching a very fine ball game on Friday even if we did lose to the Drexel Dragons. This perhaps was the outstanding piece of work done so far this season for the Flying Dutchmen. Credit also goes to the other pitchers Frey and Kuhn who have proven their willingness and merit.

In tennis we've been watching the form of our number one man, "Bud-die" Umberger who here on the campus offers almost a phenomenon in athletics. Last year's mediocre player, who won but a few more than half his matches, fades before the remarkably much improved polished tennis player this season. So far he has only lost one match and at that it was a close one to George McCall, of Bucknell.

Incidentally, those of you that watched that match with Bucknell indicated by your "oh's" and "ah's" that some of the best players seen around here for some time, were displayed by the Bison crew.

May Day revealed several prospects for next year's football squad as some of the performers did themselves proud on the gridiron (ancient and rusted as it may have been.) With such talent as Paul Horn and Bud Roemig toting the pig's hide, we can look for power, speed and brains next year. How about it coach?

It certainly was a pleasure to note the outcome of that Albright game on Saturday. The team showed real fight and hitting power which backed up the fine twirling by our freshman pitcher, Frank Kuhn. We also have noticed strength in hitting, particularly from Gordon Davies and Danny Seiverling in the past few games. Keep it up men!

Dr. Shenk Speaks

Dr. Shenk addressed the Brotherhood of Trinity Lutheran church, Lebanon, on Monday, May 9 on the subject: "The Religious Background of Pennsylvania."

On Saturday, May 7, he spoke at the third annual dinner of the Harrisburg Torch Club, held at Hotel Hershey. The topic for the discourse was: "Eminent Americans—Women of the Nineteenth Century."

Dutchmen Drubbed By Drexel Dragons

Drexel Hits In Pinches In Spite Of Low Total

In spite of the stellar pitching of George Katchmer, the Flying Dutchmen met defeat in their second league encounter at the hands of the Drexel Dragons. Katchmer yielded only five hits, but they were given up at opportune times.

Drexel broke into the scoring column in the fourth when Katchmer walked Graf who went to second on Wolf's single. Lignelli lined out a hard drive to right to score Graf. Katchmer worked himself out of the hole to prevent further scoring. In the seventh, Drexel again scored on some timely hitting. Emling singled and went to third on Lignelli's single. Drexel then worked the squeeze play with Johnson doing the bunting.

Lebanon Valley garnered six hits, but they failed to hit in the pinches. In the eighth they filled the bases, but Zimmers turned on the steam and prevented any scoring. The Valley's inability to hit in the clutches was their weakest point as they turned in some fine fielding. A double play started by Lennon pulled Katchmer out of one tight spot.

For the visitors, Lignelli found Katchmer's offerings to his liking and pounded out two hits, one a double. Davies and Seiverling led the home-sters' attack with two hits each while Walk and Billett completed the hitting.

The box score:

DREXEL		ab	r	h	o	a	e
Graf, c	----	3	1	0	9	2	0
Wolf, 2b	----	4	0	1	2	4	0
Quinn, cf	----	4	0	0	1	0	0
Emling, ss	----	4	1	1	0	2	1
Lignelli, lf	----	4	0	2	4	0	0
Conrad, rf	----	3	0	0	1	0	0
Johnson, 3b	----	3	0	0	2	0	0
Warfel, 1b	----	3	0	0	8	0	0
Zimmers, p	----	3	0	1	0	1	0
Totals	----	31	2	5	27	9	1

L. V. C.

	ab	r	h	o	a	e
Seiverling, cf	5	0	2	1	0	0
Walk, c	3	0	1	9	0	0
Davies, rf	4	0	2	1	1	0
Billett, 2b	3	0	1	2	1	0
Capka, 3b	4	0	0	0	0	0
Kuhn, 1b	3	0	0	9	1	0
Brown, lf	1	0	0	1	0	0
Lennon, ss	3	0	0	3	4	0
Katchmer, p	3	0	0	1	2	0
Kress, lf	2	0	0	0	0	0
a—Moller	1	0	0	0	0	0
b—Tryan	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	33	0	6	27	9	0

Two base hits—Lignelli. Double play—Lennon to Billett. Stolen bases—Lennon, Kuhn 2, Conrad. Strike out—by Katchmer 8, Zimmers 9. Left on bases—L. V. C. 6, Drexel 2. Walks off Katchmer 3, Zimmers 2. Hit by pitcher—by Zimmers (Brown). Umpire—Shiffler.

Recruits Travel

Last Sunday evening Howard Peffley led a deputation to the Bethel Evangelical church at Lickdale, Pa. Mr. Peffley spoke for the Christian Endeavor service on an appropriate subject. He was ably assisted by Robert Hackman and Frank Bryan, who presented several numbers as a trombone duet.

Banquet Scene

Miss Hodgkins cuts birthday cake of N. A. A. F. Banquet

W. A. A. Banquet Held On Monday

(Continued from page 1)

Hiss Hodgkins then spoke on the subject, "Modern Sports for the Modern Girl." She based her talk on the elements which she considered essential in a good modern sports program. The first was the element of health and physical examinations. "Only seven per cent of us," she said, "are health conscience enough to get an annual physical examination." She emphasized the importance of this examination as the basis of participation in sports. As a second element, the program should contribute to rich leisure. Democracies are kept alive only through the participation of the people in leisure activities. The element of fun was the third. Here she stressed the fact that too many of us play not for the fun of it, but to win. This is the wrong conception to have; fun should determine participation in a game. The fourth element was to learn the fine art of being a good sport. Good sportsmanship is not inherited, but it may be attained through good, clean play just for the fun of it. "Effort is its own joy, success its own reward." An emphasis on character was the fifth element. Too many people have forgotten what character really is. "The survival of nations has depended on the character of its citizens." The last element was to make the most of being women. Too many women try to copy men; they should set their own ideal and strive for it.

Dinner music was furnished by John Zettlemoyer, Dorothy Yeakel, and Phil Lester.

Crusaders Blanked By L. V. Squad

The Susquehanna University net team was white-washed by a belated Lebanon Valley tennis squad to the tune of 7-0 last Wednesday when the two schools resumed hostilities at Selinsgrove after being rained out of a match on April 22.

All the singles were very decisive wins for the Blue and White except the match between Art Evelev of L. V. C. and Hakyshtyis of Susquehanna. This encounter went three sets before the steady ground strokes of Evelev won the match for him.

In doubles also the match showed a decided Blue and White superiority as Shapiro and Saylor dropped only one game in two sets, Umberger and Shenk being forced to three sets before conquering the Selinsgrove duo.

SINGLES

1. Umberger, L. V. C., defeated Gould, S., 6-0, 6-1.
2. Shapiro, L. V. C., defeated Saunders, S., 6-1, 6-0.
3. Shenk, L. V. C., defeated Hostetter, S., 6-3, 6-2.
4. Evelev, L. V. C., defeated Hakyshtyis, S., 6-1, 4-6, 6-2.
5. Saylor, L. V. C., defeated Williams, S., 6-2, 6-3.

DOUBLES

1. Umberger and Shenk, L. V. C. defeated Hostetter and Gould, S., 6-8, 6-1, 6-4.
2. Shapiro and Saylor, L. V. C., defeated Hakyshtyis and Williams, S., 6-0, 6-1.

WHEN YOU PUFF THAT EXTRA-MILD, EXTRA-TASTY PRINCE ALBERT—WELL YOU'VE GOT SOMETHING THERE! AND FIFTY DELIGHTFUL PIPEFULS IN THE BIG POCKET-SIZE TIN. THAT MAKES A BIG HIT WITH ME!

SMOKE 20 FRAGRANT PIPEFULS of Prince Albert. If you don't find it the mellowest, tastiest pipe tobacco you ever smoked, return the pocket tin with the rest of the tobacco in it to us at any time within a month from this date, and we will refund full purchase price, plus postage. (Signed) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, North Carolina

Copyright, 1938, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

PRINCE ALBERT THE NATIONAL JOY SMOKE

50 pipefuls of fragrant tobacco in every 2-oz. tin of Prince Albert

Y. M. C. A. Cabinets Hold Banquet

The retiring and incoming cabinets of the Y. M. C. A. held their annual spring banquet on Tuesday evening at Moyer's Restaurant, in Lebanon. The cabinet members met in front of the Administration Building and were transported to the scene of operations by automobile.

Fifteen members of the old and new cabinets were present at the banquet, as well as two faculty advisers, Dr. G. A. Richie and Dr. A. H. M. Stonecipher. Robert Clippinger, retiring president, presided and acted as general master of ceremonies.

A half of spring chicken formed the piece de resistance, which was ably supported by waffles and other accessories.

Following dessert Dr. Stonecipher was called upon for a few remarks, following President Clippinger's farewell address. Dr. Stonecipher stressed the need for the extension of the work of the Y. M. C. A. on campus, work which affects most closely members of the cabinet, but also indirectly benefits the entire student body. He pointed out that the triangular symbol of the Y, representing the three aims of man's development, physical, mental, and spiritual, should be made as far as possible an equilateral triangle, with all sides equally developed.

Dr. Richie was also called upon and responded with the thought that religion can and must play an important role in everyone's life, bringing in the story of the death of Monsieur Curie and its effect upon his wife.

Following the usual custom the senior members, Daniel Shearer and John Miller, delivered a hail-and-farewell. Ben Goodman, president of the Y, thanked all his associates for their cooperation in the late May Day festivity and accepted the challenge presented for next year.

Rutledge Named Officer In Musical Organization

On Tuesday evening, March 10, Lebanon Valley College was hostess to the annual business meeting of the In-and-Out Club of Harrisburg. This is an organization of music educators of this vicinity including an area of approximately sixty square miles.

The meeting, which was expressly for the purpose of election of officers, resulted in the following selections: Ulna F. Goodall of Harrisburg, president; Miss Ruth Moore of Carlisle, vice-president; Edward P. Rutledge of the Conservatory faculty, treasurer; and Miss Evelyn Waltman of York, secretary. Retiring president is Miss Mary E. Gillespie. Professor D. Clark Carmean was a member of the nominating committee.

Previous to the evening's activities, a dinner was served to the group in the college dining-room, followed by

Kalos Name Zerbe Opening President

Grover F. Zerbe, of Valley View, was elected opening president of the Kalozetean Literary Society in an election held yesterday noon. The other officers elected along with Zerbe are Clarence Lehman, Vice-president; Christian Walk, Recording Secretary; Charles Brown, Corresponding Secretary; John Moyer, Treasurer; and Paul Meyers, Chaplain.

Zerbe is a prominent member of the Junior class and is a dormitory student. Next year his chief duties will consist in organizing his group for the rushing season. At the same meeting the final reports on the anniversary were given by John Walmer, anniversary president.

an address by Miss Gillespie.

The club was then entertained in Engle Hall with a Concert by the Band and Glee Club.

Students To Appear In Closing Recital

On Tuesday, May 17, at 8:00 P. M. there will be a student recital in Engle Hall. The program will include solos, "Love Went A Riding," by Briggs, "Gavotte," by Massenet, and "Ah, fors' a Lui," by Verdi, sung by Jean Marbarger, soprano. Oleta Dietrich, violinist, will play "Prelude in G Minor" and "From The Canebrake" by Samuel Gardner. Other violin solos, "Pantomime" by Mozart-Franko, and "Tambourin," by Hasse-Franko will be given by John Fink. Amy Meinhardt, pianist, will play "Papillons" Op. 2, by Schumann. Accompanists will be Anita Patschke and Marian Reiff. This is the last of the student recitals of the current college year.

GOING TO THE PROM?

Chesterfield delivers
MORE PLEASURE
every day...

...waiting right around the corner...in nearly a million stores where cigarettes are sold you'll find that friendly white Chesterfield package.

Chesterfields are made of the best ingredients a cigarette can have...mild ripe home-grown tobaccos, aromatic Turkish and pure cigarette paper.

Chesterfield's milder better taste will give you more pleasure than any cigarette you ever smoked.

Weekly Radio Features of the PLEASURE cigarette
 GRACE MOORE
 ANDRE KOSTELANETZ
 PAUL WHITEMAN
 DEEMS TAYLOR
 PAUL DOUGLAS

Chesterfield CIGARETTES
 Turkish and Domestic tobaccos blended
They Satisfy
 MANUFACTURED BY LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO. U.S.A.

Don't Forget....

La Vie Collegienne

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE
The Symphony
LIBRARY

Vol. XV

ANNVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, MAY 19, 1938

No. 4

Chinese Dance And Dramatics Well Received

Red Gate Players Show Unique Shadow Plays; King Lan Chew Pleases

by Betty Bender

Monday evening promptly at eight thirty approximately one hundred fifty persons had the unique opportunity of spending two hours in a distinctly Oriental atmosphere. The Red Gate Players presented a program of Chinese Theatre Arts, initiating us into the strange conventions of our Eastern neighbors.

As the lights dimmed, the ominous sound of a Chinese gong immediately transported the audience to the proper atmosphere. King Lan Chew, mistress of ceremonies, opened the program with a short explanation of the traditions of the Chinese Theatre. She explained that the figures used in the Shadow Plays were made in China, some of them hundreds of years ago. They were made of donkey skin treated to make it nearly translucent and then painted on both sides with translucent paint. They are operated, not as our puppets are, by strings, but from beneath with wires.

After her introduction, a Shadow Play, "Temple of the Golden Mountain," was presented. As the curtains of the miniature theatre parted, the audience gasped. The figures were even more startlingly delicate than we had imagined. As the playlet proceeded, the dialogue was accompanied by characteristic music on percussion and string instruments. Perhaps the audience was chiefly impressed by the

(Continued on Page 3, Column 1)

Wig & Buckle Names Tschop President

Robert P. Tschop, prominent figure in dramatic circles on the campus, was re-elected president of the Wig and Buckle club at a meeting of that body held Tuesday noon. Other officers elected were: vice president, Paul Horn; secretary, Louise Saylor; and treasurer, Lloyd Beamesderfer.

At the same time the club adopted a pin as a standard available only to letter members of the club, that is, members who have shown themselves outstanding in dramatics in some form or another. The pins may be secured in the near future by any of the above mentioned members of the club.

After a favorable report on the financial condition of the club, Mr. Tschop stated that next year the group would be exceptionally active, sponsoring regular monthly meetings of all those interested in dramatics. At these meetings all phases of dramatics will be discussed by members of the club, with persons advanced in each line leading the discussion. He also stated that during the summer, plays would be read by himself and others in order to select the best possible one for the club's annual production next fall. Other plays, sponsored by the club, will be presented if the school calendar permits.

Baccalaureate Speaker

REV. PAUL E. HOLDCRAFT

... who will deliver the baccalaureate sermon June 5.

Paul Horn To Head Life Work Recruits

Report On Deputations Reveals Many Records

The last meeting of the Life Work Recruits for the current year was held in North Hall Parlor last Monday evening. The purpose of this meeting was to elect new officers for the next year. The vice-president, Thomas Guinivan, was in charge of the meeting.

A very fine and interesting report was presented by Paul Horn, chairman of L. W. R. deputations. Mr. Horn stated that the recruits had visited 64 churches for a total of 93 services. This exceeded last year's mark by about 15 churches. Another interesting feature that was closely tallied by Mr. Horn was the mileage. The deputations covered approximately 4000 miles in Maryland and Pennsylvania. In looking over the list of those who participated in services, Mr. Horn discovered that 57 students had served in various deputational capacities.

The officers were elected in record breaking time. Each position was un-

(Continued on Page 3, Column 5)

Seniors To Hear Orators During Commencement

Holdcraft And Sockman To Deliver Messages In Closing Ceremonies

The program for Commencement Week begins on Thursday, June 2 at 8:00 p. m. with a Conservatory Commencement Recital. On Friday, June 3, there will be a meeting of the Board of Trustees. The Alumni Day program includes a Luncheon in the College Dining Hall, a parade on the campus, Annual Class Day exercises in the College Chapel, a reception at 3:30 p. m. by President and Mrs. C. A. Lynch, and the Annual Alumni Banquet at 6:00 p. m. at the Hershey Park Golf Club.

The Baccalaureate Service will be held in the college church, Sunday, June 5, at 10:30 a. m. The sermon will be delivered by Dr. Paul E. Holdcraft, pastor of the Emanuel Church of the United Brethren in Christ, Hagerstown, Maryland.

The sixty-ninth Commencement exercises will be at 10:00 a. m. Monday, June 6, in the College Church. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, pastor of Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, New York, N. Y. will address the graduating class, their relatives, and friends.

Weidman Elected New Senate Head

On Monday at one o'clock the newly-elected members of the Men's Senate for next year held their annual caucus for the election of officers. The calling of this meeting was the last official duty of Gordon Davies, president of the Senate for the year just passed.

Roy Weidman, a senior next year, was elected to take over the office of president. The vice-president's position will be filled by Clarence Lehman, also a senior, while Jack Moller, elected to the governing body for his second year, will serve as the combined secretary-treasurer.

As required by the constitution of the Senate the members-elect were

(Continued on Page 3, Column 4)

Seniors Find Jobs Scarce

In spite of the fact that, according to politicians, the depression is over, jobs, it would seem, are few and far between. Of course this is still rather early for a survey of this type, but reports from other schools are not at all encouraging. Seniors at other schools seem to have no better luck than seniors at our own L. V. C. The following have positions either for this summer or next fall:

Beatrice Fink—music teacher and supervisor of musical and dramatic activities at Camp Whitehead, a summer camp for boys from 6-16, and Camp Minnetosta, a summer camp for girls from 6-16. The camps, which are located near Hutton, Maryland, in the Allegheny Mountains, are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hansen.

Dorothy Kreamer—expects to spend the summer season working at Hershey Park.

Beatrice Zamojski—will continue her studies in New York in preparation for her work as a medical technician.

Esther Flom—expects to study some phase of medicine, either in "med school," osteopathic school, or along the line of medical social work.

Carolyn Roberts—probably go in training at Johns Hopkins.

Allan Schuler—salesman for Potomac Edison Co.

Clifford Barnhart—will sell green-groceries at the Hershey Department Store.

Wilbur Gible—on the road for the summer as a book salesman.

Herbert Bowers—will take a few courses at summer school in preparation for entering Bonebrake Seminary next fall.

(Continued on Page 5, Column 3)

DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

... who will speak to the seniors at the graduation exercises.

Campus to be Scene Of Alumni Reunion

Seniors Will Be Guests At Annual Banquet

Saturday, June 4, is the day set aside this year for the annual return of Lebanon Valley alumni to their Alma Mater. Activities begin at 10 A. M. with the meeting of the Alumni Association. At 12:30 the Alumni Luncheon will be served in the college Dining Hall. The Alumni Parade will be held on the college campus beginning at 1:30. The college chapel will be the scene of the annual Class Day exercises to begin at 2:30. At 3:30 alumni will be entertained at a reception given by President and Mrs. Lynch at their home. Alumni Day will be brought to a close with the annual banquet at 6 o'clock at the Hershey Park Golf Club.

The Reunion Classes, that is, the five-year classes, who will feature their presence in the parade with class colors, uniforms and floats, etc., are those of '73, '78, '83, '88, '93, '98, '03, '08, '13, '18, '23, '28, and '33.

Weirick To Edit 1938-39 L-Book

At a meeting of both the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. cabinets held last Thursday night, Ernest Weirick was elected editor of the "L Book" for the coming year. Mildred Haas was named associate editor and Carl Ehrhart business manager.

Mr. Weirick, who was editor of the same publication last year, has begun work already in order that he may not be "bothered" during his trip abroad this summer.

Mr. Harry Gintzer, associate secretary of the south-central district of the State Y. M. C. A., was present at the meeting to help the group plan for the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y conference to be held on the campus this Saturday. A group of about one-hundred and twenty-five high school students from Lebanon, York, Dauphin, and Lancaster counties will meet here and be entertained by the "Y" cabinets.

La Vie Staffs Hold Banquet To Close Year

Nobe Frank Speaks To College Journalists On Newspaper Field

La Vie Collegienne held its annual spring banquet on Tuesday evening in the banquet hall of the Green Terrace. The banquet was attended by thirty-two student journalists, of both the incoming and retiring staffs, together with their faculty adviser and guests. The last mentioned included Prof. and Mrs. Carmean and Mr. Ralph Houser, head printer of the Church Center Press, printers of La Vie.

The speaker for the banquet was Nobe Frank, sports columnist and reporter for the Harrisburg Telegraph, who entertained the assemblage with stories of his experiences as a newspaperman, including details of the nineteen executions he has witnessed and reported to date, the difficulties of newspaper reporting in a flood area, and of the last anti-marijuana campaign in this state and the part he played in starting it.

Boyd Shaffer, retiring editor-in-chief, acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers. Besides Frank, faculty-adviser Dr. Struble spoke a few words on the position of a small-college weekly newspaper, and Howard Baier, newly-appointed editor, who presented a challenge to next year's staff. Mr. Houser was publicly thanked for the help he has given in the production of La Vie as far as technical elements are concerned.

Baier, in outlining the newspaper's policy for next year, spoke aggressively

(Continued on Page 3, Column 4)

Old Prom Leaders Feature At Dance

The last big dance of the year, the Junior Prom, held last Friday evening in the beautiful ballroom of Hershey Park, proved to be a great success. Approximately a hundred couples danced to the music of the Diplomats featuring the popular singer, Marty Horvath. The highlight of the evening was the intricate promenade planned and directed by Professor D. Clark Carmean, and led by Joe Thomas and his partner, Isabel Cox. As is customary, Prof. Carmean took "flashes" of the dancers as they enjoyed the rhythm of the orchestra. Much praise should be given to the Juniors for the clever dance programs containing a diary of the occasion and for the success of the entire evening. Financial reports received from Ben Goodman, Junior class president, have been very favorable.

1939 "Quittie"

Robert Long, editor of the 1939 "Quittie," takes this opportunity to announce publicly that he has no idea as to the date for the appearance of this year's book. "It depends on the speed with which the printer finishes them," says Long.

LA VIE COLLEGIENNE

ESTABLISHED 1925

Published every Thursday throughout the college year except holiday vacations and examination week by the students of Lebanon Valley College, Annville, Pennsylvania.

Subscription price: $1.00 per year. Five cents per single copy. Entered as second class matter at the Annville, Pa., post office under the Act of March 3, 1879.

1937 Member 1938
Associated Collegiate Press

HOWARD N. BAIER.....Editor
Carl Y. Ehrhart.....Associate Editor
Stewart Shapiro.....Sports Editor
Robert Tschop.....Feature Editor
RAYMOND SMITH.....Business Manager
Warren Sechrist, Circulation Manager
Clarence Lehman, Managing Editor

Amy Meinhardt, Ben Goodman, Robert Long, George Yokum, Jane Ehrhart, Lillian Leisey, John Ness, Mary Touchstone, Frances Prutzman, Louella Schindel, Fern Poet, Charles Beittel, Betty Anne Rutherford, David Lenker, John Moller, Richard Bell, Nathan Kantor.

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

of the people, by the people, for the people

Whenever a group of people are congregated at one place for any length of time, the question of rules of order, conduct, and action is brought up and with it the question of government. The question of government usually revolves around the point of who shall govern and how. Since there are many students brought into one relationship here on the Lebanon Valley campus, this controversy of government naturally arises here. Our very heritage demands that we be self-governing, and fortunately our predecessors have secured this democracy for us so that our only purpose is to use it wisely.

For the past few years the Men's Senate and the W. S. G. A. have been the storm center of much debate and bitter criticism. Much of this bitterness has been due to the fact that it is instinctive to cry out against the faults of those governing us, the fact that the governing bodies have been lax in the administration of their obligations, and the fact that much power that once characterized these groups has been taken from them and delegated elsewhere. Whether these law and order groups have deserved all the criticism which has been hurled on their head is not the question for discussion. Rather it is how can the present condition be remedied and improved upon.

Perhaps the chief reason for the collapse of student government has been the lack of respect that has been shown by the students toward self-rule and also the display of indifference on the part of some student representatives on these boards. The recent elections have resulted in the selection of able cooperative persons to these responsible posts, and since they have been chosen by the students to represent them, why not give them the moral backing and proper respect to try and lift student rule up to the high place on the campus that it justly deserves? It is generally assumed that persons delegated by a group to represent them in certain matters will act in accordance with the opinion and sentiments of the group. With this in mind we can hardly blame our student senators and "Jigger-board" members for not acting any differently than they have since they are carrying out the opinions held by their constituents.

Considering the tremendous responsibility that rests on the shoulders of every senator and W. S. G. A. member, and remembering that we have placed them in these trusts, let us rally behind them instead of standing out in front hurling sour grapes or rotten vegetables. They deserve every student's whole-hearted support and cooperation. So as a first step in restoring student government to its rightful place, let us first repay to our student representatives the respect that is due them and try to boost rather than knock.

without representation

Three years ago it was decided to abandon Freshman Rules and forbid any discrimination between classes on the Lebanon Valley campus. Since that time several of these former regulations have been returned. The most recent restoration was the reservation of the back walk from the Men's Dorm to the Post Office for the Seniors and Juniors to restore some of the tradition that once characterized Lebanon Valley.

For a person who was exempt from the hazards of regulatory measures as a freshman, to be eager to indict poor freshmen to the rigors of strict regulation may seem rather strange, but there are several reasons for the return of at least some rules. First, we all know that sometime in life we are going to be subordinated to some other fellowman and that one of the secrets of success is the ability to take orders as well as give them. Since we must learn the lessons of discipline and subordination sometime, there is no better time to learn it than at college and no better teachers than our fellow students. Some may say that the freshman may come from a home where his life was closely regulated by parents and that he should be given a chance to let loose. In this case we say that perhaps rules will be needed to keep the individual from going too far, and at any rate the individual is accustomed to regulation and won't feel the effect of a few rules.

Please understand us. It is not for the return of the rah rah days that we yearn with their "assume the angle" and "how low is a freshman?" phrases. Rather, we say, why not have more rules that make a freshman respect upperclassmen and more rules that make the upperclassmen respect the freshman. If we can't have a few more rules, then let's have more rigid enforcement of the existing ones.

COMMENCEMENT RECITAL

The annual Commencement recital this year is on Thursday night, May 26, at 8 o'clock, in Engle Hall. A definite arrangement of the program has not yet been submitted, but it will include a piano-organ duo by Robert Clippinger and Robert Smith, piano solo by Rita Mosher, vocal selections by Jean Marbarger, Mildred Gangwer, and Helen Butterwick, and violin numbers by John Zettlemoyer.

Girls Band Will Play At Mount Joy May 30

The Girls' Band is planning, for the second consecutive year, upon invitation, to participate in the Memorial Day service of Mount Joy. Last year, when the girls took part in the celebration, together with seven or eight other bands, they were well received by the spectators. Since they are not on a competing basis, the band has a definite schedule for the day, including parading in the morning and an afternoon concert and program.

STUFF 'N THINGS

by Proboscis

We were grossly insulted last week by the guiding genius which determines the makeup of this paper. Our resentment over this "Nares" affair will make itself felt in mysterious ways, even if we have to disguise ourselves under some such second-rate name as "Nosey."

The other night down at South Hall Don Haverstick had a tough time with a particularly difficult algebra lesson, but we are happy to report that he finished the course with quality points to spare. This is an "inside story," so you may have some trouble getting to the root of the matter; reference to the proper persons, however, will probably clear things up.

Our Monday noon reverie was interrupted by numerous moans and laments and an off-day funeral dirge, consisting of "Nearer, My God To Thee" and other bits appropriate to the occasion. Said occasion proved to be the burial of a pet lizard or some other domesticated sort of dragon. The ceremony was well attended, the clergy being among the fraternal groups represented.

With all due consideration for the grief of the bereaved widow, we rather doubt the suitability of that section of the campus immediately in front of North Hall as a cemetery plot. We didn't mind awfully the floral decorations, which were iris torn from the beds nearby; but we maintain, old fogies that we are, that singing hymns on such a silly occasion is a sacrilege.

Our moralizing mood having passed, we interpose here a word of comment anent the Junior Prom. A thoroughly enjoyable affair, reminiscent of May Day, in that the Prom leaders for three years past were present. One of them, Pete Fridinger, came in for an encore on the strength of his introduction by Prof. Carmean.

We have, in the course of our widely-read career, come across vague rumors of a certain Virginia gentleman named Patrick Henry and of one Daniel Webster; and more recently we saw and heard the late lamented Huey Long in action on the floor of the Senate. But never, no, never, have we heard such impassioned oratory, such a spontaneous outburst of verbal fireworks, as was aired Tuesday by one Raymond Smith. All we remember is something about a "weakest wink."

Our felicitations to Helen Bartlett and Roy Weidman, presidents of the Jigger Board and Men's Senate respectively. Feeling ourselves fairly well qualified to comment on the subject, we wish to say that the destinies of the two organizations are in capable hands for the coming year.

It seems that banquets are now quite the thing. A good feed seems to lighten the burden of approaching exams; if such is the case, some of us are going to have mighty few worries during the coming two weeks.

The semi-annual custom of repenting the folly of a wasted semester is once more in full swing. Most of us, in the course of a college career, fervently say eight times, "So help me, if I get through this time, I'll never drag behind again." Somehow we get by, but the "next time" never comes. Possibly this accounts for the general dread which always accompanies the approach of exams. Why do we do it? Let's just charge it up to that unknown but much-abused phenomenon, human nature, and go on with our solemn vows.

SINGLETON! GLADYS LOWINGER

IS THE ONLY WOMAN
AMONG THE 6000
STUDENTS AT THE
COLLEGE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK!

SHE PLANS TO BE A CIVIL ENGINEER

DR. J.A. GAMEWELL HAS BEEN TEACHING AT WOFFORD COLLEGE FOR
63 YEARS! HE IS THE OLDEST LIVING
MEMBER OF KAPPA ALPHA FRATERNITY.

HOUSE PARTIES AT OXFORD U.
ENGLAND, ARE HELD IN TENTS!

To us, and possibly to many of you, one of the major shortcomings of life at L. V. C. has been a more or less conspicuous lack of traditions; meaning by that not society, but school traditions. Hence our gratification over the vote last week in favor of reserving the back walk from the Men's Dorm to the Post Office for the exclusive use of juniors and seniors.

We feel that this idea, analogous to West Point's "Flirtation Walk" and similar ones elsewhere, can help to lend a hallowed air to the school. In this respect ivy and traditions usually go hand-in-hand. We've had the ivy, and now that we have a tradition let's hang onto it and start looking for more.

Inasmuch as this is our last crack at you until next fall, we are going to be conventional and say, seriously, that it has been a privilege to be able to air our private opinions in this way; we've enjoyed it, albeit we have some doubts about the readers. Of course, we wish a thoroughly enjoyable vacation to each and every one of you; and now, after you have read carefully the following two paragraphs, class is dismissed.

At the present time a young giant is yawning and stretching, straining at its bonds in an as yet vain, but promising attempt to break loose. A few weeks hence those bonds will break—and we shall have seen the last, largely speaking, of our senior class. They are leaving us to do battle on a larger scale than they have been accustomed to; but they bear the L. V. stamp, and we shall never forget them.

By a remarkable metamorphosis they will become alumni; but the inexorable parade moves on, rank on rank, and their place will be filled by those in whose minds their memory will linger longest. Already the recollection of past years is growing dim; but not even the cold facts of life will entirely erase the image of a grand bunch of school mates and friends. Holmes' "Bill and Joe" tops off whatever else we might have to say, so without further ado, our hats are off to you, seniors! Hail and farewell!!

What They Say

QUESTION—What do you think about the return of more freshman rules?

Dorothy Long, Sophomore—Hazing does everybody good. The frosh would be too cocky without some control. Look at the class that didn't have freshman rules.

Lillian Zubroff, Junior—It makes fun for the frosh getting sneak dates.

Lucy Cook, Sophomore—I approve of freshman rules, but they shouldn't last a whole semester.

Jeanette Kolbach, Freshman—It puts the freshmen in their place.

Jean Meyer, Sophomore—If they take anything else away from the school it will be so flat nobody will come.

Amy Montieth, Junior—Yes, because I know what our class missed by not having them.

Joan Cox, Freshman—The new freshmen should have to go through with what we did.

Ernestine Jagnesak, Senior—I think it's good for anybody to have a couple of rules their freshman year.

Vernon Rogers, Senior—I think it's good for freshmen to be subjected to a fair degree of subordination.

Carl Ehrhart, Sophomore—When I was a freshman, I thought as a freshman I understood as a freshman, I behaved as a freshman; but when I became a sophomore, I put away all of my freshman dislikes for numerous freshman rules.

Robert Nichols, Freshman—Speaking as a future sophomore, I'm in favor of an increased amount of freshman rules.

Dean Gasteiger, Senior—It isn't exactly the return of more rules that's needed. I think that if the present rules were more strictly enforced, there would be less trouble and more respect for upper classmen.

Robert Long, Junior—A small percentage of the present freshmen have shown such small respect for upper classmen that an increase might be justified.

John Lynch, Sophomore—For some freshmen an increase would be profitable; others, however, have had enough parental discipline before entering not to need added college restrictions.

Charles Miller, Freshman—Rules have a certain value, but I don't approve of having rules just for the sake of having rules.

Chinese Dance And Dramatics Well Received

(Continued from page 1)

mosaic effect of the figures and their delightful colors. It is easy to understand why this art is called the first Technicolor.

Because Hsiao Pai, the White Snake, had killed someone, her husband had become a monk. The White Snake was now going to the Temple to get her husband back. But the Temple Dragon came out to fight her, whereupon she called up the water to flood the Temple. The Priest came out, poured oil on the water, and calmed the sea demons. This, in brief, was the story of the first Shadow Play.

King Lan Chew presented two beautiful dances: "Chinese Theatrical Piece" and "Shadow Boxer." Both were interpreted in special costumes. Miss Chew delighted her small, but very appreciative audience with her graceful and symmetrical movements. With a minimum of musical accompaniment Miss Chew demonstrated effectively that an elaborate accompaniment is unnecessary to a skillful dancer.

Evening Scene Portrayed

After a very brief intermission the curtains of the Shadow Theatre again parted revealing an unusual evening scene showing the Milky Way separating the two constellations which the Chinese call the Cowherd and the Six Heavenly Damsels. In five scenes we were told how a Cowherd, Niu Lang, won the love of Chi Nu, the Seventh Heavenly Damsel, and married her. The Western Mother of the Heavens sent for Chi Nu and forced her to remain in Heaven separated from her earthly lover by the Milky Way. But in response to the tearful pleadings of the Seventh Heavenly Damsel, once a year the Magpies made a bridge across the Milky Way, enabling her to meet her lover.

The Shadow actors had so skillfully caught the imagination of the audience that the inconsistencies in size of the butterflies, trees, and characters were so completely unnoticed that when the Seventh Damsel tried to catch the butterflies, we were afraid that a cough from the audience would frighten them away. The experiences and troubles of the tiny parchment actors were really shared by the spectators. Indeed, when the Western Mother's messenger commanded the Seventh Damsel to leave her husband some were heard to whisper, "Don't go." Pauline Benton and Lee Ruttle, who did all of the dialogue and animation of the figures, certainly deserve a great deal of praise in so adequately conveying the spirit of their art.

After another very brief intermission Miss Chew and Mr. Russell, who was responsible for the musical part of the program, revealed to the audience the unusual Chinese musical instruments which had been used during the evening's entertainment. Miss Chew played a moon guitar while Mr. Russell played a Chinese flute called a Ti.

Oriental Instruments Shown

Probably the most surprising instrument was the two-stringed violin which is held on the knee and played like a cello with a bow. It has a truly Oriental twang which quite captivated the audience. The next instrument was a butterfly harp. It is tuned like a piano and played with two small hammers. Lastly, Miss Chew played the "nine-tone gong." There are ten gongs in the instrument, but the Chinese prefer the number nine and we would hate to argue with the Chinese. It is played with a hammer.

The short tunes which were played on these instruments were quite catchy, for members of the audience were heard to hum several of them after the curtain was pulled. Perhaps one of the outstanding features of the musical part of the evening was the fact that there was no four part harmony at all. With the exception of the two-part duet played on flute and moon guitar, the music was only melody. Yet the equality of the tone and the delicacy of the tunes were such that the effect was ethereal, intangible, rather than flat as one might expect.

The final Shadow Play was entitled "The Burning of the Bamboo Grove." The fire, which was the highlight of the play, was very cleverly done. Smoke ascended, flames mounted, and the trees crumbled to smoking ashes. We were told afterwards that the smoke was a la Chesterfield—no advertising.

Miss Chew Concludes Program

After another very graceful dance, "A Chinese Scroll," Miss Chew concluded the program with her famous "Sheung Gim," the Sword Dance,

RECRUITS TRAVEL

Three more deputations were added last week to the list of churches visited by the Life Work Recruit Organization. Paul Myers spoke at the Campbelltown United Brethren Church in an evening service. He was assisted by Frances Prutzman. The special music was rendered by Frank Bryan, Robert Hackman, and James Ralston.

At the Palmyra U. B. Church Daniel Shearer was the special speaker and was aided by Jane Ehrhart. Dorothy Yeakel, Helen Butterwick, and Dorothy Zeiters delivered several musical numbers.

The final deputation was sent to Windsor, Pa., in York County. Special music was presented by Jean Marbarger, John Miller, and Edward Creeger, while John Ness delivered the message. Mildred Haas and Robert Grimm assisted in the worship service, as Charles Miller officiated.

which she performed in "The Good Earth." It is a two-thousand year-old traditional dance in which Miss Chew brandished two large swords in somewhat of a "Drum Major" style.

When the last curtain closed nearly half of the audience flocked back stage to see King Lan Chew and the clever figures which had so well entertained them. Miss Chew, Mr. Russell, Miss Benton, and Mr. Ruttle very generously answered the many questions, autographed programs, and operated two figures so that we could see how it was done.

No doubt there are some who thought the whole program boring, that the dialogue and action were too simple. We believe, however, that an art with which we are not familiar should not be judged too quickly. Who knows what the Chinese, seeing our theatrical conventions for the first time, would think of us?

Lest some think us too generous, may we state that our chief criticism of the plays was the fact that those who spoke for the figures made no apparent effort to distinguish between the voices of different characters.

We regret that the students as a whole were not sufficiently interested in broadening their acquaintance with foreign art to attend this program. We hope that the next similar opportunity will arise at a more convenient season and will be more universally accepted.

La Vie Staffs Hold Banquet To Close Year

(Continued from page 1)

ly and announced his intention of making La Vie as much a focal point of interest on the campus as possible. He stated that the position of a newspaper on a college campus is not only that of a newsgathering agency, but also that of a public-opinion moulder on campus.

Dr. Struble, after congratulating the staff, outlined what he felt were the three principles of college journalism at Lebanon Valley, as a news recording agency, as a moulder of opinion, and as an advertiser for the college. He congratulated Shaffer as editor-in-chief for having quite successfully combined all three aspects.

Weidman Elected New Senate Head

(Continued from page 1)

called together for a conference by Dean Stonecipher for a conference preparatory to their induction into office. This induction took place this morning (Thursday) in chapel and was in charge of Dr. Lynch as president of the College.

Delphians Elect Haas President

Mildred Haas, popular Annville day student, was elected president of the Delphian Literary Society, at the election held Tuesday noon in Delphian Hall. Miss Haas, also prominent in campus dramatic activities, will be assisted by the following members of Delta Lambda Sigma, who also received offices at the election: vice-president, Ruth Rohrer; recording secretary, Margaret Druck; corresponding secretary, Barbara Bowman; treasurer, Kay Whister; critic, Edna Rutherford; pianist, Dortha Kroll; and chaplain, Alice Deitrick.

Paul Horn To Head Life Work Recruits

(Continued from page 1)

contested except the presidency post, in which there was a hotly contested race. There was a doubt concerning the legality in the voting, but the objector was quickly squelched. Paul Horn was finally chosen to head the organization. The other officers were vice-president, Thomas Guinivan; Secretary-Treasurer, Edith Metzgar; Pianist, Jane Ehrhart, and Deputation Chairman, John Ness. The meeting was adjourned by Mr. Guinivan.

Proposed Examination Schedule--May 23--June 2

	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
	May 23	May 24	May 25	May 26	May 27	May 28
9:00	Biology 38 Bus. Ad. 93 Education 73 History 44-C Latin 43-B Mathem. 123 Mathem. 56 Philosophy 53 Pol. Sci. 13	Chemistry 38 Educat. 136-A English 524 German 16-B German 26 History 16 History 64 Mathematics 84	German 36 Greek 56 History 34-A Philosophy 26 Physics 18 Pol. Sci. 114 Psychology 03	Bus. Ad. 53-B Education 33 English 52 Greek 16 Mathematics 46 Sociology 23	Biology 18 Bus. Ad. 123 History 24-A	French 06 French 16 French 26 French 36
1:30	Bible 42 Biology 74 Bus. Ad. 14 Education 124 English 542 Mathem. 74 Pol. Sci. 42	Chemistry 18 Economics 16 Economics 26 English 66 History 44-B Latin 26 Physics 34	Bible 14 Philosophy 32	English 26 Biology 94 Education 422 Education 462	Chemistry 28 German 06 History 24-B Philos. 12 Psychology 42	History 42
9:00	May 30 Holiday	May 31 Biology 54-B Bus. Ad. 36 Greek 26 History 34-B History 44-A Latin 16 Mathematics 36	June 1 Chemistry 48 Education 182 French 46 History 126 Latin 64 Pol. Sci. 16	June 2 German 16-A History 113 Mathematics 23
1:30		English 16 English 132 Chemistry 64	Hygiene 12 Psychology 23

Examinations to be held in the Chapel unless notified otherwise by the Professor.

DON'T let the folks back home worry about you when you're too busy to write. Get in touch with them by telephone—give them and yourself the thrill of a voice visit.

RATES ON ALL CALLS OF 42 MILES OR MORE ARE REDUCED EVERY NIGHT AFTER 7 AND ALL DAY SUNDAY.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Sports Commentator

Yes, the end of the year has finally come, and with it closes a very busy spring season of baseball and tennis. We note that the tennis team has come through with seven wins and four defeats to top last year's performance while the baseball team, minus the competent services of ace pitcher, Paul Billett has won some gratifying victories, especially over the Albright Lions.

That Albright tennis squad certainly showed the results of their very extensive tennis exploits which included a southern tour and twenty-four matches when they beat the Blue and White wielders. To Frank Kready goes the credit for the great improvement of our time-honored rivals from Reading.

We pay tribute to the fine winning spirit of the Moravian College baseball team. It is seldom a small college produces such a ball team and its unbroken string of victories proves the merit of our friendly opponents from Bethlehem.

Getting away from the campus athletics we are interested in the progress of the American and National League baseball games this season. Those Giants have certainly been moving lately and have a remarkable percentage of wins so far. This column also likes the Yankee chances for copping the American League but we wonder why some of those Philadelphia teams don't wake up and assemble some winning teams (for a change).

Incidentally, most sports writers have been laying much of the blame for Philadelphia's pitiful attempts to move out of the cellar of both leagues on the managers and owners who have been charged with sacrificing winning combinations for lucrative gains. We wonder.

Cliff Melton, that elongated south-paw pitcher who has been winning so many games for Bill Terry's Giants seems to have hit his stride. Melton has been an in and out hurler for several years but mows down the batters these days like a world-beater.

Glancing around in the sports world, we notice that Baron Von Cramm, Germany's ace Davis "cupper" and the only amateur who can give Don Budge opposition worth mentioning, has been put in jail for a term of one year which means that tennis will lose one of its best strokers, competitors, and sportsmen for this year.

While on tennis we also notice that Helen Wills Moody has launched on her come-back career and has seen the first mile-stone on it by winning the North London women's championship recently. Personally speaking, this department hopes Mrs. Moody can continue and perhaps become "Queen" Helen of the tennis world again. Good luck to Mrs. "Poker-face."

In visiting other schools lately we have noticed a great deal of track enthusiasm. It would be swell if L. V. C. could trot out a natty track team one of these seasons and perhaps (forgive the fortune-telling tendency) some day in the future we may be represented in three spring sports instead of having only two with which to work off our steam.

Hats off to Frankie Kuhn for his pitching performance against the Mules. Those ninth inning strikeouts looked pretty good with the game as close as it was.

L. V. Tops Mules In League Fuss By 7-6 Count

Billett Scores On Error In Thirteenth Inning To Break 6-6 Stalemate

In a game filled with thrills and spills, Lebanon Valley downed Muhlenberg 7-6, for their first league win. The game went 13 innings before any team could push across a run. Kuhn, who pitched the whole game, seemed to get stronger as the game progressed, throwing them in with better control and more speed than he had displayed the whole game.

Muhlenberg started the game by pushing across the first run, when Schappell walked, Kurowski singled sending him to third and Busby sent him home on a fielder's choice. Lebanon Valley retaliated in the second with a run. Billett walked, Kress advanced him, and Kuhn's hit to left drove him home.

Gutekunst got a single in the third, went to second on a wild pitch, stole third, and scored on Kurowski's infield out. The Dutchmen just to keep the game going scored three runs. Capka and Davies were passed, Walk was safe on a fielder's choice, Davies being put out at second and Capka scoring. Billett was walked again, and Kress drove in Walk and Billett with a single.

In the sixth, an error, and two wild pitches scored Gutekunst. A single by Sell and a two base hit by Schappell scored a run for the Mules in the seventh. Muhlenberg forged ahead in the eighth when they pushed across two runs. Kurowski and Busby singled. Matusa flied to right scoring Kurowski. Smithers scored on an infield out.

Lebanon Valley came back in the eighth and tied the score. Billett was walked for the third time. Lennon was hit by the pitcher, Rozman singled. Billett was out at the plate on a throw from the short stop on Kuhn's grounder. Seiverling came through with a single to drive in Lennon and Rozman.

The game went into extra innings with Kuhn getting stronger all the time. The Valley had scoring opportunities in almost every one of the overtime innings, but hits in the pinches were conspicuous by their absence. In the 13th Kitzmiller, playing short, was safe on the left fielder's error. Walk fanned and Billett was walked for the fifth time, sending Kitzmiller to second. Kitzmiller was out at third on a fielder's choice. Frey then hit a high fly between right field and second base. The second basemen had his hands on the ball but failed to hold it scoring Billett with the winning run.

Credit should be given the boys for the good playing. Although their hitting was weak in spots, their superb fielding over-shadowed that dark spot. The nicest bit of base running seen on the local diamond this year was displayed by Gutekunst. His speed on the paths drew murmurs of approval from the rather meager crowd.

LEBANON VALLEY

	Ab.	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.
Seiverling, cf.	7	0	2	1	0	0
Capka, 3b.	6	1	1	2	2	1
Davies, rf.	4	0	0	2	0	0
Frey, rf.	3	0	1	2	0	0
Walk, c.	7	1	0	14	6	1
Billett, 2b.	2	3	1	4	4	1
Kress, lf.	6	0	1	1	0	0
Lennon, ss.	3	1	0	0	4	0
Kitzmiller, ss.	2	0	0	0	0	0
Rozman, 1b.	4	1	2	13	0	0
Kuhn, p.	6	0	2	0	0	0
Totals	50	7	10	39	16	3

Broke Deadlock

RALPH BILLETT

... who scored the winning tally in the thirteenth inning to upset Mberg.

Netmen Finish Successful Season

Umberger Has Best Year, Shapiro, Saylor Are Next

The 1938 edition of the Lebanon Valley College tennis team will close its season at Harrisburg when it meets the Harrisburg Country Club outfit this Saturday. So far L. V. C. has played 11 matches, winning 7 and dropping 4. Lebanon Valley beat Susquehanna, Elizabethtown twice, Franklin and Marshall, West Chester S. T. C., Dickinson, and Juniata while losing to Albright twice, F. and M. and Bucknell. The Blue and White racquet welders can do no more than split even in their total, at worst, as merely three more matches remain on the schedule.

An analysis of the scores reveals that L. V. C. has bettered last year's tennis team in registering two shut-outs and having two of those defeats by a 5-4 count. Lebanon Valley has won a total of 63 matches and lost only 36 to date.

In looking to individual records to date, "Buddie" Umberger in number one position all season for the Flying Dutchmen has copped the honors for the best percentage of matches won as he dropped only two, one to Bucknell's McCall and one to Albright's Albert, while winning 9 of his 11 encounters. Shapiro, in number two position came out second best with a record of 8 wins and three defeats suffered at the hands of Bucknell, Albright and West Chester while Rog Saylor came through with 7 wins and likewise 3 defeats to follow the number two man with a .700 "batting" average. The last three men were Art Evelev, with 6 wins and 4 defeats for a .600 average and ahead of him was Eugene Shenk, who copped that only and coveted Bucknell win and is manager of the team, with 7 wins and 4 defeats, and Sammy Grimm the only entirely new man on the squad, who won 4 and lost 5.

MUHLENBERG

	Ab.	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.
Schappell, ss.	5	1	1	6	3	1
Gutekunst, 3b.	6	2	2	2	3	1
Kurowski, cf.	5	1	2	2	0	0
Busby, 2b.	6	1	1	4	5	1
Matusa, rf.	5	0	0	2	0	0
Sewards, lf.	3	0	0	1	0	1
Smithers, lf.	2	0	0	1	0	0
Deitrich, 1b.	3	0	1	11	1	0
Stamuo, c.	0	0	0	3	2	0
Graham, c.	4	0	1	5	2	0
Sell, p.	5	1	1	0	0	0
x Hunsicker	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	45	6	9	37	16	4

X Batted for Graham in 11th—two out when winning run scored.

Doubles—Schappell, Billett. Left on bases—L. V.—13, Muhlenberg—8. Stolen bases—Gutekunst, Billett 2; wild pitches Kuhn—3; Sell—2. Base on Balls off Kuhn—7, Sell 11. Struck-out by Kuhn—13, Sell—7. Umpires—Miller and Miller.

Racquetters Smother E-town For Second Time

Lebanon Valley's tennis team again repeated their performance as they mowed down E-town College to the tune of 8-1 on May 11 at the Lancaster countians home courts.

The issue was never in doubt as L. V. C. easily swept the singles matches with the loss of only one set which was dropped by Umberger to Garber in the first match of the afternoon. Summaries are as follows:—

SINGLES

1. Umberger, L. V. C., defeated Garber, E-town, 2-6, 6-0, 6-1.
2. Shapiro, L. V. C., defeated Baugher, E-town, 6-4, 6-2.
3. Shenk, L. V. C., defeated Lenton, E-town, 6-2, 7-5.
4. Evelev, L. V. C., defeated Coulson, E-town, 6-1, 8-6.
5. Saylor, L. V. C., defeated Keller, E-town, 6-3, 6-1.
6. Grimm, L. V. C., defeated Risser, E-town, 6-3, 6-4.

DOUBLES

1. Umberger and Shenk, L. V. C., defeated Garber and Lenton, E-town, 7-5, 6-3.
2. Baugher and Coulson, E-town, defeated Shapiro and Grimm, L. V. C., 6-1, 6-4.
3. Evelev and Saylor, L. V. C., defeated Keller and Risser, E-town, 6-2, 6-0.

Schipperke and Eskimo PUPPIES

Schipperke Kennels

35 East Main St.
ANNVILLE, PA.

DI NUNZIO SHOE SHOP

Look at your Shoes, other People do.

9 E. Main St.

Annaville, Pa.

Compliments of

A. & P. STORE

C. H. SHEARER, Mgr.

College Needs --

BOOKS
WRITING MATERIALS
PARTY SUPPLIES
GIFTS

Esbenshade's Book Store

38 N. 8th St.

Lebanon, Pa.

GET YOUR

College Stationery

FOR THE SUMMER MONTHS

SEE

R. SMITH

ROOM 209

CLOTHING OF QUALITY J. S. BASHORE

Lebanon,

Pa.

Juniata Racquetters Bow To Netmen

The Blue and White net squad continued their winning ways by defeating Juniata's courtsters by the score of 7-2, last Friday afternoon at Annville. One defeat in singles and one in doubles were the two matches dropped by the winning L. V. C. net aggregation as Art Evelev bowed to Garner of Juniata in straight sets and the Saylor-Grimm doubles combination dropped a hard fought match to conclude the hostilities.

On Tuesday, May 17, the Blue and White netmen trounced the Indians by the score of 6-1.

KINGSLEY AND BROWN

Quality Cleaners and Dyers

Kress and Walk, Agents

ANNVILLE, PENNA.

KEYSTONE

Cleaners and Dyers

Hats Cleaned and Reblocked
Rapid Pressing Service
10 W. Main St. Annaville, Pa.

KREAMER BROS.

Furniture and Floor Coverings, Leonard Electric Refrigerators

Hoover Electric Sweepers

Maytag and Easy Washers

Westinghouse Electric

Ranges and R. C. A. Radios

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

Phone 144

ANNVILLE, PA.

FINK'S BAKERY

Eat Fink's Famous
Chocolate Eclairs, Cream
Puffs, Filled Doughnuts

Purchases can be made in Bake Shop after Store hours.

D. L. SAYLOR & SONS

Contractors

Lumber and Coal

ANNVILLE, PENNA.

YARDLEY ITEMS

We are proud of our line of quality merchandise which includes a complete stock of—

Parker Fountain Pens and Pencils

Diehl Drug Store

103 W. Main St., Annaville, Pa.

Bison Nine Laces Dutchmen Tossers In Lewisburg Game

Katchmer Routed Early As Bucknell Gains Nod To Avenge Recent Defeat

By unleashing all their fury in the first inning, the Bucknell Bisons scored five runs, knocked George Katchmer out of the box, and incidentally, walked off with the ball game 10-2. To gain revenge for the defeat suffered at Lebanon Valley, the Bucknellians jumped on Katchmer, a rather effective pitcher up to date, and forced him to the showers before he could retire the side.

Bucknell's five run uprising came as Katchmer gave up four hits, and two walks. Two errors by the Valleyites were of little help to Katchmer's cause. Marshall Frey entered the game and quieted the uprising for the inning. In the third, Klick connected for a drive into centerfield. Questionable fielding on Seiverlings part gave Klick a home run. Kessler singled and came home on Sager's double bringing the total for the inning up to two.

In the fourth, by virtue of Kress' error on Buzas' fly to left field, and two long outfield flies, another run was scored. The final tallies were garnered in the sixth when Sager walked, Quinn tripled, and Buzas flied deeply to left field.

With two out in the ninth, the Dutchmen started an uprising of their own. Kuhn singled, Lennon walked, and Frey's long triple sent them scampering across the plate. However, Frey ended the rally by trying to stretch the triple into a homer.

The Valley's hitting was poor, garnering only seven swats to the Bisons' twelve. Chris Walk was the only batsman to grab more than one swat, leading the Dutchmen with a single and a double. Frey's triple was Lebanon Valley's only other extra base smash. For Bucknell Klick was the swat-master of the day with three safeties, including two singles with his Ruthian wallop. Kessler, Sager, and Lane were the other Bisons to hit safely more than one time, each having two swats to his credit. Sager's two hits went for doubles each time.

Faulty work afield was another dark spot in the Valley's game. Five errors were committed by the Metoxemen with Lennon being the chief offender with two miscues, while Kress, Davies, and Walk were the others who were guilty of poor fielding. Dill, Bison keystone, was the only offender for the winners as Bucknell played steady ball throughout the afternoon.

LEBANON VALLEY

	Ab.	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.
Seiverling, cf.	4	0	0	4	0	0
Capka, 3b.	4	0	1	2	1	0
Davies, rf.	4	0	1	0	0	1
Walk, c.	3	0	2	3	1	1
Billett, 2b.	4	0	0	6	2	0
Kress, lf.	4	0	0	3	0	1
Kuhn, 1b.	4	1	1	3	1	0
Lennon, ss.	2	1	1	3	4	2
Katchmer, p.	0	0	0	0	0	0
Frey, p.	3	0	1	0	0	0
Total	32	2	7	24	9	5

BUCKNELL

	Ab.	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.
Dill, 2b.	5	0	0	2	5	1
Zigarelli, rf.	1	0	0	0	0	0
Kessler, rf.	3	2	2	0	0	0
Sager, cf.	4	2	2	0	0	0
Lane, lf.	5	1	2	3	1	0
Quinn, 1b.	4	2	1	11	0	0
Buzas, 3b.	4	2	1	2	2	0
Duffy, ss.	4	0	1	1	5	0
Klick, c.	5	1	3	5	0	0
Bowman, p.	4	0	0	3	2	0
Bowman, p.	4	0	0	3	2	0
Total	39	10	12	27	15	1

L. V. Girl Racquetters To Play Hosts To Albright

On Friday afternoon on their home courts the Lebanon Valley girls' tennis team will meet the Albright ladies in a six match engagement. The squad that will face the Lionesses is composed of Louise Saylor, Carolyn Roberts, Jeanne Houck, and Ernestine Jagnesak. The order in which they will play has not yet been decided.

This will be the first and only match to be played by the girls, and the match is expected to arouse quite a bit of interest, since their opponents are traditional rivals. A tournament had been planned earlier in the year to determine the composition of the team, but due to lack of entries these plans never materialized.

Baseball Resumé Reveals Averages

The brief lull in baseball brought a demand for the individual and team averages. When they were finally compiled, we found a not too pleasing sight.

The batting averages should be viewed through a magnifying glass to really be seen. Gordon Davies and Marsh Frey are hitting .333, a decent average. Tony Rozman who batted for Katchmer in the Albright game, has two hits to his credit and an average of 1.000. Outside of those three, the averages are pretty low with four batting in the 200's and four in the 100's. The team's average of .207 isn't too bad, but then it isn't very good either.

The fielding of the team is pretty good. A point of unusual interest is the fact that the outfielders' average are among the lowest. Credit should be given to Lennon and Seiverling for some nice fielding plays. Captain Capka has played the most consistently so far.

The Dutchmen's record, two wins, five losses, is not so good. Their losses can be attributed to their inability to hit the ball in the pinches. The pitching was better than average but lack of hits brought about the reverses. Katchmer, in spite of some brilliant twirling, lost three games. Frey and Kuhn have each won one and lost one. The summaries:

Does not include the Muhlenberg game.

PITCHERS' AVERAGES

	W.	L.	Innings	Pct.
M. Frey	1	1	21	.500
Kuhn	1	1	17	.500
Katchmer	0	3	19	.000
Rozman	0	0	6	.000

BATTING and FIELDING AVERAGES

	G.	Ab.	R.	H.	E.	Bat. Pct.	Fld. Pct.
Davies	5	18	0	6	2	.333	.714
M. Frey	4	9	0	3	0	.333	1.000
Rozman	2	2	1	2	0	1.000	1.000
Kress	7	25	4	6	2	.240	.888
Lennon	7	17	3	4	7	.235	.829
Walk	7	26	1	6	4	.230	.923
Seiverling	7	28	2	6	0	.214	1.000
Capka	7	26	2	5	2	.192	.842
Kuhn	7	23	3	4	1	.174	.975
Billett	6	21	0	3	1	.143	.969
Brown	5	8	1	1	0	.125	1.000
Katchm'r	6	11	0	0	1	.000	.961
Tryon	1	4	0	0	0	.000	1.000
Kitzm'ler	1	3	0	0	0	.000	1.000
Moller	1	0	0	0	0	.000	.000
(pinch hit)
Rakow	1	0	0	0	0	.000	.000
(pinch hit)
Team	7	223	17	46	20	.207	.926

Two base hits—Sager 2, Buzas, walk. Three base hits. Quinn, Frey. Home Run: Klick. Double plays: Duffy to Dill to Quinn. Stolen Bases: Lone. Struck out by Frey 3; by Bowman 4. Left on bases: Lebanon Valley 8, Bucknell 6. Bases on balls off Katchmer 2; off Frey 5; off Bowman 8. Wild pitches: Katchmer. Umpire, Wagner.

Seniors Find Jobs Scarce

(Continued from page 1)

Christine Yoder—as usual will work at Atlantic City in the capacity of a waitress.

Ernestine Jagnesak—I'm going to attend summer school somewhere. I hope to teach and if I don't get a job, I'm going to school to study physical education.

Russell Wert—during the summer has a position in a machine shop. Will teach school next fall at Cornwall.

Herman Ellenberger—work on the farm.

George Lazorjack—cashier at Hershey Park.

John Marberger—Hershey Sports Arena this summer; plans to study at Johns Hopkins next fall.

Jack Kreamer—demon furniture salesman.

Boyd Shaffer—assistantship at Princeton University; plans to do work in endocrinology.

Gordon Davies—appointed to faculty and coaching staff at Asheville, N. C., High School. Will teach history and direct football, baseball and boxing.

Lloyd Berger—regular duties of a family man.

Harry Zerbe—expects to travel in southern states with combination hound (or something) and modern band outfit.

Paul Slonaker—will take care of the mission at Clear Springs; also work at Millard's lime works. Plans to enroll at Bonebrake Seminary in the fall.

Wanda Price—work at the shore this summer. But I don't know what I'll do next winter.

Agnes Morris—look for a job and work for my dad at home.

Ella Mason—I'm going to teach at Hershey this summer and then look for a job.

A complete survey was made by La

F & M Netmen Swamped By Dutchmen, 9-0

On May 12, L. V. C. played host to Franklin and Marshall's court squad and unceremoniously handed the Diplomats a 9-0 trouncing, thereby reversing the tables, as F. & M. eked out a 5-4 victory in their first meeting. This was probably the first time in the history of the two colleges that F. & M. was beaten so decisively by the Flying Dutchmen. Although the summaries reveal close matches in many cases the Lebanon Valley team seemed to come through in the pinches and copped their sets when needed. The summaries:

SINGLES

1. Umberger, L. V. C., defeated Slavin, F. & M., 6-2, 6-3.
2. Shapiro, L. V. C., defeated Chodos, F. & M., 6-2, 6-0.
3. Shenk, L. V. C., defeated Nosworthy, F. & M., 5-7, 6-1, 6-4.
4. Evelev, L. V. C., defeated Wolosin, F. & M., 4-6, 6-1, 6-0.
5. Saylor, L. V. C., defeated Freidman, F. & M., 6-4, 8-6.
6. Grimm, L. V. C., defeated Goldberg, F. & M., 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

DOUBLES

- Umberger and Shenk, L. V. C., defeated Nosworthy and Slavin, F. & M., 7-5, 6-3.
- Shapiro and Evelev, L. V. C. defeated Chodos and Wolosin, F. & M., 9-7, 11-9.
- Grimm and Saylor, L. V. C., defeated Goldberg and Freidman, F. & M., 7-5, 6-4.

Vie reporters, and the above list of students are the more fortunate of the senior class. All others did not wish to reveal their positions or do not have any.

Albright Defeats L. V. In Reading Match 8-1

Showing a decided improvement from the last match, Albright College romped to an easy win over Lebanon Valley's net team this Monday at the 11th & Pike Street courts at Reading. The score was 8-1 with the Lions on the long end as Lebanon Valley just managed to cop one singles match the entire afternoon. Shapiro was the sole winner for Lebanon Valley defeating Carpouses, 6-0, 6-3.

The Lion squad, coached by Frank Kready, of Reading, well-known in local and state tennis circles, was so much better on their home courts than here at Annville when they barely topped L. V. C., 5-4 on May Day that they seemed like a different team entirely. Especially in doubles were the Lions strong. So strong, in fact, that they easily took all three of the doubles matches in straight sets. The summaries:

SINGLES

1. Albert, Albright, defeated Umberger, L. V. C., 6-0, 6-4.
2. Shapiro, L. V. C., defeated Carpouses, Albright, 6-0, 6-3.
3. Spenser, Albright, defeated Shenk, L. V. C., 6-1, 6-4.
4. Raffensperger, Albright, defeated Evelev, L. V. C., 6-2, 7-5.
5. Mark, Albright, defeated Saylor, L. V. C., 6-2, 6-4.
6. Campbell, Albright, defeated Grimm, L. V. C., 6-1, 6-3.

DOUBLES

1. Albert and Carpouses, Albright, defeated Umberger and Shenk, L. V. C., 6-4, 6-1.
2. Spenser and Raffensperger, Albright, defeated Shapiro and Evelev, L. V. C., 6-1, 7-5.
3. Mark and Campbell, Albright, defeated Saylor and Grimm, L. V. C., 6-4, 6-4.

COOL AND SWEET—THAT'S HOW A PIPE SMOKES WHEN YOU PACK IT WITH PRINCE ALBERT. P.A. IS SO MILD AND MELLOW!

SMOKE 20 FRAGRANT PIPEFULS of Prince Albert. If you don't find it the mellowest, tastiest pipe tobacco you ever smoked, return the pocket tin with the rest of the tobacco in it to us at any time within a month from this date, and we will refund full purchase price, plus postage.

(Signed) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina

Copyright, 1938, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

50 pipefuls of fragrant tobacco in every 2-oz. tin of Prince Albert

Kappa Lambda Nu's Elect New Officers

In an election held on Monday afternoon in Clio Hall, Lillian Zubroff was elected president of the Clonian Literary Society for the coming term. Miss Zubroff is well qualified for the office, having served as vice-president during the past half year. When questioned as to her plans and policy for her term of office, the president-elect stated: "The newly elected officers are looking forward to a very successful Clio year. I am planning to have more business and social meetings, and a more active Olive Branch. Also we hope to revive the literary interests of the society."

The other new officers are Jean Schock, Vice President; Margaret Bordwell, Recording Secretary; Mary Ann Cotroneo, Treasurer; Jeannette Kalbach, Corresponding Secretary; Anita Patschke, Pianist; Evelyn Evans, Editor of the Olive Branch.

Phi Lambda's Install Newly-Elected Officers

At a meeting held Tuesday noon in Philo Hall, the following members of the Philokosmian Literary Society were installed to serve in their respective offices for the first semester of the coming year: president, Raymond Smith; vice president, Raymond Frey; secretary, Danny Seiverling; treasurer, Bob Dinsmore; chairman of the executive committee, Bill Bender; pianist, Harry Drendall; chaplain, Jack Ness; and sergeants at arms, Bernard Bentzel, Donald Haverstick, and Bill McKnight.

In his installation address, Mr. Smith stated that he will institute several new social functions during his term of office next year. These will be in the form of debates, novel dances, joint sessions, and various other activities new to the campus.

Lehman Named Head By Biological Group

The Biology Club was called together for a special session last Thursday noon for the purpose of electing officers. This was one of the few campus elections held in the past few weeks where there was no high-pressure campaigning displayed, politics was definitely absent. The organization is one of the newer campus departmental clubs and promises to be an excellent opportunity for those interested in biology to do a bit of extra work in their field outside of the general class routine. Plans are now under way for an active and interesting program next year which will include field trips, lectures by prominent biologists, movies relating to biology, and also a chance will be given for student expression.

The results of the election are as follows: President—Clarence Lehman, Vice President—Elwood Brubaker, Secretary—Dorothy Wentling, Treasurer—Charles Brown.

Acknowledgment

At the election-meeting of the Life Work Recruits it was moved that each conservatory student who had rendered service on deputations during the past year should be publicly thanked through the medium of the columns of La Vie. It was the sentiment of the Recruits and especially the deputation committee chairman, Paul Horn, that the afore-mentioned conservatory members had done much to make the meetings held by the Recruits more interesting. The cooperation of the conservatory was all that was to be desired, according to the deputation members.

*...the international code
for MORE SMOKING PLEASURE*

Smokers the world over know that They Satisfy is the signal for more smoking pleasure.

Chesterfields are made of mild ripe tobaccos—home-grown and aromatic Turkish—and pure cigarette paper... the best ingredients a cigarette can have.

With Chesterfields you are always sure of refreshing mildness, more pleasing aroma and better taste.

...giving MORE PLEASURE to a whole world of smokers

Weekly Radio Features of the PLEASURE cigarette

GRACE MOORE
ANDRE KOSTELANETZ
PAUL WHITEMAN
DEEMS TAYLOR
PAUL DOUGLAS

CBS

CHESTERFIELD CIGARETTES
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.